

ELKS HOLD CARNIVAL

High Jinks at Social Session Last Night.

FRED WARDE PRESIDES

ACTOR MADE AN IDEAL CHAIRMAN.

Fun and Frivolity Ran Riot at the B. P. O. E. Hall For Several Hours—Everybody Had to Sing a Song or Make a Speech and the Results Were Most Laidorous.

A big herd of Elks gathered last night at Elk hall, and with Frederik Warde, the tragedian, as leader, it made a big hole in the wee sma' hours of the morning with its varied and eccentric antics.

Mulvey's Shadow Didn't Grow Less.

85 of Salt Lake with expectation and anticipation of the jolliest kind of a time. There were all the requisites for a good time; there were good fellows in abundance who were at their best; there was a champagne punch of Joe Enzensperger brew, which tasted like honey drops distilled, and created a thirst for more.

"Be Calm and Grow a Little," Said Mr. Wade.

hours. With Warde, so brimful of wit that he bubbles over with it, there was little more to be desired.

Many Guests Present.

Man, visitors had been invited to partake of the hospitality, and the fun provided by the Elks. There were almost as many visitors as members of the order. It was a representative gathering with a Jewish Rabbi on the one end and an Episcopal minister on the other.

TOM PAINTER ENJOYS ONE OF WARDE'S SALES.

the meeting over to E. D. R. Thompson as temporary chairman. Mr. Thompson said that he intended to make a speech, in fact, he had it written out, but he concluded that he would not deliver it. Then he introduced Mr.

Joe Enzensperger Extends the "Big Mit."

Warde as permanent chairman, who responded in one of his happiest and neatest addresses.

He congratulated the Elks on their wonderful success in building up such a strong lodge in so short a time. From forty-six members less than one year ago it had grown to a membership of 239, which, he said, was unprecedented in the history of Elk lodges.

Then he told of the grand lodge meeting at St. Louis last year, when the streets were thronged with hundreds of Elks from every part of the country, and the whole of St. Louis was thrown open to them.

Long and Short of It.

"They are the long and the short of it, the breadth and the length," he continued. "Why, as they drove past in a panopied carriage, with a liveried footman, I heard a lady ask, 'Is that the kind of Elks they grow in the west?'"

Sheriff Jack Ward of Uinta County, Wyo.

On Mr. Warde went, telling many funny stories and cracking many jokes as the audience roared and applauded. He suggested that the grand lodge meeting for 1902 be held in the west, and that Denver be chosen as a compromise point, where there was much applause.

"What's the matter with Salt Lake?" someone called out.

"Nothing," replied the speaker, "but be calm and grow a little yet." The remainder of the entertainment was a roaring, laughing farce that was funnier than the performance of any theatrical company that has ever come to Salt Lake. Its feature was the German singing class, with Otto Stahlman as teacher. Had the teacher been born a comedian he could not have created more fun than came from his impromptu efforts. There followed some serious and humorous remarks by Rev. Daunt Scott, then a recitation by Ted Goodwin. A. J. Van Kray, local treasurer of the Oregon Short Line, a very reserved and dignified gentleman, was required to sing a song.

Whitmore Had to Speak.

Dick Whitmore, the newly made councilman from the Second ward, found that he was down on the programme for a speech. Lester Freed and Ted Goodwin showed experience and training in the cake walk which they did. George Osmond made a speech entitled the "Elks in Their New Home," and W. J. Hills of Evanston, one of the nine recently initiated Elks, was called on for a speech.

Herr Professor Stahlmann.

There were in addition to this programme and interspersed with it many other features as laughable as anything seen on a stage. Through it all ran the witticisms of the chairman, Mr. Warde. The fun continued till the early hours of the morning, till the chick-a-dees came out to chirp and the rays of the sun began to rise over the whitened Wasatch range.

IDAHO HAS SMALLPOX SCARE

DISEASE BREAKS OUT IN SEVERAL SMALL CITIES.

Public Schools Closed at Weiser and Hailey—Farmers Establish Vigorous Quarantine.

(Special to The Herald.)

Boise, Ida., Feb. 10.—Fear of smallpox has thrown a portion of Idaho into hysterics. The disease has put in an appearance almost simultaneously at many places, and general alarm is felt. In Weiser and Hailey the public schools have been closed and other towns are talking about invoking the quarantine laws against those places. At Soldier, near Hailey, the town is surrounded day and night by a cordon of armed farmers, but the authorities are preparing to come in from the outside.

The disease is in mild form everywhere it has appeared, but the people are in a dangerous frame of mind and the fear is expressed that quarantining measures will become so rigorous as to interfere generally with business. No cases of the disease have appeared in Boise, but the authorities are preparing for it, should it come. The council has purchased a farm on top of a high mountain near the city. There a pest house has been built.

TAYLOR REJECTS AGREEMENT

(Continued from Page 1.)

newspaper men who stood in the hall: "I don't sign," "I don't sign," "I don't sign."

Issues a Proclamation.

From the capitol he passed to the legislative building, where he at once made up and signed the following proclamation convening the legislature at Frankfort:

"Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 10, 1900.

"The excitement recently prevailing in this city having to some extent subsided, and there appearing now to be no necessity for the general assembly to remain in session in London, I do hereby by this proclamation reconvene the same in Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 12, 1900, at 12 o'clock noon.

(Signed) "W. S. TAYLOR,"

"Governor of Kentucky."

Orders were at once issued to General Collier prepare for the departure of the troops, and in a very short time a large number of them were ready to leave.

Six companies left tonight, and only a small detachment will remain by Monday morning. These will be retained only as a peace guard and will in no way be obtruded on the presence of the legislature.

Word was at once sent to the member of the legislature now in session that the governor had a prompt reply to the effect that the bill should be left on a body on Sunday in Frankfort Monday in afternoon.

He had left the hall a resolution conveying the sense of the meeting, which was adopted, as follows:

"Resolved, That it is the sense of this meeting that Governor Taylor should not sign the agreement referred to him by the Louisville conference, and that, reposing confidence in his ability and sense of duty, we are content to follow his leadership after that result."

After the adjournment of the meeting it was the opinion of the Republicans that the gubernatorial contest was practically over. They understood the action of today to mean, that it was intended to mean, that the matter should now be fought out before the courts and the issue there reached to be accepted as final. There was no intention of asking that a new vote should be taken on the Goebel-Taylor contest, but Governor Taylor stated to several prominent Republicans that he would ask that former action be ratified by a vote of both houses, taken without passion.

When informed of the action of the Democratic legislature, Louisville is refusing to come to Frankfort, Governor Taylor said:

"Says Democrats Are Inconsistent. 'It strikes me that their attitude is somewhat inconsistent. They claim they cannot be protected at Frankfort, and there is nobody here to molest them. They objected to the presence of troops at a time when there was far greater excitement and danger than now. After things have quieted down they refuse to return to the city, they say, they cannot be guaranteed protection.'"

The action of Governor Taylor today regarding the gubernatorial fight to the exact position it was in the day following the Goebel assassination, with the additional complication that there was but one legislature and one body of troops to return to the city, now two claimants for the position and two separate bodies, each claiming to be the law-making power of Kentucky.

"The foregoing statement was made by Admiral Dewey in the most emphatic tone. This declaration was brought forth in a discussion concerning the repeated assertions that Admiral Dewey, while in the Philippines, consulted with Aguinaldo and told him that the United States government would recognize the independence of the Philippines."

The statement was elicited principally by an article bearing upon this subject which was sent in to the Tribune for publication. The article was shown to the admiral in his apartment at the Waldorf-Astoria. The admiral read the article carefully. The article contains a letter signed by Howard W. Bray, who is alleged to have acted as interpreter between Aguinaldo and Consul General Pratt and Admiral Dewey.

Mr. Bray asserts that Aguinaldo had an interview with United States Consul General Pratt at Singapore on April 23, 1898; that the conditions of Aguinaldo's policy were clearly stated; that these were submitted to Dewey, and that the latter cabled with all haste to Hongkong, and that Dewey brought back Aguinaldo's Luzon and promise of independence. When Admiral Dewey had read the article he said, impressively:

"Strike Down the Lie. 'I have some reports, documents and statements before me which I intend, upon my return to Washington, to submit to the senate committee on foreign relations. It is better, however, to strike this lie as it arises, and I will answer the charge as it comes. I never saw this man Bray. I never knew him. I never heard of him except as a disreputable adventurer in the pay of the Philippine junta. So far as this story concerns me there is not a word of truth in it.'"

Admiral Dewey then took up a report which he had before him. It was typewritten and destined to go to the senate. It was made by Lieutenant R. P. Hall, chief engineer of the Petrel. It was a voluminous document, and set forth in detail all negotiations which Captain Wood, at that time in command of the Petrel, and who acted as Admiral Dewey's representative, had with the Philippine junta in Hongkong. Lieutenant Hall set forth how the Filipinos, through a banker named Levy, asked for an interview with a representative of Admiral Dewey. The interview was arranged, and Lieutenant Hall kept the appointment. In his report he tells in detail of the meeting, who attended it and what was said.

When Aguinaldo was asked, so Lieutenant Hall, who is now at the Brooklyn, chief engineer of the Petrel, it was a voluminous document, and set forth in detail all negotiations which Captain Wood, at that time in command of the Petrel, and who acted as Admiral Dewey's representative, had with the Philippine junta in Hongkong.

Lieutenant Hall set forth how the Filipinos, through a banker named Levy, asked for an interview with a representative of Admiral Dewey. The interview was arranged, and Lieutenant Hall kept the appointment. In his report he tells in detail of the meeting, who attended it and what was said.

When Aguinaldo was asked, so Lieutenant Hall, who is now at the Brooklyn, chief engineer of the Petrel, it was a voluminous document, and set forth in detail all negotiations which Captain Wood, at that time in command of the Petrel, and who acted as Admiral Dewey's representative, had with the Philippine junta in Hongkong.

Lieutenant Hall set forth how the Filipinos, through a banker named Levy, asked for an interview with a representative of Admiral Dewey. The interview was arranged, and Lieutenant Hall kept the appointment. In his report he tells in detail of the meeting, who attended it and what was said.

When Aguinaldo was asked, so Lieutenant Hall, who is now at the Brooklyn, chief engineer of the Petrel, it was a voluminous document, and set forth in detail all negotiations which Captain Wood, at that time in command of the Petrel, and who acted as Admiral Dewey's representative, had with the Philippine junta in Hongkong.

Lieutenant Hall set forth how the Filipinos, through a banker named Levy, asked for an interview with a representative of Admiral Dewey. The interview was arranged, and Lieutenant Hall kept the appointment. In his report he tells in detail of the meeting, who attended it and what was said.

When Aguinaldo was asked, so Lieutenant Hall, who is now at the Brooklyn, chief engineer of the Petrel, it was a voluminous document, and set forth in detail all negotiations which Captain Wood, at that time in command of the Petrel, and who acted as Admiral Dewey's representative, had with the Philippine junta in Hongkong.

Lieutenant Hall set forth how the Filipinos, through a banker named Levy, asked for an interview with a representative of Admiral Dewey. The interview was arranged, and Lieutenant Hall kept the appointment. In his report he tells in detail of the meeting, who attended it and what was said.

When Aguinaldo was asked, so Lieutenant Hall, who is now at the Brooklyn, chief engineer of the Petrel, it was a voluminous document, and set forth in detail all negotiations which Captain Wood, at that time in command of the Petrel, and who acted as Admiral Dewey's representative, had with the Philippine junta in Hongkong.

Lieutenant Hall set forth how the Filipinos, through a banker named Levy, asked for an interview with a representative of Admiral Dewey. The interview was arranged, and Lieutenant Hall kept the appointment. In his report he tells in detail of the meeting, who attended it and what was said.

When Aguinaldo was asked, so Lieutenant Hall, who is now at the Brooklyn, chief engineer of the Petrel, it was a voluminous document, and set forth in detail all negotiations which Captain Wood, at that time in command of the Petrel, and who acted as Admiral Dewey's representative, had with the Philippine junta in Hongkong.

Lieutenant Hall set forth how the Filipinos, through a banker named Levy, asked for an interview with a representative of Admiral Dewey. The interview was arranged, and Lieutenant Hall kept the appointment. In his report he tells in detail of the meeting, who attended it and what was said.

When Aguinaldo was asked, so Lieutenant Hall, who is now at the Brooklyn, chief engineer of the Petrel, it was a voluminous document, and set forth in detail all negotiations which Captain Wood, at that time in command of the Petrel, and who acted as Admiral Dewey's representative, had with the Philippine junta in Hongkong.

IS BRANDED AS FALSE

Dewey Never Held Out Encouragement to Aguinaldo.

HE MAKES A STATEMENT

WILL SEND A REPORT TO THE SENATE COMMITTEE.

The Admiral Becomes Indignant at the Stories Floating About Regarding His Action at Manila and Pronounces Them Lies—His Relations With the Filipino Chieftain.

New York, Feb. 10.—The Tribune says: "I have never by word, act or intimation, either personally or through a representative, conveyed to Aguinaldo or any of his associates, the assurance that the United States government would recognize Filipino independence."

The foregoing statement was made by Admiral Dewey in the most emphatic tone. This declaration was brought forth in a discussion concerning the repeated assertions that Admiral Dewey, while in the Philippines, consulted with Aguinaldo and told him that the United States government would recognize the independence of the Philippines."

The statement was elicited principally by an article bearing upon this subject which was sent in to the Tribune for publication. The article was shown to the admiral in his apartment at the Waldorf-Astoria. The admiral read the article carefully. The article contains a letter signed by Howard W. Bray, who is alleged to have acted as interpreter between Aguinaldo and Consul General Pratt and Admiral Dewey.

Mr. Bray asserts that Aguinaldo had an interview with United States Consul General Pratt at Singapore on April 23, 1898; that the conditions of Aguinaldo's policy were clearly stated; that these were submitted to Dewey, and that the latter cabled with all haste to Hongkong, and that Dewey brought back Aguinaldo's Luzon and promise of independence. When Admiral Dewey had read the article he said, impressively:

"Strike Down the Lie. 'I have some reports, documents and statements before me which I intend, upon my return to Washington, to submit to the senate committee on foreign relations. It is better, however, to strike this lie as it arises, and I will answer the charge as it comes. I never saw this man Bray. I never knew him. I never heard of him except as a disreputable adventurer in the pay of the Philippine junta. So far as this story concerns me there is not a word of truth in it.'"

Admiral Dewey then took up a report which he had before him. It was typewritten and destined to go to the senate. It was made by Lieutenant R. P. Hall, chief engineer of the Petrel. It was a voluminous document, and set forth in detail all negotiations which Captain Wood, at that time in command of the Petrel, and who acted as Admiral Dewey's representative, had with the Philippine junta in Hongkong. Lieutenant Hall set forth how the Filipinos, through a banker named Levy, asked for an interview with a representative of Admiral Dewey. The interview was arranged, and Lieutenant Hall kept the appointment. In his report he tells in detail of the meeting, who attended it and what was said.

When Aguinaldo was asked, so Lieutenant Hall, who is now at the Brooklyn, chief engineer of the Petrel, it was a voluminous document, and set forth in detail all negotiations which Captain Wood, at that time in command of the Petrel, and who acted as Admiral Dewey's representative, had with the Philippine junta in Hongkong.

Lieutenant Hall set forth how the Filipinos, through a banker named Levy, asked for an interview with a representative of Admiral Dewey. The interview was arranged, and Lieutenant Hall kept the appointment. In his report he tells in detail of the meeting, who attended it and what was said.

When Aguinaldo was asked, so Lieutenant Hall, who is now at the Brooklyn, chief engineer of the Petrel, it was a voluminous document, and set forth in detail all negotiations which Captain Wood, at that time in command of the Petrel, and who acted as Admiral Dewey's representative, had with the Philippine junta in Hongkong.

Lieutenant Hall set forth how the Filipinos, through a banker named Levy, asked for an interview with a representative of Admiral Dewey. The interview was arranged, and Lieutenant Hall kept the appointment. In his report he tells in detail of the meeting, who attended it and what was said.

When Aguinaldo was asked, so Lieutenant Hall, who is now at the Brooklyn, chief engineer of the Petrel, it was a voluminous document, and set forth in detail all negotiations which Captain Wood, at that time in command of the Petrel, and who acted as Admiral Dewey's representative, had with the Philippine junta in Hongkong.

Lieutenant Hall set forth how the Filipinos, through a banker named Levy, asked for an interview with a representative of Admiral Dewey. The interview was arranged, and Lieutenant Hall kept the appointment. In his report he tells in detail of the meeting, who attended it and what was said.

When Aguinaldo was asked, so Lieutenant Hall, who is now at the Brooklyn, chief engineer of the Petrel, it was a voluminous document, and set forth in detail all negotiations which Captain Wood, at that time in command of the Petrel, and who acted as Admiral Dewey's representative, had with the Philippine junta in Hongkong.

Lieutenant Hall set forth how the Filipinos, through a banker named Levy, asked for an interview with a representative of Admiral Dewey. The interview was arranged, and Lieutenant Hall kept the appointment. In his report he tells in detail of the meeting, who attended it and what was said.

When Aguinaldo was asked, so Lieutenant Hall, who is now at the Brooklyn, chief engineer of the Petrel, it was a voluminous document, and set forth in detail all negotiations which Captain Wood, at that time in command of the Petrel, and who acted as Admiral Dewey's representative, had with the Philippine junta in Hongkong.

Lieutenant Hall set forth how the Filipinos, through a banker named Levy, asked for an interview with a representative of Admiral Dewey. The interview was arranged, and Lieutenant Hall kept the appointment. In his report he tells in detail of the meeting, who attended it and what was said.

When Aguinaldo was asked, so Lieutenant Hall, who is now at the Brooklyn, chief engineer of the Petrel, it was a voluminous document, and set forth in detail all negotiations which Captain Wood, at that time in command of the Petrel, and who acted as Admiral Dewey's representative, had with the Philippine junta in Hongkong.

ira navy yard, reported, what part he intended to take in the war which seemed inevitable between Spain and the United States, he replied that he had made an agreement with the Spanish government to leave the Philippines; that he had received a promise of a sum of money for so doing, a part of which money had been paid, and he did not care to break his word or take any part in the probable war between Spain and the United States.

"I never had any dealings with Emilio Aguinaldo," continued the admiral. "You see, I never even called him 'general.' You see now just where the matter rests. I want you to nail this lie hard. You can say as coming from me that it is absolutely false."

"I never had any dealings with Emilio Aguinaldo," continued the admiral. "You see, I never even called him 'general.' You see now just where the matter rests. I want you to nail this lie hard. You can say as coming from me that it is absolutely false."

"I never had any dealings with Emilio Aguinaldo," continued the admiral. "You see, I never even called him 'general.' You see now just where the matter rests. I want you to nail this lie hard. You can say as coming from me that it is absolutely false."

"I never had any dealings with Emilio Aguinaldo," continued the admiral. "You see, I never even called him 'general.' You see now just where the matter rests. I want you to nail this lie hard. You can say as coming from me that it is absolutely false."

"I never had any dealings with Emilio Aguinaldo," continued the admiral. "You see, I never even called him 'general.' You see now just where the matter rests. I want you to nail this lie hard. You can say as coming from me that it is absolutely false."

"I never had any dealings with Emilio Aguinaldo," continued the admiral. "You see, I never even called him 'general.' You see now just where the matter rests. I want you to nail this lie hard. You can say as coming from me that it is absolutely false."

"I never had any dealings with Emilio Aguinaldo," continued the admiral. "You see, I never even called him 'general.' You see now just where the matter rests. I want you to nail this lie hard. You can say as coming from me that it is absolutely false."

"I never had any dealings with Emilio Aguinaldo," continued the admiral. "You see, I never even called him 'general.' You see now just where the matter rests. I want you to nail this lie hard. You can say as coming from me that it is absolutely false."

"I never had any dealings with Emilio Aguinaldo," continued the admiral. "You see, I never even called him 'general.' You see now just where the matter rests. I want you to nail this lie hard. You can say as coming from me that it is absolutely false."

"I never had any dealings with Emilio Aguinaldo," continued the admiral. "You see, I never even called him 'general.' You see now just where the matter rests. I want you to nail this lie hard. You can say as coming from me that it is absolutely false."

"I never had any dealings with Emilio Aguinaldo," continued the admiral. "You see, I never even called him 'general.' You see now just where the matter rests. I want you to nail this lie hard. You can say as coming from me that it is absolutely false."

"I never had any dealings with Emilio Aguinaldo," continued the admiral. "You see, I never even called him 'general.' You see now just where the matter rests. I want you to nail this lie hard. You can say as coming from me that it is absolutely false."

"I never had any dealings with Emilio Aguinaldo," continued the admiral. "You see, I never even called him 'general.' You see now just where the matter rests. I want you to nail this lie hard. You can say as coming from me that it is absolutely false."

"I never had any dealings with Emilio Aguinaldo," continued the admiral. "You see, I never even called him 'general.' You see now just where the matter rests. I want you to nail this lie hard. You can say as coming from me that it is absolutely false."

"I never had any dealings with Emilio Aguinaldo," continued the admiral. "You see, I never even called him 'general.' You see now just where the matter rests. I want you to nail this lie hard. You can say as coming from me that it is absolutely false."

"I never had any dealings with Emilio Aguinaldo," continued the admiral. "You see, I never even called him 'general.' You see now just where the matter rests. I want you to nail this lie hard. You can say as coming from me that it is absolutely false."

"I never had any dealings with Emilio Aguinaldo," continued the admiral. "You see, I never even called him 'general.' You see now just where the matter rests. I want you to nail this lie hard. You can say as coming from me that it is absolutely false."

"I never had any dealings with Emilio Aguinaldo," continued the admiral. "You see, I never even called him 'general.' You see now just where the matter rests. I want you to nail this lie hard. You can say as coming from me that it is absolutely false."

"I never had any dealings with Emilio Aguinaldo," continued the admiral. "You see, I never even called him 'general.' You see now just where the matter rests. I want you to nail this lie hard. You can say as coming from me that it is absolutely false."

"I never had any dealings with Emilio Aguinaldo," continued the admiral. "You see, I never even called him 'general.' You see now just where the matter rests. I want you to nail this lie hard. You can say as coming from me that it is absolutely false."

"I never had any dealings with Emilio Aguinaldo," continued the admiral. "You see, I never even called him 'general.' You see now just where the matter rests. I want you to nail this lie hard. You can say as coming from me that it is absolutely false."

"I never had any dealings with Emilio Aguinaldo," continued the admiral. "You see, I never even called him 'general.' You see now just where the matter rests. I want you to nail this lie hard. You can say as coming from me that it is absolutely false."

"I never had any dealings with Emilio Aguinaldo," continued the admiral. "You see, I never even called him 'general.' You see now just where the matter rests. I want you to nail this lie hard. You can say as coming from me that it is absolutely false."

"I never had any dealings with Emilio Aguinaldo," continued the admiral. "You see, I never even called him 'general.' You see now just where the matter rests. I want you to nail this lie hard. You can say as coming from me that it is absolutely false."

"I never had any dealings with Emilio Aguinaldo," continued the admiral. "You see, I never even called him 'general.' You see now just where the matter rests. I want you to nail this lie hard. You can say as coming from me that it is absolutely false."

"I never had any dealings with Emilio Aguinaldo," continued the admiral. "You see, I never even called him 'general.' You see now just where the matter rests. I want you to nail this lie hard. You can say as coming from me that it is absolutely false."

"I never had any dealings with Emilio Aguinaldo," continued the admiral. "You see, I never even called him 'general.' You see now just where the matter rests. I want you to nail this lie hard. You can say as coming from me that it is absolutely false."

"I never had any dealings with Emilio Aguinaldo," continued the admiral. "You see, I never even called him 'general.' You see now just where the matter rests. I want you to nail this lie hard. You can say as coming from me that it is absolutely false."

"I never had any dealings with Emilio Aguinaldo," continued the admiral. "You see, I never even called him 'general.' You see now just where the matter rests. I want you to nail this lie hard. You can say as coming from me that it is absolutely false."

"I never had any dealings with Emilio Aguinaldo," continued the admiral. "You see, I never even called him 'general.' You see now just where the matter rests. I want you to nail this lie hard. You can say as coming from me that it is absolutely false."

"I never had any dealings with Emilio Aguinaldo," continued the admiral. "You see, I never even called him 'general.' You see now just where the matter rests. I want you to nail this lie hard. You can say as coming from me that it is absolutely false."

"I never had any dealings with Emilio Aguinaldo," continued the admiral. "You see, I never even called him 'general.' You see now just where the matter rests. I want you to nail this lie hard. You can say as coming from me that it is absolutely false."

"I never had any dealings with Emilio Aguinaldo," continued the admiral. "You see, I never even called him 'general.' You see now just where the matter rests. I want you to nail this lie hard. You can say as coming from me that it is absolutely false."

"I never had any dealings with Emilio Aguinaldo," continued the admiral. "You see, I never even called him 'general.' You see now just where the matter rests. I want you to nail this lie hard. You can say as coming from me that it is absolutely false."

"I never had any dealings with Emilio Aguinaldo," continued the admiral. "You see, I never even called him 'general.' You see now just where the matter rests. I want you to nail this lie hard. You can say as coming from me that it is absolutely false."

"I never had any dealings with Emilio Aguinaldo," continued the admiral. "You see, I never even called him 'general.' You see now just where the matter rests. I want you to nail this lie hard. You can say as coming from me that it is absolutely false."

"I never had any dealings with Emilio Aguinaldo," continued the admiral. "You see, I never even called him 'general.' You see now just where the matter rests. I want you to nail this lie hard. You can say as coming from me that it is absolutely false."

"I never had any dealings with Emilio Aguinaldo," continued the admiral. "You see, I never even called him 'general.' You see now just where the matter rests. I want you to nail this lie hard. You can say as coming from me that it is absolutely false."

"I never had any dealings with Emilio Aguinaldo," continued the admiral. "You see, I never even called him 'general.' You see now just where the matter rests. I want you to nail this lie hard. You can say as coming from me that it is absolutely false."

"I never had any dealings with Emilio Aguinaldo," continued the admiral. "You see, I never even called him 'general.' You see now just where the matter rests. I want you to nail this lie hard. You can say as coming from me that it is absolutely false."

"I never had any dealings with Emilio Aguinaldo," continued the admiral. "You see, I never even called him 'general.' You see now just where the matter rests. I want you to nail this lie hard. You can say as coming from me that it is absolutely false."

"I never had any dealings with Emilio Aguinaldo," continued the