

GOVERNOR WELLS' VETO OF EIGHT-HOUR BILL. HIS MESSAGE IN FULL. EXECUTIVE'S "REASONS" FOR HIS DISAPPROVAL.

George Sutherland's act of pointing with pride in the mining camps to Governor Wells as the friend of the laboring man, has started some people to thinking. They remember that at the last session of the legislature a bill was passed making eight hours a day's work on contracts in which the state or any county or city may be interested.

The bill went through both houses during the closing hours of the session. After an adjournment had been taken and it was impossible to pass the measure over the head of the executive, Governor Wells returned to the Secretary of State Hammond with his disapproval of the documents in evidence, as gathered in the Secretary of State Hammond's office yesterday, are as follows:

The Eight-Hour Law.

"An act to amend section 336, chapter 2, title 2, revised statutes of Utah 1888, relating to labor, by adding to the provisions of this act the following: 'Section 1.—Eight hours shall constitute a day's work on any contract in which the state, county or municipal government, whether such work is done by contract or otherwise...'

Governor Wells' Veto Message.

"March 21, 1899. To the Secretary of State: I file in your office without approval, and file in your office without approval, the bill No. 1330, chapter 2, title 2, of the revised statutes of Utah 1888, relating to labor, with my objections thereto. It is my duty to sign the bill, but I am unable to do so because of the following reasons: 'The bill provides that in all contracts in which the state or county or municipal government is interested, the contractor or subcontractor shall be required to employ no more than eight hours in one calendar day...'

HANNAITES AT COALVILLE.

Smith, Hammond and a Phonograph Entertain a Crowd. (Special Correspondence.) Coalville, Sept. 27.—A fairly good sized audience greeted the Republican trio, composed of James T. Hammond, George A. Smith and the phonograph. The latter made a decided hit, but the other members, Smith and Hammond, were decidedly staid. Hammond spoke first, devoting about three-quarters of an hour almost entirely to the subject of important events in the history of the world. He then turned to the phonograph, which he played for some time. George A. Smith devoted nearly an hour to the trusts, which he claimed were the cause of our present economic condition. To this he was opposed by the other members of the party, who should be made for that purpose, and none but Republicans could be relied on to make it. Touching on the Philippine question he said: 'We have a good title to that group of islands as we have to the state of Utah, and we are going to keep them.'

The opera house was well filled. A. J. Weber, David Evans and N. T. Porter spoke. John S. Blain presided. Mr. Porter confined his remarks to the line of educational affairs. His talk was much appreciated by his hearers and his appearance caused the most favorable impression. Weber was the next speaker, and from the beginning went right into business, discussing the silver question, trusts and imperialism, showing the public fallacies and inconsistencies in these great questions in the present campaign. Mr. Weber showed very plainly why Mr. Bryan's supporters of 1896 still remain true.

PROLOGUES IN IDAHO. Fusion of Silver Forces Will Win the Victory. BRYAN AND DUBOIS SURE CONSERVATIVE VIEW OF THE SITUATION BY AN IDAHOAN.

Conservation View of the Situation by an Idahoan.

"With harmonious fusion of the Democratic, Populist and silver Republican forces throughout Idaho and 15,000 more votes than the Republicans have, what chance is there for the claim that the Republicans will carry the state?" asked Hon. Frank W. Beane yesterday. Exploiting the subject further, Mr. Beane said that all of the county conventions had been held throughout Idaho and fusion has been successful in all of the counties, except possibly two. "While in a number of counties there was no special endorsement of Fred T. Dubois for United States senator," continued the speaker, "the candidates were invariably for him. The situation in southern Idaho is particularly encouraging at this time. In Fremont county, where it has been stated that the Republicans are going to make a hard fight, especially for the legislative part of the ticket, four Dubois men are nominated for the legislative assembly of the Democratic Fusion convention in nominating Dubois for senator was unanimously endorsed. We have 1,000 voters in the November election in that county.

Fusionists For Dubois.

"There is no significance in the fact that in some of the counties resolutions endorsing Dubois were passed, where fusion has been accomplished, whether by formal action of convention or not, the convention for Dubois and the legislative candidates are being held at Boise on Tuesday. It did not endorse Dubois' candidacy, the joint assembly of Democratic, Populist and silver Republican delegates ratified the action of the Pocatello convention, which is tantamount to an endorsement of Dubois. I state it is a square-toed fight between Senator Shoup standing on the Philadelphia gold standard platform and Senator Dubois standing on the Kansas City platform and the remonetization of silver. When Governor Roosevelt passed through Idaho he created no furor whatever and so far as his visit hitherto the Republican cause, we would be only too glad to have him remain in our state stumping till election day. Referring to Senator Frank J. Cannon, Mr. Beane remarked that the people of Idaho feel very grateful to him for the splendid speeches made by him and the good results in prospect accomplished by his visit. Dubois' followers will speak at a rousing big rally of the fusion party at Boise on Tuesday. Mr. Beane was a former Salt Lake and his judgment on political questions has always been deemed perfectly sound. His trip to this city was on private business. He returned to his home at Blackfoot company with his wife and children. Accompanying Mr. Beane to Salt Lake were Messrs. J. B. Critchlow, secretary of the Blackfoot, Houston & Challis stage line. Of the mining outlook in Idaho, Mr. Beane said that the outlook is very encouragingly.

SHORT HONEY CROP.

Result Is High Prices and Big Demand. The honey crop of Utah for this year is not more than one-fifth of what it has been in recent years. This is due to the drought and the consequent lack of flowers. The comb honey which was filled either, and the quality is not nearly up to the usual standard. Every pound of good honey has been bought up, and most of it has been shipped out of the state to supply the eastern market. Local dealers have been forced to dance a minuet on the heels of the carload lots intended for the east. It is selling in the local market at $2 per case, which is an almost unheard-of price for honey in the Salt Lake market.
