

WILL REMAIN NEUTRAL

Germany to Take No Part in the Transvaal Affair.

BITTER AGAINST ENGLAND

BUT WILL REFUSE TO ASSIST THE BOERS.

Mixed Up in the T. able of 1896 and Get the Worst of It. So Will Profit by the Experience—Would Willingly Interfere if She Dared, But Fears Complications.

(Copyright, 1896, by the Associated Press.) Berlin, Oct. 14.—A high German official, whose utterances may be taken as absolutely conclusive, said to a representative of the Associated Press today: "We shall observe the strictest neutrality, no matter what may develop in the war between the Boer republic and Great Britain. That is the only course left open, conditions are so complicated in South Africa and our relations with both sides are so delicate that to abandon neutrality by so much as a hair's breadth, necessarily would lead to new and unforeseen complications."

"We mean to adhere to neutrality toward both parties. What else can we do? Other powers spoken of as likely to interfere have also concluded to keep quiet. The only conditions are so complicated in South Africa and our relations with both sides are so delicate that to abandon neutrality by so much as a hair's breadth, necessarily would lead to new and unforeseen complications."

Were Taught a Lesson.

"It is true our entire press calls upon the government to interpose between the Boer and British republics. A powerful effort England is being made to the nations of the continent. But it would be foolish to listen to this alien song. On one occasion when we blew the alarm horn—I refer to Emperor William's telegram to President Roosevelt in 1895—and tried to assemble the powers with a view of opposing Great Britain in her selfish and rude aggression, we had a bad experience. The lesson was not lost upon us."

"Of course, all the other powers would like it only too well if Germany would oppose England seriously in this matter, but we doubtless would again be left to our unaided selves. Therefore, we are going to avoid intervention and to remain strictly neutral in the company struggle. Our intention has been communicated fully to the Transvaal and to England. England would not have gone on as she has if she had not thoroughly understood this. We do not understand me to mean that Germany would not participate in some way, and am looking toward her with interest, but she has no idea of again taking the initiative."

England Is Condemned.

This authoritative declaration tallies with one made by the inspired Berliner Post, in which the policy of neutrality is likewise advanced. However, aside from the government press, every paper and every person, high or low, condemn England's course and also severely blame the government for its inactivity. The Deutsche Tages Zeitung says: "It is unnecessary to say that our best wishes accompany the Boers, who will fight not only in behalf of their own existence, but in behalf of Germany's position in South Africa, which will be lost if the British win. If, on the other hand, the Boers win, Great Britain will lose not only South Africa, but the policy of neutrality, her powerful position in the world."

The Kreuz Zeitung and the Hamburger Nachrichten use similar arguments. The Deutsche Zeitung, referring to the ultimatum, says: "The wrongs inflicted by Great Britain on the Transvaal are mountain high, and the policy of neutrality by the ultimatum upon every person is irrevocable."

"Colossal and Brutal."

The Lokal Anseher calls England's procedure "colossal and brutal" and charges Mr. Chamberlain with a "dishonest financial operation that make war necessary."

The Frankfurter Zeitung says: "The fact that Great Britain is not to be hindered by other powers is due to Germany's friendly neutrality, but England will hardly be grateful for this after the war is over."

The Cologne Gazette says: "We hope the Boers will not meet with the fate of Spain and lose their lives."

The Amberg Correspondent says: "The other powers must wish to see the Boer republic long as it is a fight with the Boers as that will leave the way free elsewhere for them."

The fact that President Kruger did not receive the British ultimatum this year from Emperor William is commented upon regretfully by a number of papers. There are, moreover, other evidences of sympathy with the Boers. Subscription lists are being circulated on the bourse to raise money for the equipment of ambulance wagons, and a Transvaal central committee is forming to collect funds for the same purpose.

The Saman Question.

The papers have many articles regarding the Saman question referring to the statement as to a partition. A leading office official referring to the matter said to a representative of the Associated Press: "All these statements are more guess work and without foundation in fact. The powers are negotiating with a view of obtaining the long as they are in little likelihood of any further trouble between them, as a settlement will probably be reached satisfactory to all concerned. So far as the Saman question goes, an agreement has already been reached between Germany and Great Britain, and the United States are not opposed on principle to the same idea of settlement."

On the same authority the Associated Press learns that a strong wish is felt at St. Petersburg that the principal representatives of the powers participating in the peace conference at The Hague which are willing to sign the agreements reached there should proceed to the capital of the Netherlands, and affix their formal signatures in that city. Italy and Austria have already done so, and Germany will soon join them, after the removal of certain formal obstacles. United States Ambassador White says he is still awaiting instructions from Washington regarding the matter.

Ben Harrison's Visit.

The visit of General and Mrs. Harrison has created an excellent impression, the newspapers commenting pleasantly and in a tone of hearty hospitality. The Lokal Anseher says: "General Harrison will take home a favorable impression of Germany and Emperor William. Let us hope he will utilize his visit for the purpose of improving the relations between the two countries. With his influence and the esteem in which he is held it ought not to be difficult for him to destroy many erroneous opinions held by his countrymen regarding Germany."

To a fellow guest at the court fete on Monday in honor of Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands, General Harrison said: "Emperor William is most agreeable in conversation and surprisingly well informed regarding men and things in the United States. He spoke at length and with the greatest interest of the United States navy and expressed his admiration of the patriotism and fair-mindedness of the American public men and of the action of congress in so quickly and at such a sacrifice creating so powerful and so efficient a navy."

High Regard For Our Navy.

The emperor said that after a thorough study of the naval operations during the war between the United States and Spain, he had formed the highest opinion of the business-like efficiency of the officers and men of the American navy, remarking that it was a splendid feature of American character to fairly worship the nation's heroes."

"His majesty spoke in English and put many off-hand questions as to men and matters. The emperor also showed his greatest interest in Lord, Earl, and of the action of congress in so quickly and at such a sacrifice creating so powerful and so efficient a navy."

The visit of the Dutch monarch has puzzled the entire press. The fact that the German minister of foreign affairs, Count von Bülow, hurried back from his vacation and had several long private conversations with him, was frequently receiving one of the highest Dutch decorations, giving rise to supposition that he was about to do something to do.

To Abolish Lese Majestie.

The socialist convention in Hanover has resolved to move in the Reichstag next month for the abolition of the lèse majesté paragraph of the German law. The socialist members of the Reichstag have collected striking material in support of the motion.

The Prussian government has authorized a lottery which it is expected will produce 1,500,000 marks to be applied in embellishing the Siebenbrunn, a range of mountains skirting the Rhine from Bonn to Coblenz. Three thousand tickets will be offered, of which 15,000 draw prizes, the highest being 125,000 marks.

The Berlin police have just been hauled over the coals for failing to discover the perpetrators of a number of sensational murders, seven of which have been committed during the present year. The charge against the force is too much old-fashioned and favoritism. The Associated Press understands that Baron von Windheim, chief of the Berlin police, will soon start on a circular tour of London, New York and Chicago to study their detective systems.

A case that has been pending in Bavaria for 200 years has just been decided in the highest court at Munich. The question under litigation was not have gone on as she has if she had not thoroughly understood this. We do not understand me to mean that Germany would not participate in some way, and am looking toward her with interest, but she has no idea of again taking the initiative."

Fought a Duel.

A duel was fought this week at Stetin between Lieutenant von Forst of the Thirty-eighth artillery and Captain Adelbert Mont of Chile, who had permission from the Kaiser to study the military tactics with the Thirty-eighth regiment. Lieutenant von Forst was mortally wounded in the neck, and the Chilean officer has been expected to return home.

The naval budget has been completed. It calls for 62,500 marks for vessels in process of construction. The list shows that thirty-seven vessels are now being built, of which eight are battleships and eight cruisers, the others being torpedo boats.

The Prussian minister of the interior is now considering the question of insurance against storms, lightning and other forces of nature. He has requested the principal companies to report regarding the feasibility of the project.

Emperor William today visited the colonial museum, which is under the management of German-Americans. A number of German writers are taking steps to establish iron and steel works. One establishment is now being erected near Berlin by the Niles Tool Works company of Hamilton, O. Another company is starting a machine shop at Düsseldorf.

The Commercial Relations.

Several pamphlets have appeared this week regarding the unsatisfactory commercial relations between Germany and the United States. One by Paul Raabe is approvingly commented upon in the Frankfurter Zeitung. Another by Walther Borgius, much more radical in tone, is widely quoted. Both condemn the alleged vexatious manner in which the tariff is being applied in the United States to German goods. The Cologne Gazette and other influential papers affirm the truth of the principal statements of the writers and urge the government to hasten steps to mend matters.

The agrarian papers publish a series of strong articles, claiming that the government should protect and promote the fruit interests of the empire by keeping out all foreign fruits, especially American fruit.

SCARLET FEVER STILL SPREADS

REPORT SHOWS TWENTY-SEVEN CASES FOR OCTOBER.

At This Rate the Total For the Month Will Go Far Ahead of All Previous Records.

The report of the board of health for the week that ended yesterday does not show any diminution in the number of scarlet fever cases. There are twenty-four flags outstanding, covering twenty-seven cases of the disease. The rate the month of October promises to far surpass all previous records for prevalence of this malady.

Twenty-nine births were reported, of which eleven were males and eighteen females. There were fourteen deaths, eight being males and six females. Four bodies were brought in from outside points for interment and eight cases of typhoid fever were reported. So far as known by the department there is one case of diphtheria and one of whooping cough within the city.

COURTMARTIAL CALL

Sergeant Blundell to Be Tried On Tuesday.

DETAIL OF THE COURT

COMPANY B, NATIONAL GUARD, INVOLVED.

Offense Alleged Relates to Blundell's Unruly Conduct at Drill Three Weeks Ago, When He Assaulted Sergeant Knudsen With a Bayonet—Drill Order.

Clothed in dignity and full regimental dress, a general court-martial of the national guard of Utah will convene at the armory at noon next Tuesday to try Sergeant Samuel Blundell of company B upon charges of a serious nature. Orders for the holding of the court-martial were issued yesterday by Adjutant General Burton. The detail of the court is Colonel N. W. Clayton, Lieutenant Colonel J. F. Critchlow, Major R. J. Glendinning, Captain E. G. Hogron and Lieutenant L. E. Gilbert. Lieutenant Colonel D. H. Wells will act as judge advocate of the court.

The charges against Sergeant Blundell relate to the assault he made upon Sergeant George Knudsen during a battalion drill at the armory on Monday evening, Sept. 25. The allegations are that Captain O. H. Hassig of company B ordered Blundell to leave the ranks for a slight infraction of the army regulations, but the sergeant refused to obey. Captain Hassig then commanded Sergeant Knudsen to arrest the unruly guardsman, and he, with two privates, approached him to execute the order. Blundell coupled resistance with defiant and disrespectful language and wrested the bayonet from his intended captors. With one of the arms Blundell struck Sergeant Knudsen a terrific blow on the head, laying open the scalp. Blundell made his escape, but was apprehended the next day.

The punishment for Blundell's offenses is very severe, and he will be fortunate if he is not convicted and sentenced to a term of imprisonment. The court-martial gets underway with his case. In addition to dishonorable discharge from the guard, the accused is liable to a fine of $50.

Special Order For Drill.

Adjutant General Burton yesterday issued a special order requiring all members of company A, First Infantry, N. G. U., to attend drill at the armory tomorrow night. The order also requires each member to bring his entire equipment, as on account of a change in the personnel of the commissioned officers of the company, it is necessary to take a complete inventory of company property. The absence of any member without being excused will be regarded as a breach of discipline, for which the offender will be held responsible.

NATIONAL GUARD NOTES.

Company drill by companies A and B was held last Monday evening, and the attendance was fully up to the average.

The hospital corps was drilled last Monday by Stewart Knox Rodell, with all members present.

Private Thomas Christensen of company C has been promoted a corporal, vice Allen Burt, discharged.

Company B has gained two members by enlistment, being Arthur Carlson and Charles C. Smith.

Private Frank C. Shaw of company B has tendered his resignation as a member of that company.

David Everett, formerly of the signal corps, has again made application for re-enlistment in the same organization.

First Sergeant Frederick G. Dust of company A has applied for a transfer to the signal corps.

Sergeant Harry J. Plumbhoff has been appointed first sergeant in the signal corps, vice Sergeant Henry Moilnrell, relieved.

As yet no reports of target practice have been forwarded by the various organizations in the city, and Lieutenant Colonel J. D. Ford is getting out an order for the purpose of having all reports in by the 20th of this month.

Captain Levi S. Haywood and First Lieutenant W. H. Riley of company E, at Bountiful, were in the city yesterday on business connected with their company.

Company C was unable to hold drill last Tuesday night on account of the heavy rain at the armory, but the evening was taken up with general instructions to the enlisted men by Captain Mark Y. Cannon.

Quartermaster Sergeant Frederick W. Burkhardt of company C has been relieved from that position, not having the necessary time to devote to his duties, and Private George Pool has been appointed in his stead.

Private Joseph G. Russell, company A, is able to be out and around once more, having been confined to his bed with measles.

The election for company A has been postponed one week, on account of a report that Lieutenant L. W. Smeltzer was going to resign, and to give the company time to choose competent men for their officers.

The hospital corps is about to organize another litter squad, and four more good men are wanted.

The officers of the guard will meet tomorrow night to complete the organization of their association. The meeting will be held in the signal corps quarters.

Corporal Harry Sullivan of C company has applied for the position of drummer in his company.

Private Charles Watts of company A left last night for Omaha, Neb., on a month's leave of absence.

The signal corps held its usual Thursday night drill, but with only a fair attendance, as several of the members were excused on account of working late.

WANTED POWELL HELD.

George Penrose Asks For Protection From Assault.

George Penrose visited the county attorney's office yesterday and asked that Charles Powell be bound over to keep the peace. Penrose had an altercation with Powell Friday night, in which Powell struck him in the face. He swore out a warrant against his assailant and the latter was convicted of battery in Judge Timmony's court yesterday afternoon.

No Claimant For Little Land Left By Abraham Jenkins.

B. Rees, who lives in the county south of Calder's park, visited the joint building yesterday in the hope of being able to purchase a piece of property left by Abraham Jenkins. Jenkins was an 82-year-old veteran of the civil war. He was found dead in his shanty, which was located on a half-acre of ground he owned near the Rees place.

He was buried at the expense of the county, and so far as known he left no heirs or friends. No administrator for his estate was ever appointed, and there seems to be no one with authority to sell the bit of land he formerly owned. The county records show that the property was assessed at but $60, and the taxes, which are now due, amount to 80 cents.
