GROWTH OF THE CITY. A New Town Has Sprung Up South of Roper Street.

Brisk Calls at the Real Estate Exchange.—The Exchange is a Flourishing Condition.—Business Notes.

The real estate market during the past week has been somewhat strengthened by numerous large sales and the many new building projects that were made public.

Any person who cares to satisfy himself as to the extent of the building operations during the past year has only to look south from the north-east bench and behold the new city that has sprung up below Roper street.

Two years ago Roper street was the south limit of the building area of the city. But this has been changed until there is a city of 5,000 or 10,000 inhabitants living on what was incorn ground.

REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE. Brisk Calls at Yesterday's Session.—The Exchange Growing.

The Real Estate exchange has suddenly picked up its pace and begins to show signs of endurance that is surprising. Few people believe in resurrections, but the exchange is certainly an example at hand.

Several of the calls yesterday were just as brisk as those of the good old days and the members, instead of lamenting their fate, are up and doing.

One of the members at yesterday's session reported that he had secured securities new names for membership, and that four banks had subscribed $25 each.

This excellent showing was very encouraging compared with the lack of interest that had recently prevailed.

A Minnesota Investor. I. H. Butterfield, of St. Paul, Minn., has been at the Knutsford hotel for several days, quietly investigating the business situation here. He was taken over the city by J. W. Hamme, and after viewing a great many different sites, settled on a lot on the east bench, situated at the corner of Twelfth East and Third South streets, the purchase price being $5,500.

This lot Mr. Butterfield purchased to make a home for his mother, Mrs. Butterfield, who is a wealthy property owner at St. Paul. Among her holdings there she owns the property opposite the Northern Pacific's general offices.

Stop the Tourists. THE HERALD recently called the attention of the chamber of commerce to the fact that thousands of tourists are passing through this city and no effort being made to induce them to stop over and enjoy the many attractions presented by Salt Lake City.

The railway companies are determined to rush them through, against their protest, and a strong effort should be made to effect a change in this policy. On Friday a party of five, consisting of three men and two women, were passing through the city on their way around the world. They purchased their tickets in Australia, over the Burlington route, with the understanding that they would be permitted to stop off at Salt Lake and Denver. It was not until they arrived at Ogden that they learned that no stop-over would be granted on their tickets, and they raised a mighty protest, but they were carried through.

Building and Business. Architect Hale is getting up the plans for the Minnesota banking syndicate that purchased a lot north of the Knutsford.

Mr. Hale is superintending the construction of a very superior dwelling for Major Downey that will cost about $12,000.

Yesterday's clearing house exchanges were $25,789; for the week, $1,339,449.

Plans have been prepared for the new plant of the Grant & Co. company, to be erected on Third West street, at a cost of $10,000. The plant will turn out 300 boxes of soap daily.

Real Estate Transfers. Edwin Serrell to Ida Bolton, part lot 62, block 12, Archer & Killeck's addition, $1,500.

Isabella West to American Investment Manufacturing Co., part lot 8, block 12, plat A, city, $600.

Terrible Fire Rush Sweep Over Eastern Wisconsin and Northern Michigan.—Two Small Villages Totally Destroyed—Other Disasters.

SAGINAW, Mich., May 20.—Fire broke out in the dynamite mill plant of Banatic & Camp on the docks where there were a number of piles of lumber, this afternoon. In a twinkling the roaring mass of flames started on a mad career with a fury that no human hand could check.

The Bristol street bridge next caught fire and was partly burned, thence the flames leaped to the east side, where are located a large number of buildings, including Hose house No. 6. J. F. Winkler's ice houses, eleven residences on Tilden street and on both sides of Washington avenue down to Holden street were quickly licked up. Then sparks were carried into the premises of the George F. Cross Lumber company. The planing mill, lumber yard, and a dozen tenement houses melting like snow.

Next came the Allington & Curtis manufacturing company's extensive plant and Passer's old soap factory, all of which were wiped out. Here the fire struck Jefferson avenue, and in an hour some of the finest residences in the city were in ashes. The flames made a clean sweep north to Grove street, and continued eastward along Emerson street toward the city limits. It cut a wide swath on Owen, Howard, Sheridan and Warren avenues and on other streets.

The East St. Vincent's Orphan home succumbed early, but the inmates were all removed to places of safety. The factory of the city carried the sparks long distances, and the planing mill, factory and lumber yard of E. Germin was destroyed, as well as a large number of other buildings that section of the city. The excitement was fever hot during the awful two hours, from 4 to 6, and in many instances houses caught fire and were destroyed before the occupants were hardly aware that they were in danger, and dozens of families saved practically nothing.

It is impossible to give a correct account of losses and insurance tonight. The former will reach nearly $1,500,000, with probably an insurance of $700,000. Fully 4,000 men employed in the factories burned and thrown out of employment and hundreds of families are homeless, as about three hundred houses were burned.

John Clarke of Owen street was burned to a crisp and several other persons are reported missing.

WISCONSIN TOWNS BURNED. Two Hundred Families Lose Their All and Are Homeless.

ANTIGO, Wis., May 20.—This town was half destroyed by fire, and the little town of Bryant was completely wiped out. About thirty buildings were destroyed in Bryant, also 1,000,000 feet of lumber and 300,000 feet of logs. No estimate of the loss can be secured.

The fire originated in the brick kilns near town and spread by means of fences and barns to the city. The fire soon caught the planing mill of the North-western Lumber company, which was consumed in a few minutes. It next burned the hotel, then twenty-five dwellings, leaving a few houses standing. Loss, $100,000, with small insurance.

Forest fires are raging along the line of the Milwaukee, Lake Shore & Western from Antigo to Richbee, and from Grand Junction to Wausau. A small fire was reported at Birnamwood this afternoon. A stock of lumber was burned. The fire was under control after the burning of a blacksmith shop and office.

Newton Without Water. Newton correspondence Logan Journal: Bad luck has come to us once more. The flame in our reservoir has broken and the water is pouring out so fast that in another week it will be emptied. This will leave us almost without water, for irrigation of this country as it will be too late to gather a new supply after repairs are done, and we only have claim on one-fourth of the running water from the Clinton mountains, which is but a small stream in summer. But we hope that a loving Providence will send us copious rains to help our crops along.

SALT LAKE MUSIC. Movement on Foot for the Organization of an Opera Company.

The Choral Society's Coming Production.—The Krouse Testimonial—Fort Douglas Concerts.

The Choral society held a good rehearsal last evening of the Creation. The entire orchestra of twenty musicians will rehearse with the society Monday, Tuesday and Thursday and possibly Friday evenings. The directors have concluded that the production of this oratorio the 27th instant at the theatre shall comprise the thing heretofore attempted. The soloists are the Mesdames Greene and Pummer, Miss Winston, and Messrs. Havens and Esquign. Professor Stephens and his associates are laboring assiduously that its production shall be an artistic success and are bound that their stock in the Deep Creek railroad (for which the proceeds of the oratorio will make a worthy addition.

Resolutions of Condolence and Sympathy. At the regular practice meeting of the Salt Lake Tabernacle choir, on Friday evening, May 19, it was resolved, by its committee, that in the death of John Saunders Lewis the organization had lost a faithful, capable and an efficient worker and one who from long years of association had endeared himself to every member by his affable disposition, even temperament and genial manner.

While the call was so sudden as to be almost startling in its announcement, we are proud to say we know of no one in the society better prepared for such an emergency than he, and while we mourn with you for the loss of a friend, we are glad to know that he has left behind him a noble record, and that he has left behind him a noble record, and that he has left behind him a noble record.

Like so many others of his countrymen the soul of Brother Lewis delighted in the study of the Bible, and his heart was drawn to the Gospels, had been his chief aim and ambition in life. His own compositions grace the pages of the Desert Sunday school song book, the L. D. S. Psalmist, the Desert Chorist and other publications at home as well as musical magazines abroad, and it is but justice to the deceased to bear record that he was an appropriate member of his own writing, formed the crowning feature of the funeral services.

Elder Lewis died suddenly, of heart failure, while sitting in an easy chair listening to a favorite stanza which he had just requested his daughter to play for him. How eminently proper that such a man should be waited hence to organ accompaniment!

Now, therefore, be it resolved that in the death of Bro. Lewis, his wife and children have sustained the loss of an affectionate husband and an idealized father, to church a faithful and consistent Latter-day Saint and the choir a devoted and competent member; while the crowded condition at the obsequies betokened the high esteem in which he was held by his friends and neighbors.

It is further resolved that these resolutions be furnished the press for publication, and a suitable copy sent to the bereaved family. EVAN STEPHENS, THOMAS BUTLER, R. T. MCLEWAN, Committee.

A Rowland Hall Recital. A very pleasant piano recital was given at Rowland hall last evening, by Miss Eva Corbett and Miss Ida Cohn. The programme comprised selections from both classical and modern composers, which were interpreted with excellent intelligence by the young ladies. The Scherzo of Beethoven and the Minuet of Mozart, being particularly well rendered. The vocal numbers were prettily given by Miss Stout, Miss Geddes and Miss Applegate.

ASHAMED TO BE SEEN. On the Street on Account of Staggering Spells That Caused People to Think He Was Drunk.

Mr. S. G. Brighton Relates an Interesting Story in Regard to Some of the Very Embarrassing Positions He Was Placed in—Catarrh Caused it All.

Mr. Brighton is employed as janitor at the 11th school. He is well known in Salt Lake, being an old resident of this city, and anyone can rely on what he says. In conversation with the writer he said:

"I have been troubled several years with catarrh, and all its disagreeable symptoms seemed to be present. My head ached between and over the eyes and my eyes were weak and watery. Ringing noises in my ears. Nose stopped up so that I had to breathe through my mouth at times.

"My throat was sore and filled with mucus which caused me to hawk and spit continually. I was nervous and restless at night. Would have to walk the floor lots of nights before I could sleep.

"At times the dizzy spells began to annoy me by coming on at any and all times. Black spots would float before my eyes. I would then stagger and nearly fall. I would often be compelled to catch hold of something for support in order to keep from falling. These dizzy spells would come on when I was on the street and I always felt ashamed when anyone watched me as I believed they thought I was drunk.

"My stomach got out of order, my appetite was poor. I scarcely had any desire to eat at all. I spent hundreds of dollars on doctors and special medicines but gained only temporary relief. I was recommended to try Mrs. Mansfield and De Monco's catarrh medicine, a specialty of all chronic diseases. I went to them and began their treatment.

"I feel like a well man today. I was surprised beyond all expectations at my rapid improvement, which began from the first. The improvement has continued until all my former annoying symptoms have almost disappeared. I heartily recommend Dr. Mansfield and De Monco's catarrh medicine as the greatest of all the specialists in chronic diseases in this western country."

"Des. Mansfield and De Monco, Progress Building, Salt Lake City. Dear Doctors—I am still improving as fast as possible. I have now used half the month's supply of medicine you gave me. I am surprised at the result. As first my eyes felt somewhat sore from the remedy you gave me, but in three or four days I was able to read and work on my books, which was very painful and annoying before taking your treatment. Use headaches and recommend Drs. Mansfield and De Monco to anyone suffering with chronic affections, and believe their remedies to be the greatest in the world. You are at liberty to publish this letter and use my name in recommendation of your skillful treatment, and I believe them to be the greatest of all the specialists in chronic diseases in this western country."
