Pratt Intends to Hold Over to Make His Case the Stronger. In the Event of a Fight He Believes Possession is Nine Points in the Law.

Devine Will Have Hard Sledding For the Fire Department—Two Other Applicants for the Position of Chief of Police—The Post Office.

The prevailing question which is now being asked in every circle of the city which has anything to do with the department, is, "Who is going to be chief of police?"

It will be remembered that during the municipal campaign The Herald constantly warned the voters that the election of Clark meant that he would in all probability appoint Arthur Pratt to that position, and that statement is going to be verified, if all reports be true.

The Tribune recognized the importance of Pratt as an issue in the campaign and sought to deceive the public. It interviewed the Citizens' candidate for mayor and obtained from him a statement to the effect that he had made no pledges which it published under the headlines, "Pratt will not be chief of police."

The statement in the caption was apparent at the time and was not borne out by the facts. However, it is the Herald's statement. But all that has passed, and the condition confronting the people right now is that he will be appointed.

During the past few days councilmen-elect have stated to reporters for The Herald that they have been approached by parties who are working in the interest of Mr. Pratt and have been asked, in the event of his appointment by the mayor, they would confirm him by voting in the affirmative.

That would seem to be conclusive evidence enough to warrant the statement without further comment. Doubtless an inquiry would elicit the information that as yet no promises had been made, or words to that effect.

It is gathered that Mr. Pratt does not anticipate having a condemnation campaign to win by pursuing tactics something after the following: At present he holds that he is chief of police and as such will hold until his successor is sworn in.

Pratt's success will have a great deal to do with the final disposition of the case of James Devine, the head of the fire department. If Pratt lands easily, James will have a short stay in jail, as a stubborn fight made on Pratt, then James will go down, to quote the language of George Swan, "like grass before the mower."

Pratt is a more astute politician than Devine. He will attain ends by smooth work that James accomplished by main strength and good luck.

There is anything like a struggle. Pratt will permit his own friends to work out his own salvation, and every one knows what that means, for behind Pratt is the Tribune, and if that deserts Jimmy, as it will of Arthur's case, the battle is over. Devine is more a man with a mission, seeking to reform the world as it pertains to labor matters.

There is another Richmond in the field for the position of chief of police in the person of William Phillips, who at one time was city marshal, and it is said he is making a very good fight for the place.

The entertainment for Thanksgiving day will be simply innumerable. For the most part, of course, they will be family gatherings, but in many cases friends will be invited to swell the circle.

HE TRIED TO SUICIDE

He Became Despondent Because of His Inability to Secure Employment. Took the Drug and Then Notified a Friend of His Act—Mrs. Douglas, McKenna and Witches Called in and Relieve Him.

Yesterday afternoon a man, whose name was given as Williams, made an unsuccessful attempt on his life by taking a dose of morphine.

It seems that he would not give him anything to do, but told him that he could have a room and board with them. From what happened it would seem that Williams is of a very sensitive nature.

He went out and procured some morphine and returned to his room. He determined to put an end to his life. He sent a messenger to a friend, telling him that he had taken morphine and after dispatching the boy took the drug.

He was evidently not a fatal dose, as the man was deathly sick and most of the morphine had been removed from his stomach.
