Memorial Day Services Last Evening.

THE DAY AND ITS LESSONS

PATRIOTIC SERMON BY REV. HENRY.

The Importance of the Day—Commemorates the Triumph of a Just Cause and the Cementing of the Republic—Some of the Dangers Threatening the Republic at the Present Time—A Tribute to the Grand Army of the Republic.

The Memorial Day services at the First M. E. church were concluded last evening. A large congregation was present and Pastor Henry preached an eloquent sermon on "Memorial Day and Its Lessons." The choir furnished special music both at the morning and evening services, a special feature of the latter being a solo by Mrs. Plummer.

Henry's sermon was substantially as follows:

We are on the eve of one of the most important anniversaries of the year. We are celebrating the triumph of a just cause and the cementing of the republic. Some of the dangers threatening the republic at the present time are:—The Grand Army of the Republic.

Why should we recall the past? In order that we may the better appreciate at what a cost war preserved to us our heritage received from our forefathers. In order to stimulate our gratitude for the sacrifices made in behalf of the preservation of the Union.

Our country still demands heroism from loyal, upright men. The heroism of the great past is no longer to be found in the arena of battle. The heroism of the present is to be found in the quietness of the home.

There is danger in the "spoils system" in politics, and in the dishonest methods of the present government. There is danger in the dictatorial power in public affairs, assumed by a handful of great capitalists.

The services we have performed today have done us all good, because the service was one of love—for the men who imperiled their lives to save the country, for freedom and nationality.

There are many present this evening who distinctly recall the excitements and emotions of those years when the call had come from Washington for volunteers and the whole north was turned into a "recruiting camp."
