

LIVESTOCK MEN MAKE THREATS

Will Boycott Railroads That Oppose Their Interests.

RESOLUTIONS PASSED BY STATE CONVENTION

Declare "Feed in Transit" Privilege Must Be Continued.

Utah Livestock Association Appoints a Committee to Negotiate With the Railroads and the Members Will Ship Over No Line That Does Not Grant the Privilege—Officers Elected by the Association—John H. White President.

Some day the lion and the lamb may lie down together in peace, for sheep and cattlemen met yesterday in convention, and the fact that many of their interests conflicted was barely referred to and there was no clash whatever. There were very few sheepmen present, however, and, if the truth must be told, there were even fewer cattlemen; so the spirit of friendship that pervaded the assemblage may have been due in large part to a feeling of loneliness.

The Utah Livestock association has more than forty members, the majority of them large owners of all kinds of livestock—cattle, sheep and horses—but at 2 o'clock yesterday, the hour set for the beginning of the second annual convention, there was not a baker's dozen present in the G. A. R. hall. After a somewhat tedious delay, Vice President Jesse M. Smith of Layton called the meeting to order. In the absence of President George C. Whitmore of Nephi, Mr. Smith said that, owing to the absence of so many members, he thought it would be best, after transacting a little necessary business, to postpone the election of officers until a later date. He referred to the efforts that had been made to put the association upon a successful footing, and dwelt upon the necessity for such an organization, especially to drive out cattle thieves and establish a stock register and maintain the purity of Utah livestock. While he was talking, members were dropping in by ones and twos, and when he finished there were enough present to make an election of officers possible.

FRED IN TRANSIT FIGHT. Fred B. Johnson of the Denver Daily Stockman, and John H. White of Salt Lake both urged the necessity of the organization, and then the resolution dealing with the "feed in transit" problem, passed Thursday at the woolgrowers' convention, was introduced and passed with one change, offered by Mr. White.

The resolution, as passed by the woolgrowers, after protesting against the order of the railroad abolishing the "feed in transit" privilege after May 22, declares that "continued insistence on the part of said railroads to enforce such order will be regarded as an act of embezzlement on the part of such roads, and will be resented as such by this association to the best of our ability."

The amendment offered by Mr. White yesterday, and passed without debate, reads: "Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed, with power to act for the association, in making arrangements with the railroads for a continuance of present rates and privileges, it being understood that the members of this association will ship over no line that does not grant the feed in transit privilege."

Upon motion of Secretary J. C. Leary, the chair appointed Messrs. Henry Harker, O. P. Hatch and J. C. Leary a committee to select officers for the coming year, and during their ab-

OFFICERS ELECTED. Upon reassembling, the committee reported, recommending the election of the following officers: John H. White, president, Salt Lake; Jesse M. Smith, vice president, Layton;

M. K. Parsons, treasurer, Salt Lake; J. L. Heywood, secretary, Salt Lake. Members of executive committee: John H. White, Salt Lake; Jesse M. Smith, Layton; James Andrus, Sr., St. George; William Moss, Woods Cross; Aquila Nebeker, Laketown; W. S. Candland, Mt. Pleasant; Joseph L. Heywood, Salt Lake; James L. Wrathall, Grantsville; H. J. Faust, Salt Lake.

There was no opposition, and they were elected unanimously. The new president, who escorted to the chair but made no address, further than to pledge his best efforts to the interests of the association and impress upon those present the importance of its work.

J. D. Wood of Spencer, Ida., president of the Idaho Woolgrowers' association, then spoke briefly, urging that all members do their best to increase the membership of the organization, and suggesting several measures that he thought would be of benefit if acted upon.

Chairman W. S. Leary also spoke of the value of organization, and was supported by President White.

A motion was then carried that the executive committee issue an address to the cattle growers of Utah, and that J. C. Leary be empowered to prepare the same. The association then adjourned for one year.

Convention Notes. Among the visitors to the woolgrowers and livestock conventions is Charles F. Martin, the efficient secretary of the National Livestock association. Mr. Martin hails from Denver, and believes it, of course, the best city on earth, and the best cattle market in the world.

"One trade has increased 100 per cent within the last ten years, and is still growing," he said yesterday. Mr. Martin knows all the cattlemen in the country, and is known and liked by all of them as well. He is an enthusiastic worker for the Denver market, and has flooded Salt Lake with badges bearing the inscription, "Denver, the home market for Utah."

J. L. Harris, general agent of the Union Stockyards & Transit company of Chicago; M. B. Irwin, traffic manager of the South St. Joe Stockyards; and George W. Halentine, general manager of the Union Stockyards of Denver, were all in attendance upon yesterday's meeting of the Livestock association.

Feed B. Johnson, editor of the Daily Stockman of Denver, is a believer in newspapers. "For your Salt Lake papers to reach stockmen," he said yesterday in the convention, "and you will reach them; otherwise you won't," and everybody agreed with him.

J. D. Wood, president of the Idaho Woolgrowers' association, is the largest individual owner of sheep in the world. This year he will ship nearly 25,000 ewes.

Charles F. Martin of Denver said yesterday that there was a great future for Utah lambing. "Some of the big lamb feeders held a meeting at Fort Collins a few weeks ago," he said, "and decided that hereafter they would buy the bulk of their lambs for feeding from Utah, instead of New Mexico, as heretofore. This means a good deal, as they feed nearly half a million a year. This only emphasizes that Denver is the 'home market'."

PETITION IN BANKRUPTCY. Morris Levy Seeks Relief From the Federal Court. Morris Levy, manager of a saloon on State street and formerly in the grocery business on the same thoroughfare, filed a petition in bankruptcy in the United States court yesterday, covering indebtedness incurred in the former business. His liabilities are stated as $10,154.54 and assets $75, the value of his wearing apparel, for which he claims exemption.

CITY SHORT ON BEDS

Visitors Obligated to Hang Themselves on Hooks.

HOTELS ARE JAM FULL

BIGGEST CROWD SALT LAKE HAS RECENTLY SEEN.

Conference Visitors and Stockmen Overtax the Capacity of Hotels and Lodging Houses—Weary Stranger Applies to The Herald For a Bed—Some of the Visitors.

It is verging on toward midnight, and it has been a hard day. "Ting-a-ling-a-ling," goes the telephone for the 4144th time. The city editor picks up the receiver. "Well," he says, wearily, "Say, is this The Herald?" comes over the wire.

"Yes." "Well, say, I'm in a fix." "How do you want?" "I want to talk to The Herald." "Well, go ahead, then." "Will you direct me to a place where I can find a bed. I've hunted this whole blamed town over and every hotel is filled full. Can a man get a clothes-hook or the soft side of a pine board to sleep on anywhere you know of?"

He was informed that The Herald had no beds, as it never slept. The foregoing is the hard, unvarnished truth, for every hotel in the city was filled to its entire capacity last evening by reason of the rush of conference visitors and delegates to the stockmen's convention. Several thousand strangers are in the city, more than have been here at any one time since the Jubilee rush nearly two years ago. It is estimated that the present condition of the hotels will last until Monday at least, and arrivals in the city in the next two days will have a hard time to find accommodations.

Some of the Visitors. S. R. Thurman is in the city from Provo. Senator Abel John Evans of Lehi is in the city.

L. E. Eldredge is a Coaville arrival at the Cullen. Representative R. G. Miller is in the city from Price. W. D. Livingston, the Mantel attorney, is in the city.

R. H. Jones, the Brigham City lawyer, is a Kenyon guest. Henry Shields arrived at the Cullen yesterday from the Park. E. R. Snow, a prominent business man of St. George, is in the city.

John Scowcroft, the Ogden merchant, is stopping at the Knutsford. Representative James W. Crosby of Panguitch is in town during conference.

Senator L. W. Shurtliff came down from Ogden yesterday to attend conference. Walter Scott came down from Park City yesterday and registered at the Kenyon.

E. M. Bybee and A. H. Boomer, two Idaho Falls stockmen, are stopping at the Cullen. Miss Fannie Hammond is down from Ogden and visiting with Mrs. Mabel Sears, on Fourth street.

Leutenant Governor C. J. Bassett of Blackfoot, Ida., is a late arrival at the Kenyon from the north. J. M. Berry and wife, George A. Berry and wife, James S. Stapely and wife, are guests at the Walker from Kanarrva, Iron county.

Soren K. Christensen, Sappete's Democratic county chairman, came up from Mount Pleasant yesterday and is registered at the Cullen.

SALT LAKE'S DUST. No Relief Until the New Sprinkling Carts Arrive.

Right vigorously did the merchants and conference visitors complain yesterday of the very dusty condition of the streets, especially in the business district. At Street Supervisor Seddon's street, between First and Second streets, it was stated that but two watered carts were in use, and only rain or the arrival of the new carts from Studebaker's factory in a couple of weeks would afford the desired relief. Both Heath and Gray, the contractors, have carts, but they plead that they need repairing before going into service, and in other ways they do not seem anxious, it was reported, to hire out their sprinklers to the city for only a few days.

BIG REALTY SALE. Utah Implement Company Buys $21,131 Worth of Ground.

A warranty deed from the Grand Hotel company, formerly the Fernamor Little estate, conveying to the Utah Implement company five by ten rods of ground on the east side of State street, between First and Second streets, was released from escrow yesterday and filed for record in the office of the county recorder. The consideration expressed in the deed is $21,131.

UTAH MEN ARE FIGHTERS. When They Fire the "Niggers" Hunt For Their Holes.

Edward W. Bowen, one of the Montana volunteers, in writing from Manila to a Salt Lake friend, pays the following tribute to the Utah batteries: "The Montana regiment is on the right of the First Battery, and I tell you the Utah boys are a brave lot of men. When they start to fire, the niggers hunt for their holes and they are beyond comparison with other western lines for speed, safety and comfort. Ticket office, 'Old Stand,' 201 Main street."
