

NEWS FROM NEAR-BY TOWNS

Evidence in the Hayes Case is Closed.

ARGUMENTS COMMENCED.

IT WILL PROBABLY REACH THE JURY ON TUESDAY.

Prosecution Introduces Several Important Witnesses in Rebuttal—Heavy Snow Fall at Park City and in the Mountains Surrounding—Mining and Personal Notes of the Great Park City.

PROVO, March 23.—After the report of the Hayes murder trial closed yesterday afternoon, Mr. Wilson was called by the defense and testified to seeing Hayes in Eureka on February 16, 1895.

Mrs. Kinney was recalled and stated that Mr. Terrell was with the defendant when she saw him on the 17th.

Mrs. Hayes recalled—I took a horse belonging to Terrell to the ranch in February. It was on the 23. I took some ammunition with me for the boys.

Cross-examined by Thurman, witness said she went to the ranch on March 7. The door was locked when I got there. Rasmussen unlocked the door in my presence. There were two coats hanging on the wall. One was Albert's. Don't know who the other coat belonged to. There was a pair of rubber boots there. They belonged to Albert. I saw some guns there. I thought at first the boys were killed. Rasmussen and his wife told me not to worry; they were all well.

Q.—On the 16th or 17th did you say to Miss Ferguson and others that Hayes was down to the ranch and you were uneasy about him, and you had a mind to go and see what was the matter?

A.—No, I did not.

A witness for the defense, Mr. Morley, was not present to testify, but the prosecution was satisfied.

WILLING TO ADMIT

that he would testify that he made an entry in his books against Hayes on February 17.

Mrs. Hayes was recalled and said Hayes bought a piece of steel after he had been to the ranch in March.

The defendant Hayes was recalled—I conversed with the clerks in the store about the steel. They told me they had none, and sent me to the old McCrystal mine, where I got the bar of steel. That was the same day I talked with Shoutz—the latter part of March.

IN REBUTTAL.

The defense here rested their case and the prosecution called Mrs. Yates for rebuttal. She said—I remember seeing the defendant the day after the body was found. He said to me that he had a dream that someone was murdered, and he was uneasy about Caroline, and that was what brought him home.

William Terrell—I remember the 17th of February, 1895. I was not at the house of the defendant on that day. I never saw Mrs. Kinney on the 17th. I never told R. G. Wilson that I had been on Mrs. Hayes' track and was to receive pay for it.

Re-direct—Mrs. Hayes asked me at one time to sign a paper that I saw Hayes in Eureka on the 16th and 17th, and that she would help me in my lively stable if I would do so. I am aware that it was rumored at the time that I was implicated, and on that account I have taken an interest in getting at the truth. One of the murdered boys and on that account, too, I took an interest in it.

Miss Maggie Ferguson—Resided in Eureka in February, 1895. I was at Mrs. Hayes' house in Eureka between the 14th and 18th, and she said to me: "I want to get a horse. Mr. Hayes is at the ranch, and I am uneasy about him." I fix the date as between the 14th and 18th, because there was a Valentine dance on the 14th and my father died on the 18th.

Mrs. Hayes was recalled and asked if she had a conversation with Miss Ferguson a short time ago, "and in that conversation you said to her, 'Did you see Mr. Hayes here on February 17?' And she said, 'No.' And you said, 'Think over it, you will be paid for it. There will be lies sworn to on both sides?'"

Answer—No.

Miss Ferguson was called and asked the question if Mrs. Hayes had said to her as above. The answer was: "Yes, she did say, 'There will be lies told on both sides,' and she told me I would be paid for testifying."

Miss Ella Jacksonman was with Miss Ferguson at Mrs. Hayes' between the 14th and 18th, when Mrs. Hayes asked for a horse to go to the Point. This witness was subjected to a rigid cross-examination, but her testimony was not shaken. She said that Mrs. Hayes got her mother's horse to go to the Point, and the horse came back alone.

Mrs. Field testified to having had a conversation with Mrs. Hayes on the 15th of February, 1895, wherein Mrs. Hayes said she was getting ready to go to the Point. When it was mentioned that it was cold for her to travel, she said maybe Hayes would go.

Tom Fowler—I know where the Hayes ranch is. It would take about three or three and one-half hours to travel from Eureka to the Hayes ranch; unless the Hayes had it could be made in four hours easy.

John Hanson was recalled to show the time it would take to travel the distance.

Objected to by the defense, and a long argument on this point was made.

Overruled, and witness said it would take four hours going up and three and one-half hours coming down.

Prof. Holmstead testified—I knew Albert Hayes in his lifetime. I live near the Hayes ranch. Never had any difficulty with him.

Objected to and sustained.

Jackson McCrystal—Hayes got a piece of steel from me about the 25th of February or 1st of March.

ment. Sam A. King is plaintiff's attorney. The Nineteenth Century club met with Mrs. Coray yesterday afternoon. Miss Josephine Kellogg read a very interesting paper on "Germany During the Napoleonic Wars." She sketched the life of all the prominent men of that time. After roll call the members each responded with a quotation. The annual election was held and resulted: Miss Josephine Kellogg, president; Stella Brown, vice-president; Florence Pemberton, secretary; Mrs. Dudley, assistant secretary; Miss Rose Moore, treasurer, and Mrs. Reed, Mrs. Coray and Jennie French, executive committee. Mrs. Bartlett presided over the meeting. Mrs. Coray was going away. She was retained as honorary member. Adjourned to meet in one week at Mrs. Reed's.

Miss Carrie Sultan gave a card party on Tuesday evening to a few of her friends. Progressive high five was the amusement. Hiram Jensen carrying away the gentleman's prize, and Miss Stella Brown the lady's.

A telegram was received this morning by Sheriff Brown to the effect that a brakebeam tourist was run over and killed last evening by a City and Grand passenger train just this side of Thistle.

Park City Pickings. PARK CITY, March 23.—All our producing mines have been doing well during the past week notwithstanding the poor condition of the roads. Snow has been falling without interruption for the past twenty-four hours, making Main street and the roads leading to the mines a sea of mud.

The Daily mine is again having trouble with water on the 1,000 foot level of the old works. The track in the south drift is six inches under water, besides filling the sump and running over the station turntable.

Regular morning and evening services were held at the Methodist Episcopal church Sunday.

Services will be held Sunday morning and evening at the Congregational church.

High mass will be celebrated in the morning at the Roman Catholic church and benediction in the evening.

The Latter-day Saints church will hold regular services both morning and evening Sunday.

W. H. Gulliver, who has been confined to his home on account of lung troubles, was about the streets yesterday, somewhat improved.

Martin Prisk, Jr., who has been laid up with tonsillitis for a week is feeling much improved.

James P. Quinn, foreman of the Daily mine, returned yesterday from Coalville to attend the trial of the suit of A. Anderson against the Daily mine.

Brigham City Bits. BRIGHAM CITY, March 27.—The lively rains of Thursday night and today will be productive of much good to farmer and pomologist in this section. The ground had become quite dry and the rain was warmly welcomed by all. It will be of inestimable benefit to the fall grain.

This week, A. E. Barnes, a well known sheepman of Corinne, died at his home in that place from a fatal case of cholera. It seems a few weeks ago he accidentally got a small silver run into one of his fingers, penetrating the flesh to the bone. The slight wound grew sorer and daily became more painful and troublesome. Finally a felon started at the bottom of the wound; blood poisoning came on; it pervaded the whole system of the suffering patient and in time got such a foothold on his person that it finally killed him.

Barnes was about fifty years of age and leaves a wife and family in Corinne to mourn his untimely loss.

Thursday night a large number of Scandinavians gave a social at the company of the Grand Old Time in Brigham City. They are a jolly lot when they get together on these occasions and they make Rome fairly howl.

There is so much wind in the new Republic city council that they must have more time and room; so they have decided to meet three hours earlier in the day so that they may get through business by midnight.

Several surprise parties have taken place in Brigham City this week. Mrs. Neils Jensen got up a pleasant birthday party for her husband, the company being in commemoration of his thirty-sixth natal day. Then the Third ward people treated their bishop, A. A. Jensen, to a big surprise in honor of his seventieth birthday.

Some of Brigham's sheep shearers were caught in the wreck of the passenger train near Shoshone, Ida., this week, but fortunately none of them were injured. The boys got a fearful scare and do not care to participate in another smash-up of the kind.

The people are beginning to save up their spare dimes in anticipation of a visit to the mesa of the Mormons during the approaching conference. A goodly outpouring of the saints from this city and county is looked for.

Thousands of choice young fruit trees have been ordered by the people around here and will be set out as soon as the weather will permit, some having already commenced planting. But only a small part of the trees that will be planted has been received so far.

About May 1, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Snow of New York, expect to leave for Salt Lake, where they will spend the summer visiting Mrs. Snow's parents and other relatives. During Mr. Snow's absence, Neph Anderson, principal of the Fourth ward school, will see to blowing the Bugle.

William Tangart, a young man of Salt Lake, was in Brigham today, in the interests of a piano firm of the capital.

Mr. Taylor, publisher of the Broad Ax of Salt Lake, was in town this week. He says he is a Democrat to the backbone and don't you forget it.

Nothing definite can be learned in regard to the real worth of the "Consolidated" Mining company, whose mines are located on the mountain side four miles north of Brigham. But inquiries continue to pour in from the country where scores of people seem to have invested pretty heavily in the stock which has been floated in these parts for several years. A force of miners continue to pick away in the great tunnel, which is now said to be to a depth of about 1,000 feet. But strange to say, though the work has been pushed energetically forward for four or five years, the shipment of ore has not yet begun.

A great deal of trimming of shade trees is being done in Brigham this spring, but in a few cases, it is being carried to excess by cutting every limb off the trees, leaving only the trunks.

Considerable sand and other building materials are being collected on the tabernacle grounds in preparation for the bold reconstruction of that edifice. Salt Lake parties have made liberal contributions to the fund; the church proper has made a handsome present of funds and the remainder of the money necessary to complete the structure is being raised by an equitable assessment on the individual members of the various wards in the county. The largest sum asked of any one person is said to be $100.

It is reported that considerable vigor is being displayed in pushing forward some of the best claims in the Thistle mining district. Quite a large number of good prospects there will be worked this summer. Many assays of rock from that district run hundreds of dollars to the ton. There are also tens of thousands of tons of almost pure iron ore located in that vicinity. Some day a big iron plant will be erected there, or as great many people will be much mistaken.

Some of the old gardeners hereabouts claim they have made thorough investigation of their orchards this spring and do not find nearly so many signs of foliage and fruit worms as they did last year. Consequently they predict a larger and superior fruit crop for this section this coming season than for many years.

COL. A. J. CROSEY.

The funeral services over the remains of Colonel A. J. Crosey were held yesterday afternoon at the new West school house, Five Points. Both the local O. A. U. hosts were out in full force besides a large attendance of other friends. After the impressive services the remains were taken through the city out to the Mountain View cemetery. The march led to honor and for which he fought was draped over the coffin, and many a man paused as the cortege passed through town and to tell his neighbor of some kind act of generous A. J. Crosey.

THE PROPOSED SPUR.

As chronicled in The Herald a day or two ago a party of railroad officials went up the canyon with a number of representatives of the power plant interests. Although the gentlemen carried the impression—or tried to—that they were out simply on a social trip of pleasure, still a good many people have all along believed that the power house of the Pioneer Electric company will be located. Furthermore, The Herald has been given to understand that at a quiet meeting held a few days ago at the National Bank building, at which Mr. Bancroft and several of the other gentlemen were present, this proposed construction was discussed and the visit up the canyon was all for great things. That such a spur is necessary can be readily seen. The construction of the power house will call for great quantities of building material and a great deal of machinery, many tons in weight. Tons and tons of cement, piping and other material will soon be needed and a spur from the railroad seems almost indispensable.

The gentlemen seemed to be surprised at the magnitude of the power project, and impressed with its perfect feasibility. It is but a few weeks ago that the same gentlemen were talking of the absolute necessity of constructing the track. The Herald ventures a prediction that such a spur will be built and that it will not be long ere it is started.

Professor W. M. Stewart of the university of Utah, delivered an interesting lecture yesterday to a large assemblage of city teachers in the Central school building. His subject was a psychological one wherein he traced the evolution of the various mental powers in the child up to the adult in a clear, logical, interesting manner.

Elder Joseph Parry will lecture in the Third ward meeting house Tuesday evening, March 21, under the auspices of the fifty-third quorum of seventies. EPHRAIM ETCINGS.

EPHRAIM, Utah, March 23.—A sensation was created here in town last Tuesday by the failure of the Co-op., one of the mercantile establishments in the county. It was known to be in bad shape financially for some time, but no one thought that it would not be able to pull through. Most of its Utah creditors are in the mercantile class. The stock will probably pay all the creditors, but there will be nothing left for the stockholders.

Messrs. Heath and Paris of Salt Lake, who are interested in the Co-op. in the mining claims west of here, quit last week in our city. It is rumored that they intend to put in machinery to develop the claim, which is said to be very promising.

PRICES TAKE A TUMBLE.

EFFECT OF THE CUBAN DEBATE ON SPECULATION.

Unconfirmed Rumors That Two Leading Exchange Houses Are Figuring Upon Shipments of Gold by an Early Steamer This Week—Railroad Earnings in the Main Are Satisfactory.

NEW YORK, March 23.—The local stock market today moved more independently of English influence than for some time past, the round up short contracts by the bears being the principal motive for the dealings.

The stock market for the week has been of a professional day-to-day character with prices gravitating to a lower level.

A noteworthy fact, however, is the indisposition of owners of the leading shares to part with them. The speculation has been shaped chiefly by two factors of special importance, neither of which, however, are entirely new. The rapidly succeeding political complications in Europe and the interests in the Cuban deliberations at Washington have caused a steady dribble of foreign held American securities on this market.

Unconfirmed rumors at the close of business were that two leading exchange houses were figuring upon shipments of gold by the early steamer this week aggregating $2,500,000.

The general speculation lacked important features. The industrial market was quiet, and the railroad developments affecting the railroad list were of a routine character. Railroad earnings were in the main satisfactory. The most important change for the week is net gain of 4 1/2 cents in Tobacco. The aggregate sales were $98,316 shares.

Today's bond market was dull and firm, but otherwise featureless. The market was irregular, with an easy tendency. The net concessions in the speculative issues were light, but there were some material declines in some of the inactive mortgages.

Governmentals were easier today on sales of $55,000. The week's market was firm on dealings of $33,000.

Money on call easy at 3 per cent; last loan, 3 1/2 closed; Prime mercantile, 4 1/2; 5 per cent, Sterling exchange firm with actual business in bankers' bills at 4.8 1/2, 4.8 1/2 for demand, and 4.8 1/2, 4.8 1/2 for sixty days.
