BRIEF AND BREEZY.

SANTA CLARA is the only man whose picture in the papers look alike.

INSURE in the Home Fire of Utah, H. J. Grant & Co., agents, 215 Main street. When a man carries a Christmas tree through the streets, he looks as if he had found it awfully hard to be good without looking silly.

FUTURE OF THE ONTARIO.

Mr. Chambers Outlines the Policy to be Pursued.

THE TUNNEL TO BE PUSHED.

A Suspension of Dividends For Nine Months at Least.

The Output Will Not be Increased, But There Will be No Reduction of the Force at Present—General Mining News.

The future of the great Ontario mine, a property that gives direct employment to 400 men and indirectly to many more, that has paid over thirteen millions in dividends and been so important a factor in the commercial prosperity of Utah, is a question of vital concern to the public.

Many idle rumors and speculations have recently been set afloat and the absence of Mr. R. C. Chambers, the superintendent, has rendered it extremely difficult to obtain any reliable information. Mr. Chambers returned from New York yesterday and the HERALD, through his courtesy, is enabled to present this morning a complete and concise statement of the course that has been decided upon.

"You attended a meeting of the board of directors at New York did you not inquire the reporter."

"No; I attended a meeting of a majority of the stockholders."

"What course was decided upon?"

"We have concluded to abandon dividends for nine or perhaps twelve months, as may be deemed expedient hereafter. In the meantime we will be creating a surplus, which has been nearly exhausted, a surplus sufficient to make any improvements that we may desire, and as will be for the best interests of the company. I do not care to say now just what these improvements may be."

"Do you expect to make any change in the working force?"

"I have not yet decided to diminish the force, but I will not increase it for some time to come. Our aim will be to cut expenses at all possible points, but we will still keep the mine running. As matters of course, much will depend upon the price of silver, and also my future course will depend upon any action the board of directors may take."

"In any event you will continue work on the drive tunnel with the hope of reward in the future."

"How soon will that be completed?"

"It will take us more than a year to complete it. When the tunnel is completed we will be enabled to prospect and work large bodies of good grade ore that are known to exist."

"What about the question of wages?"

"That is a matter we have not yet taken into serious consideration, and it must depend upon the price of silver, a reduction in transportation rates and the general cost of production. At the present prices of silver and on the present basis of wages there is no compensation left for a mining venture that requires a large investment. In other words, it costs us as much to produce the silver as it sells for."

"Are any changes contemplated in the Daily?"

"We have not decided on any reduction of the force on the Daily, but we will also cut off all expenses possible. The Daily is now working 300 men."

"What is the outlook for silver?"

"No one that I have seen has been able to answer that question, but the general impression seems to be that it will go still lower, while we earnestly hope for a better price. The action of the monetary conference at Brussels so far has been a monetary discussion and education, and while I hope it may better the price of silver I have but little confidence that it will result."

MUST CLOSE OR CUT WAGES.

Two More Bingham Companies reach this Conclusion.

It was announced in last Tuesday's HERALD that the Niagara mine at Bingham had closed down and that the other large mines at that camp would soon be compelled to close or reduce wages. Subsequent developments have verified this prediction. The managers of the Brooklyn and Old Jordan have already announced their intention to shut down unless the miners voluntarily consent to a reduction of wages to $2.50, and it is expected that other mines in Bingham will follow suit.

The action of the companies above mentioned, it is understood, was not based upon any agreement reached at any meeting of mine owners. The owners of the properties are simply forced to take this action by the low price of silver.

If the present low price of silver continues there is no question but that other mines in the territory will be obliged to close down or reduce wages. It is believed that the miners will accept a temporary reduction, rather than be thrown out of employment altogether.

LIVELY TIMES AT LEWISTON.

The Success of the Cyanide Process Stimulates Development.

In these days of general mining depression it is extremely gratifying to hear of increased activity in any of the camps, but such is the good fortune of Lewiston, in the Stockton district. Mr. Max Badatz, who is in from Stockton, states that the introduction of the cyanide process for the treatment of the ore has produced wonderful results. The cinnabar gold ore, that could not be successfully treated before, is successfully handled by the new process at the rate of $2 per ton. The consequence is that a great deal of attention is now being turned to the properties that produce this character of ore, of which there are a great many, and their development will be immediately pushed.

B. J. Radtke is representing an eastern company that is putting up buildings preparatory to extensive operations, and they will probably erect a mill. Very lively times are expected in the spring.

SAN JUAN GOLD.

Several Parties Arranging to Visit the New Field.

It is said that several parties are being organized in this city to visit the new gold fields in southern Utah, and one party left Ogden on Thursday, en route for the field. Mr. Farrer, the agent of the Rio Grande Western at Green River station, Utah, is arranging to get animals and outfits for the accommodation of those destined for the new discoveries. The route from Green River is south, via Dandy crossing, and there is a good wagon road entirely free from snow. Two parties left Denver for the new fields this week, and inquiries at the local office of the Rio Grande Western are frequent.

Hans Peterson of Moab, San Juan county, is in Ogden and to representatives of THE HERALD stated that the reports of the rich strikes made near the junction of the San Juan and Colorado rivers have not been much exaggerated. The towns in the southwestern part of the territory and western Colorado and Arizona are nearly depopulated, and great streams of miners are streaming into the San Juan country.

Strike in the Mammoth.

A new strike is reported in the Mammoth in the upper workings. The body is good sized and assays eighty ounces silver and six ounces gold. Work on the shaft in the Mammoth is going ahead rapidly. The strike is reported to be being cut, and they propose to sink at once to the 1,400.

FIGURES ON SMELTING.

Colorado Treats Ninety-Five Per Cent. of Her Ores at Home.

"What percentage of the ores mined in Colorado are smelted within the state?" asked a HERALD reporter of H. R. Wagner, who is in the city representing the Globe Smelting works, of Denver.

"At least 95 per cent., and perhaps more," he replied.

"What proportion of the ores mined in Utah are smelted in the territory?"

"I should judge about one-third, when the mines are all being worked," replied the representative of the great smelting concern which keeps its agents plying back and forth to secure contracts to keep the blastis going.

Why should Colorado smelt 95 per cent. of her ores and Utah but 33; per cent. Can it be that Colorado people are 61 2/3 per cent. more energetic than Salt Lake people? With equal railroad favors Salt Lake should surely be able to treat ores as cheaply as Denver. Almost every variety of ore is produced in the region tributary to Salt Lake, and the plea of railway discrimination or insufficient fluxing ore does not meet the situation.

Mining Concentrates.

Silver was quoted at $20, yesterday. T. R. Jones & Co. received: Ores, $8,000; bullion, $7,000; total, $15,000.

Good reports come from the Emma mine, which is still sending down ore.

Wells, Fargo & Co. received yesterday: Mingo bullion, $6,007; ore, $5,089; total, $11,097.

The Conklin sampler has received four carloads of Centennial-Eureka and one of Utah ore.

McCormick & Co. received yesterday: Hanover bullion, $1,100; silver and lead ore, $5,200; total, $6,300.

The Taylor & Brunton sampler has received ten cars of Bullion-Beck, five of Mammoth and two of Bingham ores.

John A. Hunt and James H. Larsen are just completing the assessment work on the May Day, one of the finest looking properties on Godiva mountain.

SMASHED THE RUFFIAN.

Proper Punishment for Insulting a Lady on the Street.

Ladies have been insulted on the streets rather frequently of late, and if the scoundrels who engage in this occupation could all meet the fate which overtook one of them last night, the practice would soon be stopped. At about 8 o'clock a lady was stopped by a man at the corner of State and Sixth South streets and grossly insulted. The lady screamed and Mr. O'Brien, who boards at the Lincoln house, rushed to her assistance. He promptly knocked the fellow down with a smash in the face, and then turned his attention to the lady, who was badly frightened. The man who insulted her then got up and started to run off, when O'Brien's bulldog renewed the attack and did considerable further damage before the fellow succeeded in getting away.

BUSINESS MEN AROUSED.

The Railway Situation Spurs Them to Action.

A NEW COMMERCIAL BODY.

The "Business Men's" Association is to be Organized.

Shall the Chicago & Northwestern Build Through Utah and Not Touch Salt Lake City?—It Will Surely Build West—General Railway News.

THE HERALD this morning is chuck full of cheering news of new enterprises and increasing activity in business, but the best piece of information in this line is the important disclosure that the business men of the city are making up. It has at length been borne in upon them that great possibilities are in store for this city in the way of railroad and manufacturing development. They are beginning to realize that no great city was ever built by inaction and that golden opportunities may be lost because no hand is stretched forth to grasp them.

A call is being prepared and will probably be ready for publication to-day, for a meeting of the business men of the city, to be held some evening next week, for the purpose of organizing a "Business Men's Association." This call will be signed by five or six representative business men of the city. It is understood that the object of this association will be to foster and encourage all manufacturing and railway enterprises and to secure unity of action among the citizens in all things pertaining to the advancement of Salt Lake City.

This movement has been discussed for some time and the idea meets with hearty approval and endorsement on all sides. It is not the intention to antagonize the chamber of commerce or any other existing body, but rather to work in harmony with all organizations, and to take the initiative when necessary, to promote the best interests of the city. Denver has a manufacturing exchange that has accomplished good work for that city. It is always alert and prompt to take action, and the importance of such an organization in the city has recently been pointed out by THE HERALD.

THE RAILWAY SITUATION.

It is said that the gentlemen who are pushing this matter have been aroused to the importance of prompt action by the present railroad situation. Salt Lake city needs a road to the coal fields. It needs a road to Deep Creek, it needs the Chicago & Northwestern, which is now headed for Utah, and it will be the mission of this new association to see that these needs are fully met.

Six months ago THE HERALD made the prediction that the Chicago & Northwestern would soon extend its line to Utah. The recent filing of articles of incorporation for this extension fulfills THE HERALD'S prophecy. That prediction was based on the statements of probably the best posted man on railway matters in Salt Lake city. The same gentleman made the following statement to a HERALD reporter yesterday:

"I know it to be a fact that a company has been organized to build west from Utah, and that $250,000 has already been paid in; that the purchase of material and drilling stock has been arranged and a contract for transportation of these materials entered into with the Santa Fe. This organization has nothing to do with Colonel Murray's company or any other scheme. It has been organized for business, and it is going to build the road."

A NORTHWESTERN ALLY.

"Will it start from Salt Lake?"

"That all depends upon the business men of Salt Lake. If they allow the Chicago & Northwestern to go to Ogden, the road west will start from Ogden. If our citizens induce the Northwestern to come to this city, then this will be the eastern terminus of the new road."

"When the road west will simply be an extension of the Northwestern to the coast?"

"That is just the size of it, and if our people don't get in some lively work, this would come to pass without exception. The people of Kansas City went to work. You know what Kansas City is today, and you know what Atchison is."

It was the knowledge that they were confronted by such a condition as outlined above that has spurred several of Salt Lake's most energetic citizens to action, and the proposition to organize the Business Men's association is the result of their deliberations. It is a movement that should receive the hearty support of every citizen.

GO TO WORK NOW.

The Deep Creek Company Should Sail In at Once.

Now is the time to push the Deep Creek railway and if the company has any favors to ask it should come to the front before the excitement dies out.

The time to strike is when the iron is hot and there is not so much caloric in this community as to insure that the iron will keep hot without a good deal of energetic work at the bellows.

There has been enough talk and agitation already spent to build a dozen roads to Deep Creek if it had been rightly applied. The way to build the road is to let the contract at once.

There are 2,500 men on these streets who would gladly take up their shovels and go to throwing dirt if the chance were given them. Contractor Sullivan says that the road could be built now if the contractor was assured supplies while the work was being done.

Henry Harby, one of the most enthusiastic of the Deep Creek mining men, believes that a mass meeting should be called and the matter put under way without further delay.

A Coal Road Survey.

Following on the heels of the organization of the Salt Lake & Deep Creek company comes the news that the projected road to the coal fields at Chalk Creek has taken definite shape, and it is said on excellent authority that a surveying party will be made up today and started in the field at once. There is an abundant supply of coal of superior quality at Chalk Creek, and it is expected that with the proposed road the coal can be retailed here at $3 with a fair profit.

Mr. D. E. Burley, the genial general agent of the Union Pacific, returned from Omaha yesterday. His visit was for the purpose of conferring with the heads of the road, as is customary at the close of each year, and had no significance whatever. Mr. Burley says that the Union Pacific is in splendid shape. He had a pleasant trip, and while in Omaha met Colonel Lett, of this city.

Wurtelle Has Not Resigned.

All reports to the contrary notwithstanding, Superintendent G. E. Wurtelle, of the Wyoming division of the Union Pacific, has not resigned, but has been granted a four months' leave of absence. He will spend the vacation in southern California, where he now is.

Personal and General.

The Union Pacific shops at Denver employ 810 men, and the monthly payroll amounts to $47,000.

"Billy" Shotwell, general agent of the Denver & Rio Grande, leaves for Pueblo today to spend the winter there.

The Union Pacific has extended all editorial mileage passes to Jan. 31 next, by which time all new advertising contracts will have been made.

The Rio Grande Western passenger department has issued a neat diary for 1893, which is being sent to friends of the road. It is gilt-edged, leather-bound, and labeled in gilt letters "Columbian Year." The road is in good order, and its equipment is as neat as this little diary.
