BRIEF AND BREEZY.

Yesterday's clearings were $18,765 as compared with $18,100 for the same day of last year. A 5 a. m. yesterday the thermometer registered 81 at noon 73 and at 8 p. m. 61, the maximum temperature being 81 and the minimum 61. Isadore L. Welsh was yesterday appointed a notary public and has opened a general collection agency and law office in the Atlas block. Mayor Baskin has signed the appropriation bill which was passed at the meeting of the city council, amounting to over $1,000, and the same will be made at the city auditor's office this forenoon. There are only two days more in which to make protest before the board of equalization, and parties who have business with the body mentioned will have to get a movement on themselves if they expect to obtain relief. Mrs. W. Scott Crisman, the wife of the county recorder, who has been ill for some time, is slowly recovering and is now thought to be past the danger point. She has many friends who will be pleased to learn this bit of intelligence. An enormous lot of business is awaiting the arrival of the new crop of fruit. The fillings in all cases have been kept from repudiation of the city. The city is in time to open court on Monday morning next. District school trustees throughout the county are sending in their reports to the superintendent of county schools, and the same are being audited. The census reports for the year ending in 1894 will be made public sometime in the early days of August. School teachers continue to arrive in the city to scatter their parties. They are all delighted with Salt Lake and its attractions, particularly the climate. Many of the visitors are from the west and are interested in the mineral exhibit. The funeral of the late George Lowry was held from the residence of Mrs. William Skewes & Son yesterday afternoon and was well attended, many of the friends of the deceased being present. The discourse which followed the remains to the cemetery was a large one. Jack Dowd, the man who figured in the police court yesterday for keeping a dog, was again arrested last night, this time on a charge of vagrancy. He protested strongly and offered bail in the sum of $10, all he could rake up, but this was refused and he went back to the jail. Senator Frank Damrosch, of the conservator of music, New York, was among the distinguished visitors in the Raymond block yesterday for hearing a piano which is an old school mate of Isadore L. Welsh of this city, and the two shook hands for the first time in the last twenty-five years. The trip of safe crackers who operated on the San Pacific route at Nephi last Saturday night, were captured by Officer P. M. Wheeler below Miami. They were yesterday tried and sentenced to the penitentiary for a term of one year and a fine of $100. The company was composed of three men, and the lighter sentence is given them for some petty offences committed at Nephi. THE POLITICAL ARENA.

Party of Distinguished Democrats Must Talk Straight Silver

NO STRADDLING WANTED.

THAT IS THE WORD SENT TO THEM BY JOHN T. CAINE.

Republicans Are Sending Out Campaign Literature All Through the Territory—The Call's Big Scheme—Bishop Morris Says He Did Not Intend to Discriminate Against the Democrats—Republican Club Formed to Bring About Some Harmony—It is Badly Needed.

Quite a lengthy correspondence has been carried on within the last two months between John T. Caine and George Hazard, secretary of the Democratic societies of Washington state, the originator of the idea of bringing out a party of distinguished Democrats through the western states this summer. The correspondence offers several things that have not yet been brought before the Democrats here in the dispatches received from Washington.

The opening letter of Mr. Hazard was sent out for the purpose of feeling the sentiment of the Democrats of this territory on the matter of expense. It said that the party was to be composed of Senator Morgan, the famous man who gave rise to the expression, "The White House clock strikes the hour and the cuckoo come forth." John M. Allen, the most amusing and original story teller in the House of Representatives; Governor Channing; the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives; Secretary Cornelius Gardner, "not much on oratory," but the very dickens on organization; and W. R. Meyer, the best Democratic stump speaker in the red hot political state of Indiana. Thus the party would be made up of both of strong silver men and other notables.

The subjects of discussion. Mr. Hazard continued: "Senator Morgan and the accompanying gentlemen, if they come, will be found talking advanced ground and advocating affirmatively. "The early construction of the Nicaragua canal as an American enterprise, endorsed, backed or guaranteed by our government. "Second—The early enlargement, improvement and maintenance by the general government of all inland navigable waters. Possible transportation as an vital a question as taxation. "Third—Maintenance by the Democratic party of the enlightened, progressive foreign policy formulated by Thomas Jefferson, our first secretary of state, and maintained by every one of his Democratic successors down to and including Thomas F. Bayard. "Fourth—Bimetallism. The money of the constitution. Gold and silver. "Fifth—Morgan and the other gentlemen who propose to accompany him are all veterans in our cause and all competent to speak with authority. There should be no misunderstanding about the position they will take on these four definitely stated propositions. They would advocate them affirmatively on every proper occasion."

Must Talk Straight Silver. In reply to this circular Mr. Caine assured the most hearty reception in Utah to the distinguished party. He said the people would not be much interested in the canal or water question, as they are far from the seaboard and have no great rivers. He continued: "We are, however, vitally interested in one of the propositions, 'Bimetallism, the money of the constitution; gold and silver.' Yet this question should be discussed here with an impartial ear. It must be the free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold at a ratio of 16 to 1. Any straddle or half way proposition would do no good."

Flooding With Literature. The Republicans, backed by a number of large-sized bars, both here and in divers other places, are making strong preparations for the campaign in the nature of literature. Perhaps the most interesting move is that made by the San Francisco Call which is expected here with an editorial campaign. It is said on the most reliable authority that already a subscription list of 10,000 names throughout the territory has been prepared and that from now until the end of the campaign copies of the Weekly Call will be sent to all these people absolutely free of charge. Of course, there is a trodden idea here. The Call desires to obtain a foothold in the territory and will try and advertise itself in this manner. But, more important than that, the column wants to cut his way into the Senate and wants the Call to boost him while it is cutting away at the Tribune subscription list. Protection Literature. In addition to this, Frank Cannon is pretty industriously using his congressional frank in Washington for the benefit of the Republican party and is sending out tariff literature by the sackful, all being furnished by the tariff barons. In addition he has a large list of names to whom he is sending the circular of the American Protective Tariff league, reading as follows: Dear Sir—We wish to place in the hands of every voter at the above named postoffice reliable information showing the benefits of protection. You will recognize the importance of this. Will you have the goodness (if accorded to the enclosed polling card) to at once give us a list of the persons receiving mail at the postoffice to which this envelope is addressed. The

JUSTICE SMITH YESTERDAY DECIDED AN IMPORTANT CASE.

Jack Dowd's Dog Has a Special Antipathy For Riders of the Wheel—Would Like to Eat One For Breakfast Every Morning—Peeping Tom's Case Dismissed—Charles Harrison Arrested For Knocking Down a Little Girl While Riding—Other Minor Items.

Police Justice Smith decided a very important point yesterday in the matter of the demurrer to the complaint on the vagrancy charge against John McNamee, the last of the trio interested in the skeleton keys found on William Ross. His decision is that in a vagrancy case the prosecution may plead the whole section of the ordinance defining the offense and not be compelled to prove a case on every separate subdivision of that section. Had the decision been otherwise the effect would have been very injurious to the efforts to keep the city clear of bad characters.

Attorney Armstrong appeared yesterday morning to argue the demurrer in the matter of the demurrer to the complaint on the vagrancy charge against John McNamee, the last of the trio interested in the skeleton keys found on William Ross. His decision is that in a vagrancy case the prosecution may plead the whole section of the ordinance defining the offense and not be compelled to prove a case on every separate subdivision of that section. Had the decision been otherwise the effect would have been very injurious to the efforts to keep the city clear of bad characters.

The most amusing case in the court was that of Jack Dowd, charged with keeping a fierce and dangerous dog. The complaining witness was H. S. Turner, a well known citizen, who resides at the residence of Dowd on a bicycle, when a large Newfoundland dog came running out at him and bit him severely, and also tore his clothing. When he went back and told Dowd about it, the latter said, "Well, I'm glad of it; it served you right for riding so fast."

The defendant broke in here with, "Yes, judge, that's what I said. It did serve him right." When the defendant was placed on the stand he kept the judge smiling and he kept the jury laughing. He was only a pup, but the animal had a natural antipathy to bikes. A bicyclist once ran over his tail and he seems to have secured ample revenge for this injury. "How did you say the dog was?" asked Prosecutor James. "Ten months last birthday," was the answer. The defendant tried afterwards to deny what he said when he admitted he had justified his dog. He said when Tuckfield came back he had to the gate and he was very sorry. However, seeing the case was going against him, he asked until this morning to bring some additional witnesses to prove the dog is gentle and good.

Insufficient Proof. Jacob Bruck, the soldier who was accused of playing the part of Peeping Tom at the window of Mrs. Fox, was discharged for want of sufficient evidence. On the showing made it looked very much as though Bruck was the culprit. He has been in the court before on the same kind of a charge several times. He was a man at the window and frightened him off. By the time the women were notified he had a good start on them, but they went out and overhauled Bruck, whom they found in the act of peeping. They could not absolutely swear that Bruck was the man at the window and, therefore, the case did not stick.

Far East Driving. Little Charles Harrison, alleged to be the boy who ran down a little girl in the street on Wednesday and did not stop, was yesterday brought into court yesterday. He denied that he had been anywhere near the scene of the accident. However, he was very pale and his body was marked with several times said something that indicated that he knew something about the business. Sergeant Ford identified him as the boy responsible for the accident. The case went over until today.

Joe Wong, the half-demented Chinaman arrested for being drunk, was discharged and given over to his friends. M. Murphy, the vagrant who pleaded not guilty, but said he was ready to get out of town if the opportunity was given him. Therefore, the case was set for a second day. He was allowed to go on his own recognizance. There was one solitary fine of $2 for violation of the bike ordinance and not a single common drunk. The case of the vagrant was again continued until the 22nd.

Wanted. A girl for general housework, must be a good cook. Good wages. Apply 305 First street. Immediately, address of anyone treating with the human mammals. Address E. A. Franks, P. O. Box, 574 city. Situation by a young man as bookkeeper or clerk. Experience and reference. Apply this office, L. 4.

Orders for "Funk & Wagnall's New Standard Dictionary." Address A. B. Bush, Box 317, city, who will take pleasure in calling upon you. Highest cash prices paid for gent's' cast off clothes. Send postal and will call. Singer & Cornish, 22 East Second South. Salt Lake Steam Carpet Cleaning Works, corner Third and South Temple. Telephone 62. E. E. Egnon, proprietor, successor to Morris & Egnon.

OFF TO PARK CITY. Harry Taylor Preparing For a Fight With Lynott in the Near Future. Harry Taylor, the young man who so scientifically got away with the Black Prince some evenings ago, will leave this morning for Park City, where he will go into training for a fight with Lynott. The mill will take place sometime within the next three weeks and will be worth going to see. Taylor takes a great deal of the worst of this, as Lynott is a much heavier man, but thinks he can stand him off long enough to tire him out and win. If he loses he is still willing to take on any 125-pound man in the territory. Lynott is in good condition right now, having recently fought Jake Smith, whom he got away with, and consequently does not have to train as severely as does Taylor. The little man is game for a go and leaves the town with a feeling of confidence that he will come out all right. Backen's Aralen Salve.
