

VOLUME XLVI.

THE OFFICIAL COUNT.

Several States Are Yet in Doubt as to Pluralities.

ALL, HOWEVER, ARE DEMOCRATIC

California Will Make Its Official Canvass on Monday—Ohio's Electoral Vote May Be Divided—Other Delayed Returns.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 11.—It is idle to undertake to say in advance of the official count what the result will be in the national election in this state in all accounts are based largely on estimates, which, in such a close contest, are totally unreliable. As far as to know the condition of affairs, the Gazette, Republican, estimates a plurality of 719 for Cleveland electors, while the Enquirer, Democratic, estimates the appearance favorable to Republicans.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 11.—Both sides claim the election. The Republican committee on returns from seventy-one counties and estimates a plurality of 2,000 for Cleveland electors, while the Democratic committee on returns from the remainder of the state, claim the state ticket by over 1,100, and that the lowest elector has a plurality of 500. Democrats claim a plurality of 1,400 for the Cleveland electors, but give no details by counties. It seems certain the electoral ticket will be divided.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 11.—At midnight the Republican state committee completed the total pluralities with all the counties heard from officially with the exception of four and these are estimated to be about 100,000. The Democratic committee on returns from Hamilton and Clay counties which are among those not recently reported. This reduces the plurality of Taylor, Republican, for secretary of state, to 70, and the state shows that the Harrison electors have been elected by 757 plurality. The committee, however, exceeded the probable margins of 500. The Democratic committee on returns from Hamilton and Clay counties which are among those not recently reported. This reduces the plurality of Taylor, Republican, for secretary of state, to 70, and the state shows that the Harrison electors have been elected by 757 plurality. The committee, however, exceeded the probable margins of 500. The Democratic committee on returns from Hamilton and Clay counties which are among those not recently reported. This reduces the plurality of Taylor, Republican, for secretary of state, to 70, and the state shows that the Harrison electors have been elected by 757 plurality. The committee, however, exceeded the probable margins of 500.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

counties give Nelson, Republican, for governor, 19,108 pluralities. Latest reports from the state Republican by a narrow majority. The Republicans are sore of four Congressmen, the Democrats two, while the seventh is in doubt between the Republicans and Populists. The fate of four fusion electors still undecided, though the Republicans claim a clean sweep.

TERNS GIRLS HOG A MAJORITY.
WACO, TEX., Nov. 11.—Judge Clark conceded the election of Burg, Democrat, for governor, by about 25,000.

GALVESTON, TEX., Nov. 11.—Returns from the state confirm the estimate in the election of 1890, by 50,000 to 70,000 plurality. The next legislature in both house and senate will be overwhelmingly Democratic. The Populists will have less than a half dozen senators out of thirty-one, and less than twenty out of 128 in the house. There will be two or three Republicans in the lower house, but none in the upper. While counts are not exact, there is no longer any reasonable doubt that all the Democratic candidates are elected.

NORTH DAKOTA DEFEATS THE REPUBLICAN TICKET.
BISMARCK, N. D., Nov. 11.—Returns to the ticket certain except secretary of state. The legislature will be Republican on joint ballot by at least twenty, thus insuring the election of a United States senator. Johnson for Congress is elected by a small majority.

OREGON GETS A FUSION ELECTOR.
PORTLAND, Nov. 11.—Returns from twenty-six counties, eight of them complete, give Harrison 30,338, Cleveland 11,192, Weaver 23,488. Fusion for governor, 50,000. The vote will not change the result materially.

INDIANA IS ALL RIGHT.
INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Complete returns from eighty-eight counties show a Democratic plurality of 7,652. The remaining five counties will probably total 10,000. The congressional delegation consists of eleven Democrats and two Republicans.

Banker Keen Charged with Felony.
CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—Ex-Banker S. A. Keen was arrested today on an indictment charging him with having feloniously received deposits at the time of the failure of his bank in 1891, knowing the bank was insolvent. He was released on bail.

Attempted Train Robbery.
CHATTANOOGA, TENN., Nov. 11.—An attempt was made to hold-up a train on the Western and Atlantic railway at Adairsville tonight, but three robbers could get anything they were beaten off.

REFUSED ENTRANCE AT PARA.
The Schooner Anna R. Bishop Returns to New York With Her Cargo.
NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—The schooner Anna R. Bishop arrived today having returned from Para which port she was not allowed to enter owing to quarantine on all vessels from New York. She left here Sep. 15th with a cargo of lumber and on arriving at Para Oct. 12th she was signaled not to enter. She dropped anchor and waited five days. No attention was paid to her signals and the captain waited until the 19th of the month when he was ordered to return to New York. No boat at any time went to the seaward of the schooner fearing contagion, and vessels approached only near enough to exchange signals.

A TOWN BURNED UP.
Twenty Families Rendered Homeless in a Maine Village.
Two Hundred and Twenty Lives Lost in the Recent Atlantic Gale, as Also Ten Vessels.
CAMDEN, ME., Nov. 11.—There is only one grocery store left. All the drug stores, boot and shoe stores, millinery and dry goods stores, jewelry shops and furniture stores were wiped out by the fire and twenty-five families are homeless.

Wreck of the Schooner Cuba.
CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—The wreck floating on Lake Michigan off Frankfort is doubtless that of the schooner Cuba, which fits the description given of the derelict. Captain Hansen with a crew of four men were lost.

A Peasant Factory Burned.
NEWPORT, VA., Nov. 11.—Fire tonight destroyed the mechanical and farm-pesticide factory, the Adams works and the building of the Waterbury Peasant Company. Loss, $150,000.

The Steamer Encland Sighted.
NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—The overdue steamer Encland, of the National line was sighted off the coast this afternoon under steam but moving slowly.

Result of the Atlantic Gale.
ST. JOHNS, N.F., Nov. 11.—As a result of the gale of October 19th ten vessels are lost or missing and 220 lives known to be lost.

THE WORLD'S FAIR.
A Resolution Adopted by the Directors to Open It Sunday.
CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—At a meeting of the World's fair directors this afternoon a resolution was passed favoring the opening of the World's fair gates on Sundays, provided the machinery be not run. The directors contend that as all the nations on the earth have been invited to attend, it would be highly discourteous and impolitic to inform them that they cannot do so on Sunday when they would do at home. The closing of the gates on Sunday, says the resolutions, means that thousands of artisans and mechanics would be obliged to be idle on Sunday, and this would be a most serious disadvantage. The directors say they are in favor of allowing every nation to hold within the grounds such religious services as it may desire on Sunday.

COUNT DILLON VS. MACKAY.
A Suit Removed from the State to United States Court.
NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Justice Andrews, of the supreme court, signed an order today removing to the United States court the suit by Count Arthur Dillon of Paris, France, against John A. Mackay, to recover $34,500 alleged to be due for monies advanced and services rendered in procuring French telegraph stock. The suit was begun in the supreme court, but as Mackay resides in Nevada and Dillon in Paris it is sent to the United States court on Mackay's application.

A SLEEK SWINDLER.
He is Under Arrest for Duping Various People.
NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—William Bent, a sleek young English swindler, who operated all over the country, is under arrest. The prisoner admits that he is a fraud and boasts of the fact that he duped hundreds of people between here and San Francisco out of sums ranging from $10 to $50. He represented himself to engineers as a grandson of Robert Stevenson, the famous English engineer. Letters of introduction to Commodore Wilson and Chief Engineer Melville of the United States navy were found on him. They were signed by Charles E. Emery of the Bennett building in New York. He is described as Charles Mitchell of Newcastle. While in Chicago recently he duped Sir Henry Wood, secretary of the British commission of the World's fair out of $33. The prisoner attempted to swindle Mrs. Frank Leslie Wise and others in this city. Bent says his home is at Godolph, England, but that he was forced to leave there for swindling.

Nicaragua Canal Convention.
NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 11.—Governor Foster of Louisiana recognizing the importance of the Nicaragua canal to the nation, respectfully invited the governor of each state and territory of the United States to appoint delegates to the Nicaragua canal convention which assembles here on the 30th of this month.

BENNY IS VERY SORE

His Views Regarding the Great Landslide.

CARTER IS KIPPED UP THE BACK.

Beside the Fontana Man, Cameron Quay and Dudley Combs in for a Share While the Management is Debauched.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—President Harrison talked freely today about the recent defeat of his party and the causes which brought it about, says a dispatch from Washington to The Herald. The over-whelming defeat of the Republican party, the president said, was due mainly to the position of the party on the tariff question. Republicans forced the issue to an extreme which did not meet the approval of the people. Another important element, the president said, which had much to do with the defeat of the Republican party last Tuesday was the Force bill and it was felt in the north as well as the south. The popular belief was that the Force bill kept the south within its old lines, but in the president's estimation it was a mistake that he brought to the support of the Democrats many voters in the north. The verdict of last Tuesday, the president continued, was not the result of the campaign. He does not think that much of Chairman Carter of the Republican national committee. He contended that Mr. Carter's appointment only when it became evident that no more acceptable one could be secured. He said that the campaign had been mismanaged and that much better results would have been secured but for the "rainbow" program scheme to which Mr. Carter gave countenance and assistance. The president is particularly criticized at the result in his native state and believed it was largely due to a lack of good generalship. What he wanted to do, he said, and what he endeavored to impress on his party, was the absolute necessity of keeping the Republican states in line and doing it by the force of the law. He said he had realized for some time past that the drift of public sentiment was against him and his party, and it was this that led him to force his advice upon party leaders. Disregard of this advice, he said, much to do with the result last Tuesday.

The president realized before any election returns came in on Tuesday that he was defeated, he said, but he did not expect it until the 11th of the month. One of the reasons for the president's doubts as to his election was the wide-spread disaffection of a number of prominent Republicans. This was evidenced by a statement with regard to Dudley, Quay and Cameron. As to Cameron the president believed that he had not done his duty. He said that he had actually did all in his power to defeat Mr. Cameron's influence, like Quay, extends far beyond the confines of the state and he did not believe that he had realized for some time past that the drift of public sentiment was against him and his party, and it was this that led him to force his advice upon party leaders. Disregard of this advice, he said, much to do with the result last Tuesday.

The president realized before any election returns came in on Tuesday that he was defeated, he said, but he did not expect it until the 11th of the month. One of the reasons for the president's doubts as to his election was the wide-spread disaffection of a number of prominent Republicans. This was evidenced by a statement with regard to Dudley, Quay and Cameron. As to Cameron the president believed that he had not done his duty. He said that he had actually did all in his power to defeat Mr. Cameron's influence, like Quay, extends far beyond the confines of the state and he did not believe that he had realized for some time past that the drift of public sentiment was against him and his party, and it was this that led him to force his advice upon party leaders. Disregard of this advice, he said, much to do with the result last Tuesday.

The president realized before any election returns came in on Tuesday that he was defeated, he said, but he did not expect it until the 11th of the month. One of the reasons for the president's doubts as to his election was the wide-spread disaffection of a number of prominent Republicans. This was evidenced by a statement with regard to Dudley, Quay and Cameron. As to Cameron the president believed that he had not done his duty. He said that he had actually did all in his power to defeat Mr. Cameron's influence, like Quay, extends far beyond the confines of the state and he did not believe that he had realized for some time past that the drift of public sentiment was against him and his party, and it was this that led him to force his advice upon party leaders. Disregard of this advice, he said, much to do with the result last Tuesday.

The president realized before any election returns came in on Tuesday that he was defeated, he said, but he did not expect it until the 11th of the month. One of the reasons for the president's doubts as to his election was the wide-spread disaffection of a number of prominent Republicans. This was evidenced by a statement with regard to Dudley, Quay and Cameron. As to Cameron the president believed that he had not done his duty. He said that he had actually did all in his power to defeat Mr. Cameron's influence, like Quay, extends far beyond the confines of the state and he did not believe that he had realized for some time past that the drift of public sentiment was against him and his party, and it was this that led him to force his advice upon party leaders. Disregard of this advice, he said, much to do with the result last Tuesday.

The president realized before any election returns came in on Tuesday that he was defeated, he said, but he did not expect it until the 11th of the month. One of the reasons for the president's doubts as to his election was the wide-spread disaffection of a number of prominent Republicans. This was evidenced by a statement with regard to Dudley, Quay and Cameron. As to Cameron the president believed that he had not done his duty. He said that he had actually did all in his power to defeat Mr. Cameron's influence, like Quay, extends far beyond the confines of the state and he did not believe that he had realized for some time past that the drift of public sentiment was against him and his party, and it was this that led him to force his advice upon party leaders. Disregard of this advice, he said, much to do with the result last Tuesday.

The president realized before any election returns came in on Tuesday that he was defeated, he said, but he did not expect it until the 11th of the month. One of the reasons for the president's doubts as to his election was the wide-spread disaffection of a number of prominent Republicans. This was evidenced by a statement with regard to Dudley, Quay and Cameron. As to Cameron the president believed that he had not done his duty. He said that he had actually did all in his power to defeat Mr. Cameron's influence, like Quay, extends far beyond the confines of the state and he did not believe that he had realized for some time past that the drift of public sentiment was against him and his party, and it was this that led him to force his advice upon party leaders. Disregard of this advice, he said, much to do with the result last Tuesday.

The president realized before any election returns came in on Tuesday that he was defeated, he said, but he did not expect it until the 11th of the month. One of the reasons for the president's doubts as to his election was the wide-spread disaffection of a number of prominent Republicans. This was evidenced by a statement with regard to Dudley, Quay and Cameron. As to Cameron the president believed that he had not done his duty. He said that he had actually did all in his power to defeat Mr. Cameron's influence, like Quay, extends far beyond the confines of the state and he did not believe that he had realized for some time past that the drift of public sentiment was against him and his party, and it was this that led him to force his advice upon party leaders. Disregard of this advice, he said, much to do with the result last Tuesday.

The president realized before any election returns came in on Tuesday that he was defeated, he said, but he did not expect it until the 11th of the month. One of the reasons for the president's doubts as to his election was the wide-spread disaffection of a number of prominent Republicans. This was evidenced by a statement with regard to Dudley, Quay and Cameron. As to Cameron the president believed that he had not done his duty. He said that he had actually did all in his power to defeat Mr. Cameron's influence, like Quay, extends far beyond the confines of the state and he did not believe that he had realized for some time past that the drift of public sentiment was against him and his party, and it was this that led him to force his advice upon party leaders. Disregard of this advice, he said, much to do with the result last Tuesday.

The president realized before any election returns came in on Tuesday that he was defeated, he said, but he did not expect it until the 11th of the month. One of the reasons for the president's doubts as to his election was the wide-spread disaffection of a number of prominent Republicans. This was evidenced by a statement with regard to Dudley, Quay and Cameron. As to Cameron the president believed that he had not done his duty. He said that he had actually did all in his power to defeat Mr. Cameron's influence, like Quay, extends far beyond the confines of the state and he did not believe that he had realized for some time past that the drift of public sentiment was against him and his party, and it was this that led him to force his advice upon party leaders. Disregard of this advice, he said, much to do with the result last Tuesday.

The president realized before any election returns came in on Tuesday that he was defeated, he said, but he did not expect it until the 11th of the month. One of the reasons for the president's doubts as to his election was the wide-spread disaffection of a number of prominent Republicans. This was evidenced by a statement with regard to Dudley, Quay and Cameron. As to Cameron the president believed that he had not done his duty. He said that he had actually did all in his power to defeat Mr. Cameron's influence, like Quay, extends far beyond the confines of the state and he did not believe that he had realized for some time past that the drift of public sentiment was against him and his party, and it was this that led him to force his advice upon party leaders. Disregard of this advice, he said, much to do with the result last Tuesday.

The president realized before any election returns came in on Tuesday that he was defeated, he said, but he did not expect it until the 11th of the month. One of the reasons for the president's doubts as to his election was the wide-spread disaffection of a number of prominent Republicans. This was evidenced by a statement with regard to Dudley, Quay and Cameron. As to Cameron the president believed that he had not done his duty. He said that he had actually did all in his power to defeat Mr. Cameron's influence, like Quay, extends far beyond the confines of the state and he did not believe that he had realized for some time past that the drift of public sentiment was against him and his party, and it was this that led him to force his advice upon party leaders. Disregard of this advice, he said, much to do with the result last Tuesday.

The president realized before any election returns came in on Tuesday that he was defeated, he said, but he did not expect it until the 11th of the month. One of the reasons for the president's doubts as to his election was the wide-spread disaffection of a number of prominent Republicans. This was evidenced by a statement with regard to Dudley, Quay and Cameron. As to Cameron the president believed that he had not done his duty. He said that he had actually did all in his power to defeat Mr. Cameron's influence, like Quay, extends far beyond the confines of the state and he did not believe that he had realized for some time past that the drift of public sentiment was against him and his party, and it was this that led him to force his advice upon party leaders. Disregard of this advice, he said, much to do with the result last Tuesday.

The president realized before any election returns came in on Tuesday that he was defeated, he said, but he did not expect it until the 11th of the month. One of the reasons for the president's doubts as to his election was the wide-spread disaffection of a number of prominent Republicans. This was evidenced by a statement with regard to Dudley, Quay and Cameron. As to Cameron the president believed that he had not done his duty. He said that he had actually did all in his power to defeat Mr. Cameron's influence, like Quay, extends far beyond the confines of the state and he did not believe that he had realized for some time past that the drift of public sentiment was against him and his party, and it was this that led him to force his advice upon party leaders. Disregard of this advice, he said, much to do with the result last Tuesday.

The president realized before any election returns came in on Tuesday that he was defeated, he said, but he did not expect it until the 11th of the month. One of the reasons for the president's doubts as to his election was the wide-spread disaffection of a number of prominent Republicans. This was evidenced by a statement with regard to Dudley, Quay and Cameron. As to Cameron the president believed that he had not done his duty. He said that he had actually did all in his power to defeat Mr. Cameron's influence, like Quay, extends far beyond the confines of the state and he did not believe that he had realized for some time past that the drift of public sentiment was against him and his party, and it was this that led him to force his advice upon party leaders. Disregard of this advice, he said, much to do with the result last Tuesday.

The president realized before any election returns came in on Tuesday that he was defeated, he said, but he did not expect it until the 11th of the month. One of the reasons for the president's doubts as to his election was the wide-spread disaffection of a number of prominent Republicans. This was evidenced by a statement with regard to Dudley, Quay and Cameron. As to Cameron the president believed that he had not done his duty. He said that he had actually did all in his power to defeat Mr. Cameron's influence, like Quay, extends far beyond the confines of the state and he did not believe that he had realized for some time past that the drift of public sentiment was against him and his party, and it was this that led him to force his advice upon party leaders. Disregard of this advice, he said, much to do with the result last Tuesday.

The president realized before any election returns came in on Tuesday that he was defeated, he said, but he did not expect it until the 11th of the month. One of the reasons for the president's doubts as to his election was the wide-spread disaffection of a number of prominent Republicans. This was evidenced by a statement with regard to Dudley, Quay and Cameron. As to Cameron the president believed that he had not done his duty. He said that he had actually did all in his power to defeat Mr. Cameron's influence, like Quay, extends far beyond the confines of the state and he did not believe that he had realized for some time past that the drift of public sentiment was against him and his party, and it was this that led him to force his advice upon party leaders. Disregard of this advice, he said, much to do with the result last Tuesday.

The president realized before any election returns came in on Tuesday that he was defeated, he said, but he did not expect it until the 11th of the month. One of the reasons for the president's doubts as to his election was the wide-spread disaffection of a number of prominent Republicans. This was evidenced by a statement with regard to Dudley, Quay and Cameron. As to Cameron the president believed that he had not done his duty. He said that he had actually did all in his power to defeat Mr. Cameron's influence, like Quay, extends far beyond the confines of the state and he did not believe that he had realized for some time past that the drift of public sentiment was against him and his party, and it was this that led him to force his advice upon party leaders. Disregard of this advice, he said, much to do with the result last Tuesday.

The president realized before any election returns came in on Tuesday that he was defeated, he said, but he did not expect it until the 11th of the month. One of the reasons for the president's doubts as to his election was the wide-spread disaffection of a number of prominent Republicans. This was evidenced by a statement with regard to Dudley, Quay and Cameron. As to Cameron the president believed that he had not done his duty. He said that he had actually did all in his power to defeat Mr. Cameron's influence, like Quay, extends far beyond the confines of the state and he did not believe that he had realized for some time past that the drift of public sentiment was against him and his party, and it was this that led him to force his advice upon party leaders. Disregard of this advice, he said, much to do with the result last Tuesday.

The president realized before any election returns came in on Tuesday that he was defeated, he said, but he did not expect it until the 11th of the month. One of the reasons for the president's doubts as to his election was the wide-spread disaffection of a number of prominent Republicans. This was evidenced by a statement with regard to Dudley, Quay and Cameron. As to Cameron the president believed that he had not done his duty. He said that he had actually did all in his power to defeat Mr. Cameron's influence, like Quay, extends far beyond the confines of the state and he did not believe that he had realized for some time past that the drift of public sentiment was against him and his party, and it was this that led him to force his advice upon party leaders. Disregard of this advice, he said, much to do with the result last Tuesday.

The president realized before any election returns came in on Tuesday that he was defeated, he said, but he did not expect it until the 11th of the month. One of the reasons for the president's doubts as to his election was the wide-spread disaffection of a number of prominent Republicans. This was evidenced by a statement with regard to Dudley, Quay and Cameron. As to Cameron the president believed that he had not done his duty. He said that he had actually did all in his power to defeat Mr. Cameron's influence, like Quay, extends far beyond the confines of the state and he did not believe that he had realized for some time past that the drift of public sentiment was against him and his party, and it was this that led him to force his advice upon party leaders. Disregard of this advice, he said, much to do with the result last Tuesday.

The president realized before any election returns came in on Tuesday that he was defeated, he said, but he did not expect it until the 11th of the month. One of the reasons for the president's doubts as to his election was the wide-spread disaffection of a number of prominent Republicans. This was evidenced by a statement with regard to Dudley, Quay and Cameron. As to Cameron the president believed that he had not done his duty. He said that he had actually did