

FOR MORNING SESSIONS

Members of the House Preparing For Hard Work.

THE HORTICULTURAL BILL IS DISCUSSED AT LENGTH BY THE REPRESENTATIVES.

Bill Amending the Statute of Limitations Killed—The Talk of an Extra Session Being Necessary to Finish Consideration of the Code—Hon. Moses Thatcher to Give a Reception.

The lower house spent the greater part of the afternoon in discussing committee reports and the horticultural bill. It also found time to kill Roylance's bill amending the statute of limitations, which, though the members were absent, came within one vote of a constitutional majority.

Commencing tomorrow, the house will meet at 9 a. m. The committee has been instructed to report by Tuesday, and by long sitting and close application to business it is believed the work of the session may be disposed of. Consideration of the public lands bill was postponed until Monday.

TO LIMIT SPEECHES. Sheppard offered a resolution limiting the time for speeches to five minutes, and by long sitting and close application to business it is believed the work of the session may be disposed of.

THORSON THOUGHT SUCH A MEASURE WOULD NOT BE PASSED. He said that he had no objection to the measure, but that he thought it would not be passed.

COMMITTEE REPORTS. The conference report on Senator Cannon's bill, providing for the compulsory education of deaf-mutes and blind children, was adopted, and the bill passed.

THE HOUSE YESTERDAY INSTRUCTED ITS COMMITTEES TO REPORT ALL BILLS IN THEIR HANDS ON OR BEFORE THURSDAY.

Among the visitors in the house yesterday were C. O. Card, president of the Mormon Relief Association, Northwest Territory, Kan., who was the guest of Representative Joseph Kimball; E. P. Wadsworth, president of the Northwest Territory, Kan.; and Hon. Moses Thatcher and Recorder D. Thomas, of Davis county.

THE RAILROAD BILL. The railroad committee recommended the rejection of the bill No. 28, by Forshaw, fixing maximum freight and passenger rates.

NEWS FROM NEARBY

Margaret Beck Brings Suit Against Frank Scott.

BOTH ARE WELL-KNOWN PLAINTIFF OF SPANISH FORK, DEFENDANT OF SPRINGVILLE.

Scott Has Vanished, and the Sheriff is Anxious to Learn of His Whereabouts—Plaintiff Would Have Agreed to a Marriage, But the Defendant Said Nay—Slugging Match at Provo—La Grippe in Wyoming—Diphtheria at Heber.

Provo, Feb. 27.—Another scandal has come to light by the filing of a complaint in Justice Booth's court against Frank Scott, who is well known and of good family, residing in Springville.

Scott is charged with the crime of fornication, and the girl in the case is Margaret Beck of Spanish Fork.

The complaint was made by Miss Beck, who, it is stated, would have agreed to a marriage, but the young man evidently thought she was not in his class, and refused to settle in that way, as his present status is on the lookout for Scott.

THE WATER CASE. John E. Booth, attorney for defendant in the big water case, attempted a knock-out blow this morning by moving the testimony which he had introduced by the plaintiff corporation.

Both argued that it was set up in the first place, and that there had been a trespass on the rights of the city by Provo Bench & Canal people by their taking more water than they were entitled to.

Judge De Moseley heard the case in the same light as the learned attorney, and arguments were proceeded with a happy result. The case will be reached on Monday morning.

A LA CARSON. For a long time Geo. Blumenthal of Provo and Ray Packard of Springville have been engaged in a slugging match, and it became so thick and black that last evening, they were both determined that some blood must be spilled.

They met on the streets, and in the excitement of the moment, they fell upon each other, and a slugging match followed. The referee appointed two referees to handle all of the business before it during the regular session.

UTAH CENTRAL RAILWAY

Foreclosure Suits Called Up Before Judge Hiles Yesterday.

INTERVENORS PROVING UP GLASSMANN'S NERVE PARALYZES THE COURT.

Sale of the Bank of Salt Lake Assets Approved, Objectors Withdrawing—Two Divorces Granted—Lehi Thomas and Harry Simmons Sent to the Reform School—New Suits Filed, Probate Business in the Federal Court—Central Trust Co's Answer in Union Pacific Foreclosure.

The four suits for foreclosure of mortgages and bonds on the Utah Central railway and the several branches composing the road, were called up before Judge Hiles yesterday afternoon. The suits, which were begun some three years ago and were the cause of the road going into the hands of receivers, are as follows:

Thomas Marshall, trustee for certain bondholders, vs. the branch of the road known as the Salt Lake & Fort Douglas railway, to recover $300,000 with interest from Jan. 1, 1885, the indebtedness being represented by 300 bonds of $1,000 each.

The Knickerbocker Trust company vs. Salt Lake & Eastern railway, to recover $1,300,000 with interest from July 1, 1885, to date, the indebtedness being represented by 1,300 bonds of $1,000 each.

The Central Trust company vs. the Utah Western Railway company, to recover $2,000,000 with interest from May 1, 1881, and payable in 1921.

RECEIVERS' CERTIFICATES. In addition to the four suits was the case of the receivers' certificates to the extent of $100,000.

In February, 1885, receivers having been appointed in the several suits brought by Marshall and the trust companies, the court made an order authorizing the receivers to issue receivers' certificates to the extent of $100,000 to operate the railroad lines and keep the same in repair and provide for the maintenance of the same.
