

SALT LAKE HERALD. SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH. BY THE HERALD PUBLISHING CO. Forecast for The Herald. SALT LAKE CITY, June 2, 1893. For twenty-four hours ending June 3, 6 p. m. Fair weather; stationary temperature. GEO. N. SALISBURY, U. S. Observer.

Yesterday's Temperature. 6 p. m. 71. Noon. 69. 6 a. m. 58. Highest temperature for the last twenty-four hours, 71 degrees; lowest, 58 degrees. Corrected daily by United States Observer. GEO. N. SALISBURY, Observer.

WITH OUR COMPLIMENTS. Every regular advertising patron of THE SALT LAKE DAILY HERALD will, by calling at the counting room, be given a serviceable and handsome present.

BRIEF AND BREEZY. W. S. SHARP was arrested by Officer Ford yesterday on the charge of vagrancy.

A CARBIDE bicycle rider ran into a lady on First South street, east, last evening, and knocked her down.

GOVERNOR WEST has received an invitation to be present at the opening of the great Colorado hotel at Silver Lake Springs on June 8.

The board of medical examiners will meet next Monday at 10 a. m. to examine applicants for certificates and transact other business.

The Utah Pacific has arranged to extend tickets three days for those who desire to take the special car to the B. Y. academy at Provo.

NEITHER Governor West nor Secretary Richards has yet received any notification that the senatorial election committee have postponed their trip to Utah.

OVERSEER SALISBURY's report of yesterday's temperature is as follows: 8 a. m.—Salt Lake, 85; Harker City, 81; Cheyenne, 81; Helena, 81; Miles City, 81; Wilmington, 81; Salt Lake Falls, 81; 10 a. m.—Salt Lake, 81; Bingham, 81; Ogden, 81; Logan, 81; Park City, 81; Provo, 81.

GOVERNOR WEST yesterday received a communication from the second assistant postmaster general, notifying him of the establishment of a new mail route to the Henry Mountain region, and also of the establishment of a new mail route to the Henry Mountain region, and also of the establishment of a new mail route to the Henry Mountain region.

CHIEF OF POLICE PAUL's attention is called to the fact that the women folk in the neighborhood of Fifth South and Fifth East, during the absence of the heads of the families, are greatly annoyed by a gang of rough, depraved hoodlums. They congregate during the forenoon and afternoon and indulge in the most obscene and most wanton actions and vile language. It might be well for a patrolman to occasionally visit that locality.

ALBERT E. CORNACK, who was accidentally shot at Castle Springs on May 28, was buried from Collins undertaking parlors yesterday afternoon. Her brother, McNeese, of the First Presbyterian church, delivered a very eloquent and impressive sermon. The remains were interred in Mount Olivet cemetery. Dr. William Cornack, a brother of the deceased, was telegraphed for at Omaha, Ontario, at the time of the accident, and immediately left for Castle Springs, and did not leave until the arrival of the death of his brother. The mission was a doubly sad one to Dr. Cornack, he receiving a telegram since leaving his home of the death of an only son, whom he had left in good health on Saturday last.

The Johnson Pratt Drug company have removed four doors south. Please note.

Abstracts furnished, titles insured and 5 per cent. paid on deposits by Utah Title Insurance and Trust Co., 160 Main street.

Be Sure You Insure. And when you insure ask for J. Grant & Co. to place you in the renowned Pennsylvania.

A Good Safe Investment. Investigate the plan of the Security Trust and Int. Co. An institution incorporated under the laws of Utah.

The closest prices on goods at the Chicago Liqueur House.

Y. M. M. I. Association. For the Young Men's Mutual Improvement association conference at Provo June 3 and 4 the Union Pacific will sell tickets from all points in Utah to Provo and return for one fare for the round trip, good for return till June 7. Trains leave Salt Lake at 7:40 a. m. and 5 p. m.

Nineteen Millions "Grand Republic" cigars were sold in 1891.

California wins one dollar per gallon. The Kentucky Liqueur Co., 11, 13 and 15 E. Second South.

World's Fair Rates Reduced—Via Union Pacific. To Denver and Pueblo and return, $28 00. To Missouri river and return, 46 00. To St. Louis and return, 48 00. To Chicago and return, 58 00. Tickets good thirty days. To Chicago in 48 hours via the world's pictorial line. City ticket office 201 Main street.

Garfield Beach Trains. Effective June 1, and until further notice, trains between Salt Lake and Garfield Beach will run as follows:

Leave Salt Lake. Arrive Garfield. Leave Garfield. Arrive Salt Lake. 7:45 a. m. 8:15 a. m. 12:00 p. m. 12:40 p. m. 3:30 p. m. 3:50 p. m. 4:30 p. m. 4:50 p. m. 7:10 p. m. 7:30 p. m. 9:30 p. m. 10:10 p. m.

Nothing, Boating, Dancing. Olsen's orchestra in attendance every afternoon and evening.

Fare for round trip, only 50 cents. D. E. BUBLEY, Gen'l Agt., Passenger Dept.

Schiltz Milwaukee bottled beer. Agents The Kentucky Liqueur Co., 11, 13 and 15 E. Second South.

National Bank Stock for Sale. Thirty shares National Bank of the Republic for sale at $1. C. M. Fish, Richards street, Joliet, Ills.

Removal Notice. S. D. Evans, the undertaker, has removed from his old location across the street to 213 State street, Holmes block.

Order your spring suits at C. W. Hahl, merchant tailor, 74 E. First South St.

THE STORY OF A BABY.

How Joe Wilson Came a Parent Under Protest.

CLARA'S CLEVER RUSE.

A Marriage Under Compulsion and the Sensational Sequel.

Mrs. Jackson's Kidnapped Child the Innocent Instrument of a Base Deception—The Child Restored to Its Mother and Wilson Relieved.

One of the strangest stories of fraud and deception ever practiced by designing woman came to light yesterday, when Clara Wilson was arrested by the police on the charge of kidnaping a child.

It is a story that will be divided into three acts and several tableaux, and until last night Joe Wilson, a well-known character about town, was forced to play the part of a double-dyed villain.

Some time in the early winter Wilson was arrested on the complaint of Clara Fredrickson, a fair and distressed female, who claimed she would soon become a mother, and charged Wilson with the responsibility. Her appearance corroborated her story more strongly than a dozen affidavits, and Commissioner Greenman and the officers allowed it readily enough. Joe stoutly maintained his innocence, and vowed that the woman was playing a part, but Clara stormed and fumed, and all hands joined in trying to induce Wilson to marry her, and thus she became quite attentive to Mrs. Susan Jackson, a lady from Bingham, who expected soon to become a mother. Mrs. Jackson's husband had died but a short time before, and she was in desperate circumstances, and Mrs. Wilson thought she saw an opportunity to accomplish what she desired.

On January 19 Mrs. Jackson gave birth to a child, and Mrs. Wilson visited the hospital frequently after that time to see the baby. She represented that her husband was the paymaster at the hospital, and actually sounded the mother on the adoption scheme, but meeting with no encouragement, and after admiring the baby's beautiful hair, told Mrs. Jackson that she had made a bet of $25 with some lady friends that she could show them a baby with more beautiful hair than that which adorned the heads of any of her infants, and asked if she might take the baby to the house of one of those friends to decide whether it was better than the $25 in case it should be awarded to her.

Mrs. Jackson consented and Mrs. Wilson went off with the baby, returning information that she had won and promising to bring the money to Mrs. Jackson at some other time. She called nearly every day to give the mother all the news of an ailing, but happy, baby, and on April 11, when she took the little one out.

DISAPPEARED IN A STORM. In the evening a storm came up, and Mrs. Wilson telephoned to the hospital, stating that she was afraid to bring the baby home on account of the weather, and if she could not get home until next morning. She failed to appear the next day, and Mrs. Jackson, divining that her baby had been kidnapped, set out on a search for it. She visited Park City, but could find no trace of Wilson there, and returning back to town, informed the chief of police, but the child was not found.

SHOWED IT TO JOSEPH. Meantime, however, Mrs. Wilson was making it extremely warm for Joseph. She sent for him a few days ago, and when they entered the room she at once handed him the baby, telling him it was his and that he must take care of it. Wilson got rid of the infant as quickly as he could, and kept it with her until next morning, when she was arrested for kidnapping. You have taken care of her, now it is your turn to do something towards her support. You can do so, as you please, either you send me some money or I will have you arrested for living with one of Salt Lake's low women. You know I mean. Now I know you can be made support your child, and better attend to it at once, or I will make trouble for you. I mean every word that is written here.

A. S.—You had better remember what I have said here, or you will go to jail.

THE GRAND DECEMENT. The P. S. part of the episode stirred Joseph up, and as at once commenced an investigation, which led him to the Deseret hospital, where he met Mrs. Jackson and learned the facts concerning the kidnaping. He next found that Mrs. Wilson had left the city with a M. Green, who resides on Sixth South street, and yesterday that lady turned the baby over to its mother, who was relieved at recovering her little one.

MRS. WILSON CAUGHT. Two plucky girls from the hospital, who had joined in the search for the child, yesterday afternoon before this transfer had been made, and they called in Officer Peck to arrest Mrs. Wilson. She was taken to the hospital, where she was held until the arrival of her mother.

General Auctioneer. E. J. Pargo, General Auctioneer, storage and commission. Estimates given on household goods. No. 58 S. West Temple street.

Notice. Carpenters and Joiners union No. 283 will postpone their social meeting of June 5 on account of excursion to Geneva (Utah lake) Wednesday June 2.

Removed. Law office of James H. Moyle removed to rooms 301 to 306 Constitution building, opposite Z. C. M. I.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA.

Brilliant European Journalists Now in Salt Lake.

HOW THEY LIKE THE WEST.

A Berlin Editor Predicts Bi-Metallism for Germany Within Two Years.

They All Agree That Our Scenery Is the Finest in the World, and Salt Lake Is a Beautiful City.

If the World's fair would do no more than attract to this country such brilliant people as the gentlemen and ladies who make up the party of German and Austrian editors that arrived in our city yesterday noon it would accomplish a great work in acquainting Europeans of the genius of American institutions. There are more men of science and letters from abroad than in previous years, and the nabobs appear to be staying away.

The party of distinguished editors is composed as follows: Richard Bong, Moderne Kunst (Modern Art), Berlin, Germany; Julius Loewy, Illustrirte Wiener Extra Blatt (Illustrated Vienna Extra News), Vienna, Austria; A. Von Maszak, Magyar Ujsag (The Daily Magyar), Budapest, Hungary; Paul Levy, Freisinnige Zeitung (Daily Freisinniger), Berlin, Germany; Emma Bong, Zur Guten Stunde, (Illustrated Good Hour), Berlin, Germany; F. Thiel, Der Neue Kurs (The New Course), Berlin, Germany; J. Greenwald, Wiener Tagblatt (Vienna Daily), Vienna, Austria; Haas Temple, Illustrirte Zeitung, (Illustrated News), Vienna, Austria; Eug. von Koerber, Egypetische, Budapest, Hungary; A. Bergman, Deutsche Zeitung, (Daily News), Vienna, Austria; and Albin Zeltner, Allgemeine Zeitung, Munich, Germany.

SEEKING THE STREETS. The afternoon was spent in a general view of the city and a trip to Fort Douglas. The Indian soldiers were of unusual interest and their appearance and actions were subjected to both the pencil and the eye of the artist. After a most general detour of the city the party repaired to the Knutsford hotel, where their sharpened appetites were more than satisfied.

The newspaper man from abroad has the same respect for the curious and unusual as his American brother, and when the foreigners headed for the Salvation Army barracks as the most interesting spot in the city, they demonstrated their fidelity to the instincts of their profession. The Salvationists were not at all confused by the presence of the Germans, but kept up the "racket" with a zeal that was truly admirable.

The army was never on a better war footing, and both in singing and in experience, the demonstration was of great interest to strangers, who are unaccustomed to daily parades by the army of the Lord.

A GERMAN BI-METALLIST. The editors all speak several languages, but their English as a rule is somewhat rusty. One of the most interesting of them, Thiel, editor of Der Neue Kurs, Berlin, is a fluent conversationalist and is quite entertaining when reciting his observations on the present state of the German Reich. He pronounced a vision of an enchantment, a realization beyond anything that the imagination could picture.

He visited the United States in 1877, and he traveled extensively in other countries. When asked in regard to the silver sentiment in Germany Mr. Thiel gave the reporter the following: "I am convinced that bi-metallism will be restored in Germany before the close of another two years. The elections take place on June 15. There is every indication that the social Democrats, who have had thirty-five members in the Reichstag, will increase the number to fifty strong. The silver sentiment has developed wonderfully in the last year or two. There was a time when the scientific men were all in favor of gold as the standard. Now the professors of the universities openly express different views, and the social Democrats, who studied the financial question in its various phases and even the bankers are, many of them, outspoken advocates of restoring silver to the condition it occupied in 1871."

"Prominent men who have changed their views and come out for silver are Dr. Otto Arendt, Professor Conrad of the University of Halle, and other countries. I, Lexis, I those are samples of the kind of men who see relief from financial distress felt all over the empire, through the coinage of silver."

The agrarian party calls loudly for more money and this party is made up of the real producers of the country. The coinage of silver is the principal plank in their platform, and the financial question is now being agitated as it has not been agitated for years. The low rate of wages and the difficulty of procuring money are the chief causes of our national embarrassments."

The emperor himself has not expressed opinions on the question. He is neither for nor against silver, but will abide by the decision of the representatives of the nation in the Reichstag.

IN LOVE WITH SALT LAKE. Eugene Von Koerber, Budapest, Hungary, expatiated on the grandeur of the mountain scenery and pronounced the Salt Lake valley the garden spot of the mid-continent. The streets of Salt Lake the most beautiful in the foliage of the shade trees he had seen in the west.

A Van Maszak publishes a daily paper in the Magyar language in Budapest. He was especially impressed by the evidence of thrift and activity which he saw in American cities.

The only woman with the party is a young German woman and she is to be, and she is full of spirit and enthusiasm. She attended the woman's congress at Chicago and is a good representative of her race, both in intelligence and industrial purpose, and she is a moral and social reformer she undertakes.

DISAPPOINTED IN THE WORLD'S FAIR. J. Greenwald, of Vienna, is a big hearty fellow with jolly spirits and impressive manners. He was greatly disappointed at the chaotic condition in which he found the World's fair and criticized the policy

FROM ACROSS THE SEA.

Brilliant European Journalists Now in Salt Lake.

HOW THEY LIKE THE WEST.

A Berlin Editor Predicts Bi-Metallism for Germany Within Two Years.

They All Agree That Our Scenery Is the Finest in the World, and Salt Lake Is a Beautiful City.

If the World's fair would do no more than attract to this country such brilliant people as the gentlemen and ladies who make up the party of German and Austrian editors that arrived in our city yesterday noon it would accomplish a great work in acquainting Europeans of the genius of American institutions. There are more men of science and letters from abroad than in previous years, and the nabobs appear to be staying away.

The party of distinguished editors is composed as follows: Richard Bong, Moderne Kunst (Modern Art), Berlin, Germany; Julius Loewy, Illustrirte Wiener Extra Blatt (Illustrated Vienna Extra News), Vienna, Austria; A. Von Maszak, Magyar Ujsag (The Daily Magyar), Budapest, Hungary; Paul Levy, Freisinnige Zeitung (Daily Freisinniger), Berlin, Germany; Emma Bong, Zur Guten Stunde, (Illustrated Good Hour), Berlin, Germany; F. Thiel, Der Neue Kurs (The New Course), Berlin, Germany; J. Greenwald, Wiener Tagblatt (Vienna Daily), Vienna, Austria; Haas Temple, Illustrirte Zeitung, (Illustrated News), Vienna, Austria; Eug. von Koerber, Egypetische, Budapest, Hungary; A. Bergman, Deutsche Zeitung, (Daily News), Vienna, Austria; and Albin Zeltner, Allgemeine Zeitung, Munich, Germany.

SEEKING THE STREETS. The afternoon was spent in a general view of the city and a trip to Fort Douglas. The Indian soldiers were of unusual interest and their appearance and actions were subjected to both the pencil and the eye of the artist. After a most general detour of the city the party repaired to the Knutsford hotel, where their sharpened appetites were more than satisfied.

The newspaper man from abroad has the same respect for the curious and unusual as his American brother, and when the foreigners headed for the Salvation Army barracks as the most interesting spot in the city, they demonstrated their fidelity to the instincts of their profession. The Salvationists were not at all confused by the presence of the Germans, but kept up the "racket" with a zeal that was truly admirable.

The army was never on a better war footing, and both in singing and in experience, the demonstration was of great interest to strangers, who are unaccustomed to daily parades by the army of the Lord.

A GERMAN BI-METALLIST. The editors all speak several languages, but their English as a rule is somewhat rusty. One of the most interesting of them, Thiel, editor of Der Neue Kurs, Berlin, is a fluent conversationalist and is quite entertaining when reciting his observations on the present state of the German Reich. He pronounced a vision of an enchantment, a realization beyond anything that the imagination could picture.

He visited the United States in 1877, and he traveled extensively in other countries. When asked in regard to the silver sentiment in Germany Mr. Thiel gave the reporter the following: "I am convinced that bi-metallism will be restored in Germany before the close of another two years. The elections take place on June 15. There is every indication that the social Democrats, who have had thirty-five members in the Reichstag, will increase the number to fifty strong. The silver sentiment has developed wonderfully in the last year or two. There was a time when the scientific men were all in favor of gold as the standard. Now the professors of the universities openly express different views, and the social Democrats, who studied the financial question in its various phases and even the bankers are, many of them, outspoken advocates of restoring silver to the condition it occupied in 1871."

"Prominent men who have changed their views and come out for silver are Dr. Otto Arendt, Professor Conrad of the University of Halle, and other countries. I, Lexis, I those are samples of the kind of men who see relief from financial distress felt all over the empire, through the coinage of silver."

The agrarian party calls loudly for more money and this party is made up of the real producers of the country. The coinage of silver is the principal plank in their platform, and the financial question is now being agitated as it has not been agitated for years. The low rate of wages and the difficulty of procuring money are the chief causes of our national embarrassments."

The emperor himself has not expressed opinions on the question. He is neither for nor against silver, but will abide by the decision of the representatives of the nation in the Reichstag.

IN LOVE WITH SALT LAKE. Eugene Von Koerber, Budapest, Hungary, expatiated on the grandeur of the mountain scenery and pronounced the Salt Lake valley the garden spot of the mid-continent. The streets of Salt Lake the most beautiful in the foliage of the shade trees he had seen in the west.

A Van Maszak publishes a daily paper in the Magyar language in Budapest. He was especially impressed by the evidence of thrift and activity which he saw in American cities.

The only woman with the party is a young German woman and she is to be, and she is full of spirit and enthusiasm. She attended the woman's congress at Chicago and is a good representative of her race, both in intelligence and industrial purpose, and she is a moral and social reformer she undertakes.

DISAPPOINTED IN THE WORLD'S FAIR. J. Greenwald, of Vienna, is a big hearty fellow with jolly spirits and impressive manners. He was greatly disappointed at the chaotic condition in which he found the World's fair and criticized the policy

FROM ACROSS THE SEA.

Brilliant European Journalists Now in Salt Lake.

HOW THEY LIKE THE WEST.

A Berlin Editor Predicts Bi-Metallism for Germany Within Two Years.

They All Agree That Our Scenery Is the Finest in the World, and Salt Lake Is a Beautiful City.

If the World's fair would do no more than attract to this country such brilliant people as the gentlemen and ladies who make up the party of German and Austrian editors that arrived in our city yesterday noon it would accomplish a great work in acquainting Europeans of the genius of American institutions. There are more men of science and letters from abroad than in previous years, and the nabobs appear to be staying away.

The party of distinguished editors is composed as follows: Richard Bong, Moderne Kunst (Modern Art), Berlin, Germany; Julius Loewy, Illustrirte Wiener Extra Blatt (Illustrated Vienna Extra News), Vienna, Austria; A. Von Maszak, Magyar Ujsag (The Daily Magyar), Budapest, Hungary; Paul Levy, Freisinnige Zeitung (Daily Freisinniger), Berlin, Germany; Emma Bong, Zur Guten Stunde, (Illustrated Good Hour), Berlin, Germany; F. Thiel, Der Neue Kurs (The New Course), Berlin, Germany; J. Greenwald, Wiener Tagblatt (Vienna Daily), Vienna, Austria; Haas Temple, Illustrirte Zeitung, (Illustrated News), Vienna, Austria; Eug. von Koerber, Egypetische, Budapest, Hungary; A. Bergman, Deutsche Zeitung, (Daily News), Vienna, Austria; and Albin Zeltner, Allgemeine Zeitung, Munich, Germany.

SEEKING THE STREETS. The afternoon was spent in a general view of the city and a trip to Fort Douglas. The Indian soldiers were of unusual interest and their appearance and actions were subjected to both the pencil and the eye of the artist. After a most general detour of the city the party repaired to the Knutsford hotel, where their sharpened appetites were more than satisfied.

The newspaper man from abroad has the same respect for the curious and unusual as his American brother, and when the foreigners headed for the Salvation Army barracks as the most interesting spot in the city, they demonstrated their fidelity to the instincts of their profession. The Salvationists were not at all confused by the presence of the Germans, but kept up the "racket" with a zeal that was truly admirable.

The army was never on a better war footing, and both in singing and in experience, the demonstration was of great interest to strangers, who are unaccustomed to daily parades by the army of the Lord.

A GERMAN BI-METALLIST. The editors all speak several languages, but their English as a rule is somewhat rusty. One of the most interesting of them, Thiel, editor of Der Neue Kurs, Berlin, is a fluent conversationalist and is quite entertaining when reciting his observations on the present state of the German Reich. He pronounced a vision of an enchantment, a realization beyond anything that the imagination could picture.

He visited the United States in 1877, and he traveled extensively in other countries. When asked in regard to the silver sentiment in Germany Mr. Thiel gave the reporter the following: "I am convinced that bi-metallism will be restored in Germany before the close of another two years. The elections take place on June 15. There is every indication that the social Democrats, who have had thirty-five members in the Reichstag, will increase the number to fifty strong. The silver sentiment has developed wonderfully in the last year or two. There was a time when the scientific men were all in favor of gold as the standard. Now the professors of the universities openly express different views, and the social Democrats, who studied the financial question in its various phases and even the bankers are, many of them, outspoken advocates of restoring silver to the condition it occupied in 1871."

"Prominent men who have changed their views and come out for silver are Dr. Otto Arendt, Professor Conrad of the University of Halle, and other countries. I, Lexis, I those are samples of the kind of men who see relief from financial distress felt all over the empire, through the coinage of silver."

The agrarian party calls loudly for more money and this party is made up of the real producers of the country. The coinage of silver is the principal plank in their platform, and the financial question is now being agitated as it has not been agitated for years. The low rate of wages and the difficulty of procuring money are the chief causes of our national embarrassments."

The emperor himself has not expressed opinions on the question. He is neither for nor against silver, but will abide by the decision of the representatives of the nation in the Reichstag.

IN LOVE WITH SALT LAKE. Eugene Von Koerber, Budapest, Hungary, expatiated on the grandeur of the mountain scenery and pronounced the Salt Lake valley the garden spot of the mid-continent. The streets of Salt Lake the most beautiful in the foliage of the shade trees he had seen in the west.

A Van Maszak publishes a daily paper in the Magyar language in Budapest. He was especially impressed by the evidence of thrift and activity which he saw in American cities.

The only woman with the party is a young German woman and she is to be, and she is full of spirit and enthusiasm. She attended the woman's congress at Chicago and is a good representative of her race, both in intelligence and industrial purpose, and she is a moral and social reformer she undertakes.

DISAPPOINTED IN THE WORLD'S FAIR. J. Greenwald, of Vienna, is a big hearty fellow with jolly spirits and impressive manners. He was greatly disappointed at the chaotic condition in which he found the World's fair and criticized the policy

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Royal Baking Powder ABSOLUTELY PURE

BOWMAN'S CONTRACTS.

He Falls to Give His Liabilities, as Ordered.

Statement of Sub-Contracts for the Joint Building—Appropriations Made on the Architect's Estimates.

The joint city and county building committee met yesterday afternoon, all the members being present except Councilman Wantland.

The following statement of sub-contracts was presented by Contractor Bowman and filed, and the contracts will be hereafter examined by the committee:

Table listing sub-contract items and amounts: Diamond, Kyne and Castle Stone company, stone at $3 per ton, 280,000; Portland Cement, 100,000; Gravel, 100,000; etc.

MUST GIVE HIS LIABILITIES.

Selectman Cahoon was not satisfied with this statement at all, as it did not comply with the resolution, which instructed the contractor to make a full statement of all amounts owing by him to the various sub-contractors, and Mr. Bowman was allowed until the next meeting to furnish this further information.

THE ARCHITECT'S ESTIMATES.

The architect submitted the following estimate of amounts to be paid, less 10 per cent.

Table listing architectural estimates: Carpenter work, $45,000; Stone cutting, $4,000; etc.

TOO FAR IN THE FUTURE.

T. F. Osborne of Portland, Or., who has the contract for furnishing the hollowed tiles, amounting to $17,350, presented an order signed by Mr. Bowman, authorizing the committee to make payments to him upon the architect's estimates. It was brought out, however, that this material would not be furnished until September, and the committee declined to bind itself in any arrangement extending so far into the future, and the order was simply filed.

THE GUN CLUB.

May Won the Medal Yesterday—The Sweepstakes Shoots.

The regular weekly shoot of the Salt Lake Gun club yesterday was of unusual interest. May won the medal, and there were three sweepstakes matches. Following are the scores:

Table showing scores for the Gun Club shoot: Name, Singles, Doubles, Totals. Callison, 12, 15, 27; Barratt, 10, 15, 25; etc.

FIFTY YELLOW FLAGS.

Scarlet Fever Continues to Increase and is Almost Epidemic.

Notwithstanding the efforts made to enforce the quarantine regulations, the number of cases of scarlet fever in the city continues to increase, and the disease seems now to have become almost epidemic.

There must be somewhere near fifty of the yellow flags displayed in the city, although some of these are shown where residents are convalescent. During the week ending last Saturday, six new cases were reported at the health department, and for the six days ending last night six new cases had been reported, an average of a new case each day.

Choice Tens.

We make a specialty of choice blends and can please you. C. B. DURST, Grocery Co. 74 East, Second South.

Everything Will Be Sold.

Prior to removal to my new store, 17 West Second South, I will sell all of my stock of diamonds, watches, jewelry, solid silverware and clocks at auction to the highest bidder, commencing June 1, 1893, at 2 p. m. and 7 p. m.

Show cases, wall cases, tables and safes will also be sold, at L. HOLLANDER'S, 141 Main street.

Ladies' day at L. Hollander's, Friday, at 2 p. m.

Call for your goods by telephone No. 293.

Ladies, Attention. Special sale for you today at Hollander's jewelry auction. An interesting day; it will pay you to attend. Sale at 2 p. m. sharp. LEO HOLLANDER, 148 Main street.

For a suit of clothes made to order from Provo Mills, all wool cassimeres. JOHN C. CUTLER & BROS., 30 Main street.

SHE DID NOT ELOPE.

Mrs. Owens Had Secured a Divorce from Waltenspiel.

She Obtained the Decree at Kansas City and Married Owens on the Following Day at St. Louis.

The news of the attempted suicide of Mrs. Elizabeth Owens, at St. Louis, which appeared exclusively in yesterday's HERALD, created a great sensation among the lady's acquaintances here, and especially among the spiritualists, with whom Mrs. Owens associated while a resident of Salt Lake.

A prominent member of the spiritualists' society stated to a reporter yesterday that the lady was a firm believer in spiritualism, and attended meetings and seances. It was at one of these gatherings that she met L. Owens, a young man of 25, who, however, remained in this city but a short time, and then went east. This informant stated that Mrs. Waltenspiel's married life was very unhappy, and she went to Kansas City a year ago and instituted divorce proceedings against P. C. Waltenspiel.

Another friend of the lady stated last evening that she did not elope with Owens, nor was there anything strange in the fact that she bore his name, as on April 25 last she obtained a decree of absolute divorce from Waltenspiel at Kansas City and the next day was legally married to Owens at St. Louis. Owens died at that city on May 18, and the lady's friends believe that in a fit of despondency caused by the advent of her attempted suicide.

For that "out o' sorts" feeling. Take Bromo-Seltzer—trial bottle free.

READING HAS THE ONLY FRESH Stock of Flower and Garden Seeds, Emporium Corner, and 2d E. and 2d S.

At Beck's Hot Springs. Saturday and Sunday, June 3 and 4, at 3 p. m., Montana Charley and Lariat Bill will ride wild bronchos, trick riding, trick riding, and singing and elog dancing, etc. Trains leave opposite Union Pacific depot every thirty minutes.

The midsummer number of "Tales From Town Topics," including a $1,000 prize novel, "Six Months in Hades," is on the new stands, and is a very lively volume, particularly suited