A CALL FOR TROOPS.

Request Made Last Evening By The Officials.

SOLDIERS ARE READY.

NO IMPORTANT CHANGE IN THE LOCAL SITUATION.

Secret Meeting of the American Railway Union Men Yesterday Morning—A Flurry of Excitement at the Western Depot—Usual Mass Meeting Held in the Afternoon.

Washington, July 6.—Attorney-General Olney late this afternoon received a joint telegram from the acting governor of Utah, the judge of the supreme court and the United States marshal, stating that the situation had become serious there. The railroads are in the hands of the strikers and the United States marshal was unable to secure enough deputies to enforce the laws. They call on the government for troops.

This Associated Press dispatch was received here last night and indicates that the authorities here have decided that it is useless to continue the effort to get mail trains through with the limited assistance the marshal can command, and will now rely on the troops.

The soldiers at Fort Douglas are ready to move out at a moment's notice, and in case the order is received the troops will leave for Ogden at once on a special train. Ammunition has been issued, and it is said that a supply of hard bread has been obtained.

This all looks very much like business. In a general way, it may be said that there was little change in the local situation yesterday, so far as the running of trains, yards and shops work is concerned. Still there were developments which will cut an important figure in the fight from now on.

A. R. U. SECRET MEETING. Promptly at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning the members of the American Railway Union met in secret session at Armstrong's hall and what was decided upon will not be fully known except as it develops in action of the men as the fight goes on.

Several committees were appointed and it is understood that a new plan of treating with the engineers and the trainmen was decided upon, and that hereafter this will be done through committees.

LOCAL TRAINS STILL MOVE. The movement of trains yesterday at the Union Pacific was the same as several days preceding, only that they had a train of cattle at Milford and ran them to Nepht to feed and they over haul such trains as traffic north is again resumed. No. 1 out of two in the morning was run to Frisco, and No. 2 from Frisco to this city. No. 7, the evening train, went down, and No. 6, that arrived here at 9:30 a. m., was run north as far as Hooper, returning in the afternoon. The Union Pacific blackboard still remains blank.

A committee of two was delegated to pass the hat through the hall, and anyone who was able to spare a nickel or dime to help defray the cost of telegrams, might do so, and it would be returned to him. The chair, $15 was found to be in the hat on return.

Mike Fitzgerald sent word that "to any one who needed bread and made it an excuse to scab" he would provide bread for a week's supply.

It was reported in the meeting that the Machinists' association would hold a meeting last night for the purpose of taking such further measures as would be necessary for the best interests of the men now out.

THEY WILL NOT PARADE. A resolution was offered that the union, all trades assemblies, and friends get up a mammoth parade, but it was not carried. It was shown that all had enough to engross their whole time, and that it was not the same sort of thing that parading the people might do, and that parading the people might do, and that parading the people might do.

Information was filed that General Superintendent Baneroff's coachman had been pressed into service on the Garfield beach run, and a committee will wait on him and ask him to discharge his duties as being a freeman on this occasion.

A report was sent in that "General" Carter, of commonplace fame, had taken his family to the same resort as his daughter, and a committee was appointed to learn if such things could be done, as he had some time ago started for Washington, and the committee will locate him in his new field.

IT WAS A FRAUD. The committee appointed to ferret out the parties who had been selling white ribbons under false pretenses, reported that the same party had been in the case, but the police had been notified, and there would be no more such frauds permitted. The public was cautioned not to be misled by impostors who were selling the same ribbons under the name of "General" Carter, and that the committee would investigate any such matters.

THE ENGINEERS. A meeting of the engineers was held in this city yesterday for the sole purpose of taking action on the strike question. It is given out that by a vote of ten to one they decided to not strike, and that they would continue to work. It is believed that such action is based on instructions from the grand lodge, which is in line with instructions said to have been given by the grand lodge officers of the Engineers' Brotherhood.

Some few more of the engineers who arrived last night made the vote stand thirteen to two, and the freight that was ready to start at 6 o'clock last evening could not start at 6 o'clock, and the freight that was ready to start at 6 o'clock last evening could not start at 6 o'clock.

THE FOLLOWING RESOLUTIONS WERE ADOPTED: Whereas, King Pullman in furtherance of his anti-American and oppressive measures seeks to consume too much of the earnings of the poor, owning them body and soul.

Resolved, That we will not be deceived by his selfish oppression acting like a black snake that must not be jested with, and feeling that the deeper the cancer the deeper must be the probe of the surgeon's knife, be it.

Resolved, That organized labor must fight organized capital to regain our human rights, or we must submit to slavery unbecomable. We must down warlike and build up true Americanism.

Resolved, That to accomplish this and to ascertain who are with us in the furtherance of our object, the following strike for liberty for which our fathers fought and spilled their blood, we must know who are against us.

Resolved, That to accomplish this the committee appointed by the railroad employees in mass meeting assembled, be delegated to interview the merchants and business men of Salt Lake city, to learn by their signatures where they stand in the present fight.

TELEGRAMS READ. The following telegrams were then handed up and read: Grand Junction, July 5, 1894. C. J. Selby—Grand Master Sergeant instructs not to "scab" or jeopardize our lives.

CHAIRMAN B. OF L. F. Pleasant Valley Junction, July 5, 1894.

W. H. Kilpatrick—If you have any messages for us send them to P. V. Junction. Firemen all out today. Answer quick. CHAIRMAN B. OF L. F. Chicago, July 6, 1894.

We are stronger tonight than ever and gaining ground rapidly. Victory is certain. Stand pat. E. V. DEBBS. The chairman then made a brief address, commending the strikers for their discipline and good order that had all through characterized the Salt Lake men, and won for them words of warm praise from all who heard him.

A number of business men made speeches, and pledged their sympathy and support. Mrs. Hayward and Mrs. Wolverson made speeches expressing their good will and offers of assistance so far as lay in their power, and promised to circulate among the ladies and do mission work in the cause.

The vice-president of the Federated Trades made a speech, and pledged financial assistance as well as moral support on all looking towards their best interests.

W. A. Greaves, Mr. Hardman of the Printers' union, J. C. Beek and Mr. A. W. Welby were present, and were assisting in helping them to win the battle.

The committee appointed to wait on the engineers reported that they waited on all addressed the meeting expressing their willingness to do all possible in helping them to win the battle.

COMMITTEES APPOINTED. It was stated that a Rio Grande Western freight was all ready made up to go out, and it was suggested that it should be sent out, and the men going out, and labor with them. The chair then appointed a committee of twenty-four to go, and cautioned them to not scab and not do anything that would look as though they were in any way courting trouble.

A committee of five was appointed to solicit aid in the future it was found necessary to do so, but said committee could only do so under seal of the union, and it was announced previously in the press. As yet there was no word of the committee taking such steps.

A committee of three was appointed to look after all who were in actual need of sustenance, and being it as a claim they would have to work. The committee would take such steps quietly as would hide such persons over the neighborhood.

A committee of two was delegated to pass the hat through the hall, and anyone who was able to spare a nickel or dime to help defray the cost of telegrams, might do so, and it would be returned to him.

Mike Fitzgerald sent word that "to any one who needed bread and made it an excuse to scab" he would provide bread for a week's supply.

run back to the house. At this the men set up a great cheer—things were coming their way then.

A crowd of men was brought out and coupled on, but the acting company of officials concluded the train would not be allowed to go without more protection than the men could furnish.

The men started slowly to move away, when some one said, "Don't go. We are on a public street; stay here."

This caused them to pause for a moment, and right there bloodshed was narrowly averted. It was the point where the men and the officers for the first time during the trouble came within an ace of "making."

Had they done so some one would have been killed and trouble would have started of such a nature that no one can surmise where it would have ended.

At this juncture one man said something to Captain Donovan in the way of remonstrance, when the latter laid hold of him, exclaiming "I'll move you off the street or anywhere else."

At the same time hustling him toward the patrol wagon a few yards distant. While pushing him along, and to emphasize the act, the captain raised his club and brought it down, at the same time twisting him to one side out of the way of the blow—he didn't intend to strike him.

But the movement was taken for a blow by the men, and with one accord they commenced closing in behind the captain with cries of "Have, Captain Donovan, none of that!"

It was that Marshal Pratt drew his gun, not having any club.

It was a critical moment for all, and though the men were wrought up to the verge of excitement, calm judgment prevailed, and they stayed in the mad rush they all made. Returning, the captors seized another man and ran him into the wagon.

The men then quietly walked over to the freight depot, and the officers remained awhile, keeping all back, until they finally dispersed. A number who were on the west side of the main line, were also requested to further away, and they did so.

The two men arrested are not railroad men. One is a carpenter, named Charles Roberts, residence No. 47 West Seventh street, and he is an officer in the old "home reserve" guard.

The other man is Palmer, a laborer, and resides on South Fifth West.

Roberts was released last evening on his own recognizance and Palmer on $15 bail.

AT THE JUNCTION CITY. BOTH SIDES STILL RESTING ON THEIR ARMS. The strikers as determined as ever—Business Interests Suffering—Special Grand Jury—A Ring Contest.

Ogden, July 6.—Silence and general inactivity have reigned at the depot during the past twenty-four hours. Nothing has occurred to disturb the situation, and what the ultimate outcome of it all will be cannot even be surmised.

The railway officials are reticent, the strikers as firm and determined as ever, and willing to undergo any suffering in the hope that they will win through in the end.

Through the night and day, and to last evening, the strikers gathered in small groups and discuss the situation in whispers. Long trains of cars still stand on the tracks, some of the Pullman and coaches being occupied by passengers.

The delayed travelers have manifested a patient spirit, considering the inconveniences they have been put to. The baggage room is packed with their effects and the delayed mails. A portion of the platform has been set off to accommodate a portion of the mails.

A report was circulated today to the effect that the Rio Grande Western and Union Pacific conductors had decided to leave the lot case than the strikers, but this is emphatically denied by the U. P. C. here. They say they will maintain the stand taken by them at the outset, that of taking no part in the matter.

The effect of the strike is being severely felt in business circles. The Artesian ice company has been forced to suspend operations, their supply of ice having given out.

Fortunately the gas and electric light company have on hand sufficient fuel to last six or seven weeks, so that there need be no apprehension that the city will be shrouded in darkness. It is understood that the street car company's supply of coal is quite low, and if the strike continues much longer the road will have to cease operations.

The fourth district court will be the ring in which the strikers will wage their legal battle at 10 a. m. tomorrow, when the hearing will commence on the order show cause why the injunction order issued Thursday should not be made permanent. Judge Rhodes has been retained by the strikers to defend their cause, and the prosecution will be handled by United States Attorney Judd and Assistant Magistrate. The greatest interest is manifested in the proceedings, and the outcome is anxiously awaited by those implicated.

Howe Judd has ordered a stock exchange for a grand jury, returnable on Monday, July 9.

A GLOVE CONTEST. Arrangements have been completed for a twenty-round glove contest between Jim Williams, of Salt Lake, and Henry Pepper, the colored pugilist of Ogden, to be fought on July 15. Williams is a well-known figure in the ring, and Pepper, while not so well known in Utah, has a good record in California. He is being trained by Dan Thompson.

On July 10 Henry Williams and Bob Thompson will have a six-round go.

SALT LAKE & HOT SPRINGS ROAD. Good Work Being Done by One Management.

The little Salt Lake & Hot Springs road is doing a favor that is hardly realized as yet. This is nothing less than a double stage service between the terminus of their road and Ogden. Messrs. H. S. Joseph and Joseph Oberdorfer, the chief engineer and auditor of the road, took a trip yesterday to Ogden to arrange the details of relay, etc. One can now leave the depot at Salt Lake at 6:30, arriving at the terminus at 7:30. There a stage is waiting with a spanking good team, which bows you over to Layton to connect with a double team service that cuts its way through sand, etc., and lands you in Ogden at 10 a. m. ready for business, and if you wish to return you can leave Ogden at 4 p. m., arriving in Salt Lake again at 9 o'clock. The afternoon service leaves Salt Lake at 2:30, arriving in Ogden at 7 o'clock. This is enterprise that is appreciated under the circumstances, but the good old way via the U. P. or B. & O. will always be preferable when possible.

THE EXCURSION SEASON. GREAT DEMOCRATIC REUNION AT SALT LAKE NEXT SATURDAY.

A Splendid Programme Being Prepared—Y. M. C. A. Field Day at Garfield—Home Industry Day at Salt.

July 14 will be a banner day for the Democracy of Utah. On that occasion there will be a great gathering of the clans from all over the territory at Saltair, and the attendance will be very heavy.

On Tuesday next, at Garfield, fifty-three athletes will contest for the medals offered by the Y. M. C. A., the occasion being the annual athletic meet of the Salt Lake association. The principal feature will be a ten-mile road race, beginning at the old Half-way house and ending at Garfield. All of the cracks have entered and the most exciting contest of the season is predicted. It will be possible for the spectators to view the race from the grandstand, as observation trains will be run.

Entries have come in from all over the country for the field events. The Y. M. C. A. members who work in the gymnasium are training closely, and it is rumored that there are several dark horses in the field who promise to break the association records.

Three prizes will be given for each event, and a general excellence medal will be awarded to the young man who scores the greatest number of points. The judges will all be representative men interested in athletics, and fair decisions will be rendered beyond doubt. Everyone will see a day of good, clean sport.

Home Industry Day. July 12 has been decided on as home industry day at Saltair and great preparations for the event are being made. Captain W. W. Hall with eighteen young ladies and gentlemen are practicing for a grand military bicycle drill to be given in the pavilion on that day. The Denhamer Rifles will also give a grand fancy drill.

Howe Bros. offer the following unique prizes: To lady making the finest gentleman's necktie of Utah material, one case of champagne cider and one case ginger ale.

At the twentieth performance of "Walkyrie" they prevented the orchestra from playing, drove the musical director from the hall, threatened to break up the stage, and organized a resistance among the most terrible hubbub. They drove the police from the theater. At last the place was closed.
