Salt Lake-Los Angeles Road Sure In Three Years.

CONCESSIONS ARE ASKED

PROMOTORS SEEK TO ACQUIRE PIONEER SQUARE.

Whether Salt Lake shall become the terminal of the new road to Los Angeles and the coast with a seaboard outlet at San Pedro, is now up to the people of this city and their representatives, the city council.

The result of the recent conference in Los Angeles, in which Thomas Kearns, C. O. Whittemore and David Keith of this city participated, was that the former should become one of the incorporators and with that understanding Mr. Kearns has set about the task of making the new company a Utah corporation, with Salt Lake as the terminal, and the valleys south of this city through to St. George as the country through which the road shall pass, his idea being to give this state moment everything is in shape.

Of the mineral sections through which the road will pass and to which it will be made tributary, Mr. Kearns says the closest investigation of much of it has already been made. Allan G. Campbell, who is probably as well posted as any man in the country on the districts of southern Utah, Nevada and California, was in attendance at the Los Angeles conference, and much valuable information was imparted by him.

As to Iron and Coal. Asked as to whether the incorporators and promoters of the new company were in any way interested in the iron or coal deposits of Utah, Mr. Kearns replied that so far as he knew they were not, though he intimated that the company's interests in that respect would receive due and early consideration.

With respect to the Deep Creek and other mineral sections that might appear remote from the line if his suggestions bore fruit, Mr. Kearns said the road would be cut for all the business there was to be secured and as the different localities in Utah and Nevada are friendly terms with all of them.

The gentleman was most emphatic in his declaration that the new company was in no way connected with any of the old lines, though he said the policy would undoubtedly be to keep on friendly terms with all of them.

Man Who Preached on Historic Common Speaks.

HAD VARIOUS EXPERIENCE

ATTENDED SOME ANTI-MORMON MEETINGS.

Ephraim Jensen, who gained some notoriety recently by preaching on the Boston common, delivered a very interesting address at the tabernacle yesterday on his experience while in that city.

He had just uttered the words 'And the late president, Wilford Woodruff, when I bear you my testimony, God smote him in his tracks. He was picked up and carried out of the pulpit, unable to say another word.'

'Another man who had been in Utah was called on to fill up the time, and he paid this state and its people one of the highest tributes I ever heard. His eulogy of the Mormon people as he had found them caused thousands to investigate our principles, and that is the way the meeting to 'expose the evils of Mormonism' broke up.

There was still another incident that will interest you. A Rev. Mr. Nutting, formerly of Salt Lake, was speaking in the same temple for the purpose of acquainting Boston with the immorality of Salt Lake. He finished the meeting and was to hold a little assembly in the basement for 'spiritual testimony.' I got into the latter.

Called Nutting Down. 'The first thing I heard Mr. Nutting say was that the leaders of the Mormon church were the greatest liars on earth. I asked him if he would let me speak. No,' he said, 'we don't want to hear anything about polygamy in this meeting.' I asked him if he would let David, Moses or Solomon preach in that meeting.

'He thought a minute and said he guessed he wouldn't—that he didn't believe in 'back numbers.' At any rate, he said, no Mormon elder could speak in that temple. Then I told him that if he didn't repeat and stop maligning the Mormon people he would go down to shame and ignominy and to a grave appeared upon the scene. An investigator effected an entrance through one of the side windows.

L. B. Rodgers Victimized. The residence of Lewis B. Rodgers at 576 South West Temple street was broken into early last night by burglars and robbed of a quantity of jewelry and $4 or $5 in cash. The burglary was committed while Mr. Bailey and his family were at church, and was done some time between 8 and 10 o'clock in the evening.

The thieves got in through the cellar. The outer window was unfastened and the burglar entered through it, and bursting the lock on the door leading up into the kitchen, it was an easy matter to ransack the house and depart with the booty.

When Mr. Bailey returned and made an investigation he discovered that the thieves had secured two gold watches, two gold and two diamond rings, a pocket-book containing $2 or $3 in silver and a silver case, which also contained a small quantity of silver.

The matter was reported to the police immediately and Detective Sheets went out and made an investigation, but no clue to the burglar was obtained. The work was evidently done by a professional, as the lock on the cellar door was cleverly forced by the use of a jimmy.

L. B. Rodgers Victimized. The residence of Lewis B. Rodgers at 576 South West Temple street was broken into early yesterday morning. The burglar secured two gold watches, some gold cuff buttons and gold studs. The householder and his wife were awakened by a noise as if some one was prowling around in the house.

The burglar heard him and hurriedly departed through the window as Mr. Rodgers appeared upon the scene. An investigation showed that the thief had pried one of the side windows open and had entered. Mr. Rodgers immediately went across to the Salt Palace and telephoned the police.

The burglar was seen on wheels, but no trace of the burglar could be found. Nothing but the jewelry was missing.

UTAH GUARD'S SUNDAY

Articles of War Substituted For Faith Articles.

VISITORS' DAY IN CAMP

MARITAL MUSIC GALORE—COURTESIES FROM POST OFFICERS.

For the first time in the history of the national guard of Utah the articles of war were read to the state's citizen soldiery yesterday morning at Camp Liscum.

Instead of having a simple form of devotional service, permitted by the regulations applicable to the guard's encampments, Brigadier General Cannon surprised the enlisted men by having them lined up at chapel call to hear read the articles which every officer of the guard is presumed to know, but about which in the army the articles of war are read to the enlisted men twice a year, on stated occasions, and this innovation in the guard's encampment was received by appreciative ears.

Because of the limited number of seats, the men were taken by battalions to hear read the articles, and the reading was given with a sort of solemn emphasis by officers of good voice detailed for the purpose. Every first reader got a little throaty every comrade in enalets relieved him.

Free and Easy Privileges. With this substitution of articles of war for articles of faith at an end, the guardsmen were allowed to take it free and easy, just as Uncle Sam's soldiers are wont to do in a zarrison on the Sabbath. Every feature of hard drilling and all unnecessary camp drudgery were eliminated from the day's orders. This observance of the Sabbath in encampment permitted the boys who are having a little schooling in the duties of infantrymen to make tidy appearances when visitors came flocking within the restricted lines.

From 3 o'clock in the afternoon till the evening shadows thickened, several hundred people from the city, including the sweethearts of the guardsmen, visited the tented colony on the mesa below Fort Douglas barracks. Everywhere the visitors were received courteously by the officers and the enlisted men. But for the thoughtful consideration of Colonel Eskridge, brigadier general Cannon, the chief of camp, and the officers who loaned the use of the fort sprinkling wagon, the parade grounds would have been an unwelcome scene of confusion.

Music For Visitors. All afternoon Held's military band, enlarged to thirty pieces, played martial music to the delight of the visitors and the soldier hosts. At 6 o'clock a retreat parade was given, followed by guard mount. These functions and the responses to a mess call occupied but a short time. Then there was a rush for passes to see the Paris home, the liberty department, a mounted Indian figure, had been awarded a silver medal of the second class at the Paris exposition. Mr. Dallin was one of five to receive this honor, which was given to American First-class prizes were not open to foreign competitors.

Another case of smallpox developed here yesterday, in the Curtis family this time. The victim is but lately returned from Vienna.

E. N. Jordan has commenced business in the heavy druggery line, in the old postoffice building. Miss Dora Curtis also embarked in business this week, having the millinery stock of Mrs. L. M. Murphy.

Thrown From a Horse. (Special Correspondence.) Nephth, Sept. 9.—James E. Jenkins of this city met with a very painful accident in the heavy druggery line. The animal became fractious and commenced jumping violently, throwing the rider to the ground. Blood streamed from his nostrils and for three minutes he was thought to be lifeless. He has, however, rallied some, but is still in a very critical condition.

Defer Opening of Schools. (Special Correspondence.) Payson, Sept. 9.—At a meeting of the board of health and the trustees and teachers held last night, it was resolved to defer opening district schools for two weeks longer, also to dispense with all public assemblies of any nature during the smallpox epidemic and suspected exposure in this neighborhood, during which time the school teachers will draw half salaries as per contracts for the year.

Today the guardsmen will resume drilling and target practice. Tuesday morning pay coin will be passed around and the guards will break camp, marching down to the armory, where the accoutrements will be left. Re-infantrymen will go to the depot and take a special train for Saltair, as the guests of the resort, and to mingle with their friends again. Governor Wells and staff will escort the guard through the city and to Saltair.

With the hospital corps. The hospital tent was the scene of about the usual number of emergency treatments yesterday as upon the previous days of the encampment, but for all that, Hospital Steward Bodel is certain that the guardsmen have fared better physically at this encampment than at any heretofore held.

A few new cases of bronchitis, caused by colds, and of galled feet, due to the heavy drill work of last week, were treated. Private Richard Darke of company A was treated for a dislocated hip, the sore yielding readily to the skilled employe to effect a cure.

About the most serious case the hospital corps has had to care for was the resetting of the nasal organ of the private Charles Turner, who sustained a fracture of the nose ligaments Saturday evening during a boxing bout with a comrade. It was all in good nature and the young man heroically stood the joshing of his friends as he walked around with a martingale over his face.
