SOCIAL HAPPENINGS.

Hon. and Mrs. F. S. Richards have issued two hundred and fifty invitations to ladies and gentlemen of this city for a reception in honor of Miss Susan B. Anthony and Rev. Anna Shaw on Monday afternoon.

Miss Ruth Eldridge will lecture at the School of Expression on Saturday evening on the subject "Human Expression and Psychology."

A HANDSOME BODICE.

A sketch is given of a bodice of straw liberty silk. A plastron of guipure over pale blue taffeta extends to the waist behind, while in front it is partly covered by a drapery of straw silk, confined in the middle by a long paste buckle. The boufant sleeves of straw silk extend to the elbow. Braces or epaulets of blue taffeta, edged with darker blue velvet, are gathered over the shoulders and diminish toward the waist. The collar, soft felt and sleeve knots are of blue velvet.

HOUSEHOLD GIFTS FROM JAPAN. Matting and Bamboo Cheaper Than Carpet and Upholstered Furniture.

[For The Herald.]

We owe much to the Japanese for furnishing us with cheap and beautiful floor coverings. Nothing looks better, more durable, or cleaner in a bedroom than a good matting. It is easily swept with a soft brush and with but the exertion necessary for a Brussels carpet. In a country where dust is as all pervading as it is here, sweeping daily becomes a duty. Half the labor is lost and the burden becomes lighter where there is matting.

The Japanese think we are not clean because we wear our shoes in the house, and I am sure they must be shocked when they know we keep matting nailed to the floor until it is worn to shreds without our removing it. This is not necessary, however, as it can be taken up, the same as a carpet, and cleaned. We could hardly afford a new one every month or less, as they do among the better class of Japanese. But as the study of labor is lost and the burden becomes lighter where there is matting.

Then we have the Japanese rugs of every kind and description, but whatever kind or price never ugly. To the cultivated eye, however, there are some much more beautiful than others and these are the kind they make for themselves and not so much for export.

Much of what we see and like they would not have in their own homes, and it is too bad we demand such things, for though they may be better in design and color than most other rugs, still they are not the best they can do.

It is said the most expensive book in the world is one in Japan. It is made up of designs of rugs copied by good artists from all the rare antiquities in the museums of Europe.

Judging from this the rugs you may call Japanese are not so in anyway, except that they are manufactured there. If they are not their own design, a great deal of the charm about them must be lost.

Another household gift from Japan is the bamboo for furniture as it can be kept clean from dust so easily and with cushions that can be beaten is so much nicer than stuff. In consequence of this, the study of every one so situated, to arrange her home so as to give this disagreeable intruder as little chance as possible. Many women are doing this and the more modern homes are in consequence healthier and pleasanter to be in than the older ones.

ANGELICA KAUFFMAN.

THE AMERICAN PROFESSIONAL WOMAN.

It is asserted that Max O'Rell, the celebrated French wit, recently made the assertion that if he could choose his nation and his sex he would choose to be an American woman, and, as he

THE REASONS WHY

Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil and Hypophosphites is so useful in all wasting diseases, such as Consumption, Anemia, Scrofula, Rheumatism, Bronchitis, and Marasmus and Rickets in children, is because it furnishes to the depleted blood the fattening and enriching properties of the oil, and to the bones and nervous system the phosphorescent and vitalizing properties of the Hypophosphites, which together nourish the body, arrest the progress of the disease, and commence a process of repair that finally means restored health and vigor.

Don't be deceived to accept a substitute! Scott's Emulsion, N. Y. All Druggists, 50c and $1.

implies by this assertion, the position of American women strikes with astonishment all foreigners who travel in the states, for the American women are on an equality with men.

In Chicago, for instance, down in the city there stands an immense and very recent building, that is the Woman's Temple. At the exposition there in 1893 one of the finest structures in the fair grounds was the Women's building, designed and built by a woman. In the comparison of the position generally woman took an equally prominent part with man.

American women talk radically on all subjects, even to the change in the laws and constitution. In order to get an adequate idea of the conditions of American professional women in 1895, we have to consider the high state of education that have attained to today, the professions and occupations open to them and their political status.

In America there are over 100 first-class colleges and universities entirely open to women. Some like Vassar, Wellesley, Smith and Bryn Mawr, are for women exclusively, and others are mixed. Harvard, the oldest of all, seems to stand alone in its refusal to recognize officially the eligibility of women to compete on a par with men.

Every known profession, occupation and trade seems now to be open to women in America. Apparently the medical profession was the first sought by women, and now more than 1,000 women practitioners of the healing art are scattered over the states and work on an equal footing with the men.

The profession of theology has attracted fewer women, and it has been less easy for them to obtain recognition as pastors and preachers; but the theological schools of the Unitarian, Methodist Episcopal churches admit women students. There are ordained women preachers in the Baptist, Congregational, Universalist, Unitarian, "Christian," Methodist and Primitive Methodist denominations, and over 250 women preachers among the Society of Friends. There are about 700 women preachers and pastors in the United States today.

The legal profession was the last of the three so-called learned professions to be opened to women in America. Not because of reluctance on the part of the courts, but because women did not so easily apply for admission. There are now not less than eleven law schools open to women, and twenty-five states have admitted women to the bar. There are over 200 women lawyers in America, nine of whom are admitted to practice before the Supreme Court of the United States.

The women of Wyoming have full suffrage, and municipal suffrage is granted women in Kansas. In twenty-eight more states they have a right to vote upon school matters, and there are at least twenty-nine out of a total of forty-eight states where women enjoy some form of suffrage.

The political conditions of American woman today may be briefly summed up in these words: While she is not yet admitted to the full exercise of political rights except in Wyoming, she possesses very generally some right to vote on local matters, and to hold many executive offices; she, in all walks of life, is considered nearly, if not entirely, the equal of man, and in many cases his superior.

But Jack Jenks was a victim of liver complaint. His strength was exhausted, his pulse had grown faint. He had ulcers and tumors, and all sorts of humors. And the ills that he suffered would weary a saint.

Folks said that Jack Jenks would never be cured. But Jack would not let that be assured. Pierce's G. M. Discovery wrought his recovery. After all the poor fellow so long had endured.

Such a multitude of serious, distressing, and often fatal maladies spring from a disordered liver. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery creates a healthy action of this important organ, and the ills which have their origin there, such as indigestion, biliousness, indigestion and dyspepsia, can be cured by its persistent use.

ALL INTERESTED IN IRRIGATION. Notice. Under the auspices of the National Irrigation Congress, and of the Irrigation Commission for Utah thereby inaugurated, there will be created a State Association for Utah, the officers for which will be a president, two vice-presidents, a secretary and treasurer.

The governor of Utah to be ex-officio president of the association. There will be a county committee of five from each county, who shall have general supervision of local or town associations.

The officers for each local or town association shall be a president, vice-president and a corresponding secretary. The association immediately upon being formed will issue a call by advertisement, in Utah papers, and otherwise, for all persons interested in irrigation, forestry and other cognate matters, to become members.

The membership fee will be $1 per annum, payable in advance for which members will be entitled to receive a copy of all pamphlets and other literature issued by the association.

It shall be the duty of each member of the association to foster and promote the interests of irrigation in Utah, and the special duty of the county committees, and the local presidents, vice-presidents, and the corresponding secretaries thereof to promote the growth of the association by inviting all interested persons in their respective counties and towns to become members.

The corresponding secretaries will make reports to the secretary of the association regarding rains, rainfall, canals, ditches, etc., according to instructions furnished them from the central office.

SKIRMISHED AT THE FORT.

The sunset-gun fired at 7:11 p. m. A bowie-knife isn't in it with the new knife-bayonet, which it resembles. The bike craze is here in force. There are about thirty-five wheels in the post. The target season opens May 13th, and continues one month only this year. Prize-fighting seems to be on the decline since the opening of the baseball season.

The road-roller is at work on Penrose drive, which begins to look as smooth as some of the ordinary carriages. Private Platt has been dropped from the rolls of Company H as a deserter. The band is improving under the instruction of Laessle.

It is rumored that the Sixteenth will turn out in full for the trip to Saltair May 25th. The baseballists are not in as good shape this year as last, probably owing to the absence of Lieutenant Johnson. Company D is organizing a ball nine, and after heating them all will challenge the Post nine.

Private Gray, formerly of Company E, commanding a party of engineers in the Potomac river near Washington. Dress parade every day except Saturday (inspection day), and Sunday (band-concert day).

Parade will be by battalions except on Wednesday, when there is to be a parade by the full regiment. The first battalion parades on Monday and Tuesday, and the second battalion on Tuesday and Friday.

Drill will be discontinued during the pop-gun season, beginning Monday, May 13th. Guard-mount is held daily at 8:30 a. m., after which there is an open-air concert by the band on the post.

Private McLewis is being tried by a general court-martial for trying to use a knife in a personal difficulty. Private Lemonnier has been discharged from Company C, for disability in the loss of an arm. He will apply for a half pension upon his return home to Ohio.

There is much "special" fatigue around the post at present, and consequently much complaining among the men. General Penrose does not believe the regiment will move before July, and is not hopeful of it moving at all this summer.

All the beauty of spring, of lake, valley and mountain, one of the most charming panoramas in the west, may be seen from the head of Penrose drive.

The Fort Douglas Literary and Debating society held an interesting meeting last night in the chapel. Among the subjects discussed were "Opening Causes of the Civil War," by Private Lynch, and "Salt Lake as a Missionary Center," by Private Myers. There was an entertaining reading by Chaplain Lowell, entitled "Joshua Allen Wins a Victory." The society meets every Tuesday evening.

Spring Medicine

So important that you should be sure to get THE BEST. Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven its unequalled merit by its thousands of remarkable cures, and the fact that it has a larger sale than any other sarsaparilla or blood purifier shows the great confidence the people have in it. In fact it is the Spring Medicine. It cures all blood diseases, builds up the nerves and gives such strength to the whole system that, as one lady puts it, "It seemed to make me anew."

Is Cycling Injurious? Many persons apparently healthy find great difficulty in getting a good night's sleep. If they are able to go to sleep they often wake up during the night and lie awake for hours. Consequently when morning comes, instead of feeling refreshed they feel as if they were weary to death. They are unable to account for this and seek the costly advice of a physician.
