SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH.

BY THE HERALD PUBLISHING CO.

Forecast for today: Fair, stationary temperature.

REGISTER! REGISTER!!

The Registration Office at 106 South State Street will re-open on Monday, Sept. 30th, and will remain open every day during the week from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

A great many voters have not yet registered and this will be the last chance. Remember that you must appear at the office personally. Don't forget the date and place.

BRIEF AND BREEZY.

The Baton, a journal devoted to the musical profession, will appear next Friday. John Held will be its editor.

Although conference does not convene until next Friday, visitors from distant points are already beginning to arrive.

The Women's Press club will meet at the office of Dr. Ellis B. Shipps, No. 11 Main street, on Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

Lester R. Riggs, a graduate of the Columbia college law school, was admitted to the supreme court bar of Utah yesterday morning.

At 6 a. m. yesterday, the thermometer registered 51 at noon 76, and at 9 p. m. the maximum temperature being 77, and the minimum 56.

Marriage licenses were yesterday issued to David C. Slaye, aged 23, and Mrs. Nora M. Blair, aged 27; John A. Anderson, aged 22, and Johanna Olivia Olson, aged 23, all of this city.

This issue of the Herald was gotten out entirely by hand. A break in the electric light system occurred early in the evening, and all efforts to remedy the defect failed. Recourse was had to the primitive method of illuminating. The result was that a number of communications had to be held over until tomorrow.

Held's first regimental band will attend the last of the season at Liberty park at 7:30 p. m. today. The programme will consist of nine numbers, including the most popular selections by the band. Among the numbers will be "The Band Played On," "Foot and Heel," "Carmen," and a concert duet by Messrs. Held and Gill.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Nalbrit will be greatly pained to learn of the sudden death of their baby boy, which occurred yesterday morning, the result of a severe cold.

The hearing of the divorce suit of Eunice C. Adamson vs. William Adamson came on before Chief Justice Merritt. Mrs. Adamson testified that she had three young children of the marriage, her husband worked in the smelter at Sandy and earned about $79 a month. He had three and two-thirds acres of land worth $500. He had not supported her or the children for a long time. Witness had kept the family by working out, doing washing, sewing and other kinds of labor.

Mrs. Adamson's testimony was corroborated by Mrs. White and also by the mother of the plaintiff.

The defendant, William Adamson, said his wife deserted him a year ago. Before working at the smelter he labored on a farm and supported his family. Lately he was taken sick and had to leave the smelter because he couldn't do the work. He didn't work more than half time. The three and two-thirds acres of land was part of a farm of fifty acres left by his father and was at present in the name of his mother. His father died in 1888, left no will, and the estate had not been probated yet.

Mrs. Adamson, mother of the defendant, said she assisted in the support of the plaintiff and her children. Defendant was sick and not able to do much work. The fifty acre farm was owned by witness and her two children. The work at the smelter was too hard for the defendant.

George Hutchins said the property was not worth over $100 an acre. The defendant had been in very poor health for a year and not able to do hard work.

His honor granted Mrs. Adamson $10 a month alimony, $20 counsel fees and $10 costs. His honor remarked he didn't want to make the alimony more than the man could pay. If he had

IN THE SUPREME COURT

Case of Ogden City vs. Tax Collector Hamer Argued.

TAKEN UNDER ADVISEMENT.

A VERY LIGHT DAY IN THE DISTRICT COURT.

Chief Justice Merritt Hears Mrs. Adamson's Motion For Temporary Alimony and Grants It—Three New Actions Filed—A Number of Parties Admitted to Citizenship—General Notes.

The territorial supreme court met yesterday morning with Chief Justice Merritt and Associate Justices Baruch and King on the bench.

Associate Justice Smith being absent, the hearing of several opinions in cases already argued, was deferred and the greater part of the time was occupied with the arguments in the case of Ogden City vs. Daniel Hamer, tax collector, appellant.

Attorneys C. C. Richards and F. S. Richards appeared for the appellant, Hamer, and Attorneys Evans and Whipple for the respondent, Ogden City.

The appeal was from Judge Smith's court and a peculiarity of the case was that both plaintiff and defendant appealed on different points.

In this case the collector of Weber county sold property for county taxes, under the territorial statute, and sold the same property for city taxes, under an ordinance of Ogden city. In 1883, 415 pieces of property were thus sold, and in 1884, 750 pieces. Ogden city insists that Collector Hamer is not entitled to any compensation for the sales made for city taxes; that the law requires him to do it, but does not provide compensation therefor. He is therefore sued for taxes not paid, and which could not be collected. Mr. Hamer insists that he is entitled, under the statute, to the same compensation for each sale whether city or county, and that his sale of the property relieves him, as it was all he could do under the law. These positions were argued pro and con, until 1 p. m., when the matter was submitted and was taken under advisement by the court.

Other Supreme Court Business. Francis S. Luechi, Edward E. Hoffman and Lester R. Riggs, were admitted to practice at the bar of the supreme court.

Several motions to dismiss appeals on statutory grounds were filed. The supreme court adjourned until November 6.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT.

The Chief Justice Hears a Motion For Alimony.

The hearing of the plaintiff's motion for alimony in the divorce suit of Eunice C. Adamson vs. William Adamson came on before Chief Justice Merritt.

Mrs. Adamson testified that she had three young children of the marriage, her husband worked in the smelter at Sandy and earned about $79 a month. He had three and two-thirds acres of land worth $500. He had not supported her or the children for a long time. Witness had kept the family by working out, doing washing, sewing and other kinds of labor.

Mrs. Adamson's testimony was corroborated by Mrs. White and also by the mother of the plaintiff.

The defendant, William Adamson, said his wife deserted him a year ago. Before working at the smelter he labored on a farm and supported his family. Lately he was taken sick and had to leave the smelter because he couldn't do the work. He didn't work more than half time. The three and two-thirds acres of land was part of a farm of fifty acres left by his father and was at present in the name of his mother. His father died in 1888, left no will, and the estate had not been probated yet.

Mrs. Adamson, mother of the defendant, said she assisted in the support of the plaintiff and her children. Defendant was sick and not able to do much work. The fifty acre farm was owned by witness and her two children. The work at the smelter was too hard for the defendant.

George Hutchins said the property was not worth over $100 an acre. The defendant had been in very poor health for a year and not able to do hard work.

His honor granted Mrs. Adamson $10 a month alimony, $20 counsel fees and $10 costs. His honor remarked he didn't want to make the alimony more than the man could pay. If he had

A FREAK OF NATURE.

The passengers on the Rapid Transit line to Fort Douglas were treated to a novel sight last week—no less a sight than an apple tree in blossom in proportion. It might have happened elsewhere than in popper; but it didn't. That place, somehow, seems to have the best of it—take the eclipse of the moon last month, for instance, or the astronomical observations in popper, and so was that magnificent spectacle the star and crescent, which glinted one night in the sky last summer. When it comes to SPOILING THINGS, astronomical or, as far as that is concerned, terrestrial, we are offering now about 30,000 square miles of scenery with every lot, and the lots are not high either, that is, the prices are not high; or when it comes to having things, such as nice surroundings, health laden breezes, and so-forth, and so-forth, and so-on, you just better believe there is nothing in nature or in art equal to popper. The tide of building and investments, in that direction, still goes on, and we are offering some choice locations at reasonable prices and terms.

New Suits Entered. The Deseret Savings bank has begun suit in the Third district court against W. C. Clive et al. to recover $1,500 on a promissory note secured by a mortgage.

Fresida N. Richards is suing R. B. Bitner et al. to collect $2,300 on a promissory note and for foreclosure of the mortgage securing the same.

The Pacific Lumber company is suing Winifred C. Rule et al. to recover $392.41, alleged to be due for building material. It is prayed that the claim be declared a mechanic's lien against the building on which the material was used.

New Citizens. Philip J. Hornberger, A. F. Gutko, John A. Carlson, Charles John Boden, George Lindsay, Owen T. Court, Gustaf Johnson Axilders, Daniel W. Simpson, Frank E. Gowan and Stephen Kelly were admitted to citizenship.

Miscellaneous Notes. Abe Hunter had a hearing before United States Commissioner Sommer on the charge of passing a forged order to get possession of a wagon, as reported in The Herald of yesterday. His honor held Hunter to the grand jury in $200 bonds, which he gave and was released.

Mrs. Ella Butler, who was charged with disturbing the peace of Mrs. Belle Hutchinson, was dismissed, as was the prosecution failed to appear.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder. Awarded Gold Medal Midwinter Fair, San Francisco.

Mrs. M. J. Burrows will have her millinery display on Monday, Sept. 30, hours 9 to 6. 32 Main street.

TO THE LADIES. Grand Millinery Opening. On Monday and Tuesday, September 29 and October 1, Mrs. E. Madsen will exhibit the latest importations in fall and winter millinery and French pattern bonnets. 59 East First South street.

Dr. E. M. Keyser fills teeth without pain. Teeth without a speciality. Rooms 1, 2 and 3, Scott-Auerbach building, 162 Main street.

How is it C. S. Martin is such a favorite of the ladies? Because he sends them clean coal. Office under McCormick's bank.

Candies in endless quantities. Call and get prices. James G. McDonald Candy Co.

Dr. Tillman fills teeth without pain. Teeth without plates a specialty; 33 and 34, over Walker Bros. & Fyler's store.

Mr. and Mrs. Enterprise. Friends—The Salt Lake & Ogden Gas & Electric Light company will lay gas pipe to your residence, if you so desire, upon very reasonable terms.

Natural gas is a success and there is plenty of it for cooking, heating and lighting.

It is both clean and cheap, and perfectly safe, and will save fully one-third of your present outlay.

If you are interested and wish to make life less a burden, call at office, No. 6, West First South street, and make application, or send a card to John P. Meakin, our representative, and he will call upon you and give estimate of cost and explain advantages gained by using natural gas for cooking, heating and lighting.

Respectfully, R. F. HAYWARD, Gen. Manager. JAMES MOFFAT, Secretary.

YOU CANNOT VOTE. If you are not registered, Register at 166 South State street any day, this week.

A WRATHFUL BANKER.

HE DECLARES TAX SALES MADE HERE ARE "OUTRAGEOUS."

Sample Letter Given Out For Publication—Something Ought to Be Done in the Matter, is the Judgment of Those Who Pretend to Know.

J. M. Fisher, who is engaged in an endeavor to settle the question of title to city and county property, sold for taxes in 1883, on a raise in the rate made by the board of equalization after the first action of the board had been made, reports that he is receiving a great many protests from those living outside the city, and thinks that Salt Lake is getting a bad reputation. The following communication is from a banker in Kansas City, who writes under date of September 25.

"Since the receipt of your letter of September 10, I have been investigating some of the transactions in regard to taxes in your city. I find that your people there think nothing of raising taxes at the rate of 100 per cent. and selling a man's property for it, without giving him notice. It may be business in the eyes of Salt Lake people, but in my opinion, it is nothing more or less than robbery. That robbery is this property today and the same thing might come up in the future. A non-resident has no protection whatever there. How your people, who pretend to be honest, upright citizens, can justify such actions is beyond my comprehension. I know another case where a lady had paid her taxes and the board of equalization raised 17 cents. She got no notice whatever and it cost her $15 to redeem the property, after the same were sold for taxes. This is outrageous. If citizens of Salt Lake City were inclined to treat non-resident citizens with any degree of honor, it would not be necessary to pass resolutions authorizing any man to settle these claims. I do not know the value of the property. It may be valuable, but I am liable to be sold out every year and my redemption fees would soon amount to a great deal more than the property can ever be worth.

A leading attorney said last evening that it would be right to go into court and have all these sales set aside, as, in his opinion, it could be done with no trouble at all. The raise was an illegal one and ought to be set aside. Fisher states that it is impossible to tell how many places are tied up as a result of this action. The county has the title, or is entitled to have the title, on about 80 places and these are held by private parties who are holding the same on speculation. The whole business is a muddle and some action ought to be taken. The board of equalization is a sample of several which are received every day.

PROBATE COURT.

Orders Made By Judge McCall—Lucy D. Young Matter.

The estate of Lucy Decker Young was on for hearing yesterday, the cause coming on to be heard on a citation to the executors to come into court and show cause why they should not be removed. To this the executors filed a demurrer, which was argued by counsel at some length. At the conclusion the court took the matter under advisement and will pass upon it Tuesday.

The estate of John W. Chamberlain was on for a few minutes yesterday, on a report by the commissioners appointed to partition the estate. The decree was accepted as satisfactory by the heirs and the division will be made as soon as certain formalities are completed with.

Other orders made in the court were as follows: Estate of Peter Jensen; Joseph Risley appointed administrator, with bonds in the sum of $25,000. Estate of William P. Hill; Mary E. Hill appointed administrator with bonds in the sum of
