Class day exercises at the New Jersey academy of this city were very interesting. Under the presidency of Miss Sarmon, the academy has flourished for two years past. Recitations, selections, essays, and a dramatic drill comprised the exercises, which were all given with credit, and were successful in every respect.

Mr. Loren Peterson returned a day or two ago from Salt Lake City. While in the capital town he had his bicycle stolen from the Main street in front of the Gladstone building. In a day or two he had the satisfaction of having his bike returned and the two parties who stole it in the clutches of the law with a twenty days' sentence each.

Three couples have got the court to sever the tie that had not bind. Connected with the case of an intestate's estate, Mary Kent was married four years ago, but has lived with her husband very little since the event. Last Monday she was granted a divorce, and the next Wednesday she married again, this time Amasa Callahan, from Park Valley.

The big suit before the court at present is the case of Jerry Becker vs. Erastus Carter and others. The litigation is over the water in the northwestern part of this county. This is one of the first cases of the kind in this county, and it is creating quite a stir. Thirty-six witnesses have thus far been examined.

The assessor is around smiling upon the citizens in the hopes of getting a large assessment roll. He seems very loath to tax the bed and blankets people sleep in and claims it an unjust law, as people—poor ones especially—should not have their little household effects taxed in any such a manner.

Our quarterly conference convenes at Coalville on Saturday and Sunday next, at which the manifesto will be presented for ratification or rejection. It will no doubt carry, as in other counties.

Some Encouragement. The proposed mid-summer carnival to be held in Salt Lake city is beginning to take definite shape. The enthusiasm displayed by many prominent citizens is evidence enough to warrant the belief that it will be a success. A three-day carnival is proposed, with a distinct feature for each day, giving for the first, for instance, the history and growth and progress of Utah from the '49 represented by floats. These with the floats supplied by the merchants and the militia, fire department, secret societies, and other organizations, would not only draw the people of Utah, but would fill the city with visitors from all the neighboring states and make a general attraction for tourists.—Ogden X Rays.

FORT STEELE SHEARING.

Six Thousand Head of Sheep Being Handled Each Day.

A hasty trip to Fort Steele Monday showed that little town to be full of business. Sixty sheep shearers were at work in the Cozzif Bros. pens at the old government building, which began on April 25th, and had been steadily at work since that date, and were hauling 6,000 sheep a day. Fresh carriages of wool had been shipped east by Monday noon, and an estimate showed that about 40,000 more sheep were to be sheared before the season closed.

The buildings made a sheltered corral for the sheep. The dip is kept at a constant temperature by steam pipes emptying into it, and a steam boiler runs the machinery, belts, pulleys, etc., necessary to take the wool from the sheep to the warehouse and the wool as fast as baled is loaded into the car and dispatched. The number of shearers some forty or fifty men are employed in the various departments, and the shearing is done on a large pay-roll is distributed weekly among the men.—Rawlins Journal.

ROASTS SEEMER.

Even the Silver Hammer is Disgusted With Him.

"At first Joseph Smith gathered about him the brightest minds of the day. Among his most brilliant followers were Oliver Cowdery and Sidney Rigdon. In the beginning they were content to assist Joseph in his labors, themselves remaining in the background; but after a while they grew jealous of the usurpation of the prophet and became the leaders of the church. The result was that they were dropped by the Mormon church, and went into ignominy. Just so it is at this time. Thatcher is an eminent speaker and a great thinker, a man of profound learning. He did much good so long as he was willing to submit to the will of those above him. But when he refused to do so, he lost the responsibility of dissenting from the minds of his co-laborers and superiors, and had been suspended from his position. In this there could be no cause for complaint. He is a man of political friends, but in it was contained a good lesson to all true Saints."

The above is a newspaper report of a portion of remarks made by President Seegmiller, down in Sevier county, Mo., at the recent conference, says the Rebxurg Silver Hammer. People holding high church positions, and who have been called upon to be leaders of the church, should carefully examine themselves, and be absolutely certain that no beam is in their own eye, before they call attention to the public's attention to the mote existing in the eyes of their brother. It is pretty generally understood that the counsel and advice coming from the church leaders to the people has been for them to drop all unfair and cowardly methods in their political campaigns, and to fight such battles upon political principles. It is said President Seegmiller has had to heed this advice in the past, and many of the people over whom he presides have severely criticized him for the unchristianlike manner in which he has carried out secret political maneuvering.

LEADERS OF THE PEOPLE

In the various stakes of Zion, should carefully examine themselves, and be absolutely certain that no beam is in their own eye, before they call attention to the public's attention to the mote existing in the eyes of their brother. EVEN NASTY CAMPAIGNS

Imagine a member of his own church, to lead to the above and to be against that the man who uttered the words never could have himself disobeyed the commandments of the church leaders in any manner, to have been guilty of a fault in the eyes of his leaders. President Seegmiller had no right to use the words quoted, and it looks very much as if he had. Thatcher is too weak through physical infirmities to defend himself, and that under these circumstances he would take advantage of the situation to make a little capital for himself by gaining favor in the eyes of the leaders of the church. Apostle Moses Thatcher is a very sick man, more than once in the recent past has the lines of his face within almost gone out, and it would.

HAVE BEEN MUCH GRANDER

and much braver had the report come up that the people of Sevier stake were fasting and praying for his restoration to health and strength, than for the charge to come as a position among the marks coming from the lips of their president. When the quorum of the apostles had down to the people a verdict against Moses Thatcher it will be a great triumph for the people to think about criticizing him. At present Brother Thatcher deserves, and is entitled to, the faith and earnest prayers of all who are worthy of being called Saints.

BEAUTY DIDN'T COUNT.

Experiences of a Girl Who Proposed to Revolutionary Journalism.

The beautiful young girl who had graduated only a year before with the highest honors, rushed into the family sitting room one day, her hair flying, and her eyes upon the sofa, says the Houston Post.

"That is it, my dear," asked her father, soothing her gently. "Has anything happened to discourage you?"

"No, no, no," she answered, raising her tear-stained face. "I am going to be a journalist forever. When you allowed me to purchase that weekly newspaper, I thought that I had a chance to do something so noble, so elevating and powerful to scatter good and wisdom throughout the world, and to do something that would be every thing appeared bright and rose-colored."

Editorials were praised by the entire Texas press, and I got flattering words of encouragement from even the most conservative of editors. I was so proud of the fact that, although a woman, I had been admitted as an equal member of the press brotherhood, that I was determined to influence upon the mind and morals of the people. Last week I wrote a gentle article on the subject of the 'woman's little weekly' in another county. This, papa—this is what I find in the next issue of the paper. The editor has not only buried my article in the back of the paper, but he has also written an editorial digout of the weekly paper, and has called it 'a piece of journalistic idiocy that emanates from the clapper-jawed, squirrel-headed, puddle-jug, snoring, snoring, snoring pipe of journalism headed get a pair of buckskin, kick-proof pants, or else quit writing for me, oh, so proud of the fact that I had been admitted as an equal member of the press brotherhood, that I was determined to influence upon the mind and morals of the people.
