WOULD NOT a coroner's inquest be about the proper thing over the remains of ex-Governor Thomas' boom?

IN your convention today, gentlemen of the Republican party, do not in your enthusiasm and eloquence when naming candidates stick too closely to the time-honored but still hackneyed phrase, "I rise to nominate a man." AT IT AGAIN.

It is learned from a number of authentic sources that over-zealous Republican women are endeavoring to further the cause of their party by reprehensible and dangerous means.
