BANKERS' ASSOCIATION.

Adopt Resolutions and Discuss the Silver Question—Next Meeting in Chicago.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 8.—The American Bankers' association today adopted a resolution commending to the American people the construction of the Nicaragua canal under government contract. A number of papers were read and new officers elected. The president is William H. Kham of Philadelphia. Among the members of the executive council is F. W. Tracy of Springfield Ill.

Among the papers was one by Congressman Harter of Ohio, dealing with the silver question. He said that with the current demand for silver dollars, which cannot keep in circulation more than the $57,000,000 to $67,000,000 we have already coined, and in billions ever five hundred millions which has cost the people eight millions more than it is worth in the market, even with the United States a steady buyer of practically all that is produced and not used in the United States. If the United States were to cease to buy and begin to relieve itself of part of this fearful load, for all of which it is in debt, it is likely the price would fall enough to make the loss of the people under the Bland and 1890 bills at least one hundred and fifty millions.

Notwithstanding we are in the rapid march of being dashed over the cataract and brought to financial disaster and commercial decay, we will find a subdued, dangerous and threatening demand for free coinage.

Frank D. Newland of San Francisco spoke at some length in favor of giving silver equal privileges with gold in the states of the country. He argued that it would be possible in a few years to get gold enough to satisfy the demands of the country.

A resolution declaring it the sense of the convention that the state bank-note issue is not safe nor desirable money issue, was adopted. Adjourned to meet in Chicago next year.

A BRACE OF MURDERERS

Pay the Penalty of Their Crimes on the Scaffold.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 8.—Charles Craig, colored, and Edward McCarthy, a brace of Cincinnati murderers, were executed in the annex of the Ohio penitentiary this (Friday) morning. McCarthy has been a criminal from early manhood. Aug. 28, 1880, he killed Albert Noterman, at Cincinnati in a quarrel. Sept. 13, 1890, Charles Craig killed his colored mistress, Annie Thompson, in Cincinnati. Both men spent the day quietly with relatives.

ASSAULTED BY BOYS.

The Non-union Men at Homestead Receive Pretty Rough Treatment.

HOMESTEAD, Pa., Sept. 8.—A gang of boys and strikers lined the streets leading from the mill this evening, and when the non-union men came out to supper, they were stoned and hit them with sticks. Balls of paper containing pepper were also thrown into their faces. The boys were the assailants, the strikers not taking any part save to encourage the boys by their presence. Several deputies were in the vicinity, but made no effort to arrest the boys.

COLORADO REPUBLICANS.

The Lights Go Out at the Convention Hall—Tickets Not Completed.

FREMONT, Colo., Sept. 8.—The Republican state convention today nominated Judge J. C. Helm of the supreme bench, for governor and E. J. Eaton, the present incumbent, for secretary of state. The balance of the state ticket and presidential have not yet been chosen, as the convention hall lights were extinguished, necessitating a recess.

RACES AT LATONIA.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 8.—There was a fast track at Latonia.

Six furlongs—Dad Hughes won, Maude B second, Miss Ballard third. Time—1:17. Seven furlongs—Selma D won, Brazelet second, Calhoun third. Time—1:25. Mile and an eighth—Bob I. won, Margherita second, Little third. Time—1:45. Free handicap sweepstakes, mile—Ida Pickens won, Ed Rayo second, Valiera third. Time—1:41, equalling track record.

Five furlongs—Fay S. won, Southern Lady second, Golden Hope third. Time—1:35. Seven furlongs—Salvation won, Kildare second, General Miles third. Time—1:35.5.

Successful Launching of the Campanis.

GLASSBORO, Sept. 8.—The steamer Campanis, built for the Great Steamship company for New York and Liverpool service, was successfully launched here today. The Campanis is the largest steamer in the world.

Famous Thralds Burned.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 8.—The old Academy of Music, one of the most famous theatres in America, was destroyed this evening by fire. It was built in 1851 and for years was occupied by the finest companies. Of late, however, it has been degenerating and used for variety shows. The loss is about $30,000.

General Crespo Triumphant.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Unofficial advice received at the department of state from Venezuela this morning to the effect that General Crespo has finally triumphed and the dictatorship is overthrown. General

Crespo has, it is said, been called to Caracas to assume the reins of government and there is now bright prospects for a restoration of peace in that country.

Funeral of Daniel Desgberly.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 8.—All that was mortal of Daniel Desgberly, the silver tongue orator, was laid at rest this morning in St. John's Roman Catholic church here, one of the most impressive funerals ever witnessed in the city.

Mina Gale Married.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Miss Mina Gale, the actress, was married to Archibald Cushman Hayes, manager of the Equitable Life Assurance society, and vice-president of the Hamilton-Dyson investment company in this city this evening.

Smiled on Account of Sullivan Losing.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Sept. 8.—Thomas Rooney of Plymouth, having lost all his money and property on the result of the Sullivan-Corbett fight, committed suicide tonight by taking poison.

Garfield Park Still Closed.

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—Mayor Washburne decided today to let all differences between himself and Chief McCloughery rest until Garfield park is permanently closed.

He wrote the chief today commanding the anti-gambling raids. There was no racing today.

BECOMING DESPERATE.

More Letters of Complaint from the Infected Ship Normania.

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 8.—Samuel A. York, Jr., son of ex-Mayor York of this city, has written to his father from the cholera-infected ship Normania, and complains bitterly of the manner in which the passengers are treated by the quarantine and ship's officers. The sick and dead, Mr. York says, are left aboard from thirteen to thirty-six hours. The boat itself, he reports, is in a filthy condition and the officers are either unwilling or unable to make the men clean it. Bitter complaint is generally made of the food furnished to the detained cabin passengers.

George A. Butler, president of the Tradesmen's bank, this city, in writing to a friend, makes similar statements. He says the situation is becoming desperate and denounces the injustice of keeping the passengers aboard the ship and not giving them proper care and food.

The Hee Jag Adjourned.

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—After four days of prolix wrangling over the Pacific coast route situation the passenger meeting of the Hee Jag association adjourned yesterday subject to a call of the chairman. The only result of the meeting thus far developed is the withdrawal of the Canadian Pacific from the organization.

The Arkansas Election.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Sept. 8.—The indications are now that Fishback, Democrat, will lead Whipple, Republican, by 30,000. Chicago county, in which the negroes have a decided voting majority is the only one in the state where the Republican majority in Jefferson county in 1890 of 4,000 is now a Democratic majority of 200. Perry county has gone solidly Democratic for the first time since the war.

ATTEMPTED TRAIN ROBBERY.

All the Robbers Get for Their Pains Is a Basket of Grapes.

GUTHRIE, O. T., Sept. 8.—The south-bound passenger train on the Santa Fe road was held up by train robbers at Wharton, in the Cherokee strip tonight, twenty miles north of this city. When the train arrived here several bullet holes were found in the express car. Conductor Kitching states that when the train stopped to take water he walked down the track and was met by the engineer who was in company with five men. The engineer says that when he stopped at Wharton three men mooned the engine and ordered himself and Freeman to get down and go to the express car. There they made the man batter in the door. The express messenger fired one shot through it but desisted when the Freeman told him the robbers had compelled him to do the work. The door was soon opened and the robbers at once entered. They found the safe empty, the messenger having opened it while the door was being broken in and secreted the contents. Failing to find any booty the robbers left, taking with them two baskets of grapes as a trophy of the raid. No attempt was made to rob the passengers.

IT WAS EPIDEMIC.

Betting on the Sullivan-Corbett Fight.

Some of the Men Who Won or Lost Large Amounts on the World-Famous Parlay.

Salt Lake has never before seen anything like the wagering that took place on the Sullivan-Corbett fight. The betting simply took the form of an epidemic. Capitalists, clerks, servant girls, newsmen and bootblacks all fell a prey to it, and in nine cases out of ten all were victorious to offer the most ridiculous kinds of odds on Sullivan. The money that was cleaned up by those who had the nerve to back Corbett would start a bank. There are some of the lucky and unlucky ones.

The big bet was probably made and won by John Daly, who wagered A. W. McCune $1,000 to $300 on his fellow countryman the peerless John L. Mr. McCune will spend the next dividend on 400 shares of Daly stock, and rumor says he has thereby waded in even up that Cleveland beats Ben Harrison.

Mr. Taylor, the real estate man, walked off with $500, the result of an even bet with several stonemasons (so Rippen called them) after the third round had been read off at the Tunnel. Fritz Rippen held the stakes.

Sheriff Burt cornered about $200. Colonel Murray lost a hat, an overcoat, a suit of clothes and a pair of shoes.

Mr. Koob, the manipulator who hired the wire to the Tunnel and sold the pools, made some real money from his commissions, but blew it all in and more too on John L.

Cal Stebbins bet three gin cocktails against three quarts of champagne on Corbett, and walked home with Enderer's indignation.

Fritz Rippen's bootblack wagered his whole stand and outfit against $20 on Corbett and is $40 richer today.

Major Bird mourns the loss of $100. Charley Stanton, it is said, owns the whole fire department. A number of the ladies taunted him to death with extravagant odds on Sullivan, and at last he took a few of them up. He is said to have the fire department pay rolls assigned to him for the next three months.

Colonel Ed Kelly, who has been dubbed by his admirers the "Prince of Sports," wired from New Orleans to his partner here, it is said, to put in every dollar of his own or the money on Sullivan, as he was sure to win. Really took the advice of the prince, and Ed must have backed his favorite in New Orleans for all he had, because it was told on the streets last evening that he had wired here for money, and had received the answer that he would have to wait until some was gathered in, as there was none left.

Louis Lacoe picked out as winners the three losers, but he says he has money enough left to pay next week's board.

Melcher Rippen says the next big pool attracted at the Tunnel, which was Grover Cleveland's name is written in monster letters across the blackboard. Fritz did not bet on the fight, but says he is saving all his money to wager that Cleveland will be the next president of the United States.

COSTUME RECITALS.

Quoted from "The White Cow" in "The Herald" with permission from "The Herald".

The second of the costume recitals was given last evening by Mr. Edmund Russell in the Conservatory of music to a very good audience. The entertainment was appreciated more than any of Mr. Russell's previous efforts. The selections were from

James Lane Allen's "Romance of the White Cow."

The costume, that of a monk, was very simple but very effective and suited the reader much better than the more gorgeous apparel he wore the previous evening when he gave the "Lith of Asia." "The White Cow" is one of the most touching stories of repressed passion and found an excellent exponent in Mr. Russell. The audience was held spell bound and the interest maintained to the end. A bass solo, "My Little Woman," was well rendered by Mr. W. J. McCoy. As an encore he gave "Sippars of St. Ives." Mr. McCoy has a rich, melodious voice of great compass. He went as high as F and down to C with great facility.

The Mandolin and Guitar club gave some very acceptable selections.

Mr. Russell is remaining in the city for some time and giving private lessons in the Mandolin and Guitar club gave some very acceptable selections.

AN ATHLETIC CLUB

By the Business and Professional Men of Salt Lake.

There is Plenty of Material to Organize One of the Best Clubs in the West.

There are thousands of dollars expended every year to provide loafing places for gentlemen in every circumstance.

Men who sit down to their office desks all day imagine they find recreation in sitting down to poker tables all evening. Their bodies are as limp as sponges and such a physical development is foreign to their natures. The same money that was expended to "tear down" John L. Sullivan, if directed to "build up" the musculature of the professionals in this city, would make a race of athletes.

At present all the resources of the clubs are in the direction of expanding the members' stomachs. The only gymnasium in the city is a little show attached to the Young Men's Christian association.

What is wanted is a gymnasium pure and simple in which all men can meet without probing their religious or political consciences.

Lawyers, doctors, merchants, railroad men, and all lovers of athletics can here find all the apparatus necessary to develop every muscle in their bodies.

Salt Lake boasts of its sanitary advantages, and yet in its way back of the times in this regard, Denver has expended $175,000 on a gymnasium, and to the men who are accustomed to take daily exercise, it is a boon.

Fred Trimmer is ready and anxious to encourage such an enterprise and he favors it being done in such a way that the club shall have ample grounds in the center of the city to give daily concerts in the open air, in the midst of flowing fountains and the fresh fragrance of blooming flowers.

We have a climate," said Mr. Trimmer, "similar to northern Italy, with delightful nights. There is no place in the intermediate regions so adapted for such a club. It could be made an immense financial success. There is no proposition that would do as much to attract to the city and stamp it as a metropolis as the realization of this project.

Five a Month.

All Diseases Treated at the Rate of Five Dollars a Month to All Placing Themselves Under Treatment Before Oct. 1.

Dr. Mansfield and DeMonco have an offer to make to the people of Salt Lake and vicinity.

Twelve Years Of Agony

Was endured by Mrs. M. G. Cochran, cor. Goodwin and Mitchell Streets, North Salt Lake. She expends hundreds of dollars in search of health by change of climate, finally settles in Salt Lake, all to no avail.

A VERBATIM STATEMENT.

All New Englanders know the destroying power of the east winds so prevalent in Boston.

Coming in contact with these winds daily, about twelve years ago, I contracted a most pronounced case of catarrh. I have many times changed climates with the hope of relief or permanent cure. Making my home in Utah for the past five years. The disease grew steadily worse in this most favorable climate as well as all others.

The last year it has been apparent to my friends, as well as myself, that this fatal disease was breaking my constitution. My daily headaches which were with me constantly, became almost unbearable. I keep my room part of the time with a blinding headache, not wishing to see even my friends, a most discouraged and dependent person.

Noticing a marked improvement in the health of a neighbor, being treated by Drs. Mansfield and DeMonco, I at once placed myself under their treatment. My health has improved daily, I am and have been entirely free from headache since I first began treatment. I have so much improved in my general health, in the past thirty days that I am confident of a permanent cure.

It is with confidence and pleasure that I recommend, most highly, the ability and honesty of Drs. Mansfield and DeMonco of the Copeland Medical Institute.

Wm. H. G. Goodwin, North Salt Lake
