

The Salt Lake Herald.

PUBLISHED EVERY DAY BY THE HERALD COMPANY.

SAMPLE OF REPUBLICAN ADMINISTRATION.

AS A SPECIFIC INSTANCE of the extravagance of the city administration The Herald gives below the total of payrolls only in each important department of the city for the first nine months of this year as compared with the total for the same months of 1899 or at the rate of $35,700 a year.

Table with 4 columns: Department, 1899, 1900, Inc. Per Cent. Rows include Engineering, Streets and irrigation, Sprinkling, Waterworks, Fire, Police, Health, Public Parks, Cemetery.

Note *—Including $7,213 spent by the land and water commissioner's office, a new job created for the payment of political debts.

Note —The increase in the waterworks department is much greater than indicated by the figures given above, because in 1899 all repair work and main extensions were performed by this department, while during 1900 this work has been done by the board of police works on the contract system.

The city's overdraft today with interest is $253,046. The highest point it reached during 1899 was $68,000. Yet the same Republican "gang" that has muddled the city's business and looted its treasury is asking the taxpayers to put its candidates in charge of the county's business and expose the county treasury to its plundering system.

LOVES THE TRUSTS.

ANIMATED SOLELY BY ITS LOVE for the people of the state, Mr. Hanna's local newspaper continues its defense of trusts in general and the smelter trust in particular.

Now, suppose the machinery of the law was set in motion and the managers of the trust were to be arraigned charged with conspiracy to hold up the miners and to exact from them an undue proportion of the value of their ores; that a general denial should be entered, contest every charge in the complaint, what then? What proof could The Herald furnish, for instance, that there was a conspiracy; that it was formed for the purpose of exacting too much plunder from the miners; whom would The Herald call for witnesses? Would the fact that more was being charged now for manipulating ores than was charged two years ago establish a conspiracy?

In its new-found zeal for the smelter trust the organ overlooks the fact that the governor, the attorney-general and the secretary of state are the gentlemen to whom these questions should be directed. It is their duty, under the anti-monopoly law of Utah, to prosecute the smelter trust; it is their duty to conduct the court proceedings—not The Herald's. It should not be a difficult matter to get evidence that the trust is a monopoly, that it is charging exorbitant figures for the treatment of ore; that its capital is largely water and that the miners of Utah are furnishing the dividends for this watered stock.

Referring to the evidence of monopoly in the Addystone steel pipe case, decided under the Sherman anti-trust law, Justice Peckham of the United States supreme court said "the most cogent evidence that they had this power (of fixing prices as a monopoly) is the fact everywhere apparent that they exercised it." The most cogent evidence that the smelter trust is a monopoly and is charging exorbitant prices is the fact that it is doing it every day.

Governor Wells and his secretary of state, Hammond, both candidates for re-election, have been unable to discover the existence of the smelter trust or of an anti-trust law on the statute books of Utah.

Men so blind as that, or so ignorant of the laws they have sworn to enforce, deserve ignominious defeat, and will get it.

TWO MORE IMMORTALS.

AMONG ALL THE GREAT DISCOVERERS of the age Professor Oscar L. Trigg, teaching literature in the University of Chicago, deserves first mention. Other men may have delved deeper in the realms of science or art or economics, but Trigg has taken his own field and outstripped them all. The wonder is that a genius of his luminousness has remained hidden so long. Listen to Trigg:

"I am tired of hearing America criticised for its lack of artistic sense and creative power. Hereafter when people ask me who among Americans have shown a really wonderful creative genius and stand out head and shoulders above other men as Shakespeare does, I shall point to John D. Rockefeller and George M. Pullman.

"With their own individual intellects they have performed two herculean tasks, and today their power is felt throughout the world. Shakespeare pictured to himself a scene and put it into words; these men conceived great industries, where thousands of men might find employment in producing what millions of people need. Who shall say that their genius was less than the genius of Shakespeare? It has a far-reaching practical influence, and in my opinion it will be just as lasting."

Hereafter let no man mention anything derogatory of Rockefeller—not before Trigg. Let him remember that Rockefeller and Pullman rank with Shakespeare—or above him—and, therefore, are beyond criticisms. Let the Hall of Fame have statues of the immortal oil monopolist and the likewise undying Pullman, and let the statues stand at the head of the row. Has not Trigg said it?

And does not Rockefeller give a million or two to Trigg's university every time he boosts the price of oil?

WILLIE AND HIS PAPA.

"I Declare, Willie, I Shall Die Laughing at the Funny Jokes That Boy Chauncey Gets Off. Here's a Penny For You, Chauncey!"—Chicago American.

SAME UNSCRUPULOUS FIGHT.

"If Mr. Bryan wins, he has to win against nearly the entire press of the east.

"Against nearly all the so-called statesmen and orators of both the old parties in the east.

"Against every corporation, every great trust, nearly every bank and insurance company in the east.

"Against the most lavish and unscrupulous use of money ever seen in any election."—Salt Lake Tribune, Sept. 30, 1896.

CLUB AND SOCIETY NEWS.

A large number of people will be interested in the marriage of Mrs. Nellie Fulton and Dr. P. S. Keogh, which takes place this morning at 8 o'clock at St. Mary's cathedral.

The bride will wear a tailor gown of deep red broadcloth, with hat and gloves to match.

Following the ceremony breakfast will be served at the Alta club, and immediately afterwards the couple will leave for a tour of California.

The bride has made this city her home for the past five years, and is extremely popular with her friends. The groom is a well known physician. He is connected with the Keoch-Hosmer hospital, and is a surgeon of the Rio Grande.

Mr. and Mrs. Keogh will be at home after Nov. 20 at the Knutsford.

There will be a meeting of the Council of Women's clubs this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the woman's club room. As it is the annual meeting, new officers will be elected, proposed amendments to the constitution and by-laws will be voted upon, and important business in general will be considered.

Following the regular meeting yesterday of the Ladies' Literary club, a short business session was held. Mrs. Ruth P. Iglehart was elected delegate to the N. P. W. C. and Mrs. Root was elected alternate.

AMUSEMENTS.

"The Black Crook, Jr.," appeared at the Salt Lake theatre last night. There was a large audience present during the first and second acts, but a great many people left after the second act.

This show professes to be a spectacular extravaganza, but the spectacular effects are of the cheapest and the showiest order and the rest of the show, with one or two exceptions, is on a par with the spectacular part.

"With their own individual intellects they have performed two herculean tasks, and today their power is felt throughout the world. Shakespeare pictured to himself a scene and put it into words; these men conceived great industries, where thousands of men might find employment in producing what millions of people need.

Another large audience saw "The Young Wife" at the Grand last night. The play is meritorious and the acting is good. Matinee this afternoon; last performance tonight.

SAYS BRYAN WILL WIN.

(Chicago American.) Tomahawk, Wis.—Olga, wife of the chief of the Chippewa Indians and recognized as a prophetic seeress on all the northwestern reservations among her people, has forecast the result of the approaching general election. Olga has correctly foretold the results of each electoral college since 1872. In 1876 she predicted the famous contest between followers of Tilden and Hayes, and four years ago was correct to a vote in the electoral college. She says: "Bryan will be elected and take his seat as president, receiving 227 electoral votes. The Democratic state and national ticket will win in New York.

Bliss will go for McKinley, but Yates will lose. Cook county will give a Democratic majority of over 19,000. The next house of congress will have a Democratic majority of over twenty, while the senate will be Republican by one vote only.

WELLS-FARGO MAN COERCED.

(San Francisco Examiner.) John J. Valentine, president of Wells Fargo & Co., does not desire to press any farther the inference that might be drawn from that strange and suggestive incident of the campaign related by him at a political meeting in Oakland Saturday night. On that occasion, Mr. Valentine told how he had received a letter intimating that he would be removed from the presidency of Wells Fargo & Co., if he did not abandon his advocacy of the Democratic ticket in the national campaign.

"No," said Mr. Valentine yesterday in reply to a request that he give out a letter for publication. "It was a purely personal letter, and I will not give it out. I only wish to say, in order to clear up some misconception arising from the reports, that the letter was not from any of our own people in the express company. It was, in fact, from a banker. I only referred to it at the meeting to illustrate the fact that there is a disposition to coerce people in this campaign.

"In a campaign," continued Mr. Valentine, "that has many strange features, and none is more strange than the desire of the people to pay the enormous cost of the war in the Philippines. The cost of that war must fall on them. It is a political grudge that taxes always fall down on the working classes. They will never benefit a nickel by the acquisition of islands, but they must pay its cost. The Spanish and Philippine wars will have cost the American people $600,000,000 by the end of the present fiscal year. It is the nature and law of taxation to fall heaviest on the great consuming classes. Now what do they get for it?"

OBJECT LESSONS FOR VOTERS.

"We are fortunate in having an issue which does not wear thin in any part of the country; we are for the gold standard here, in New York and in Denver—everywhere," said Roosevelt in his speech at Indianapolis.

"We should not aid the election of a president who would, admitted, if he could, destroy the gold standard," said Benjamin Harrison in his letter published through the Associated Press.

"In the first battle, that of 1896, the friends of the gold standard and of sound money were triumphant and triumphed," said President William McKinley in his letter of acceptance.

MCKINLEY MONEY BACKERS.

(New York Journal.) Two-thirds of the work done by Chairman Hanna. It has been asserted and denied, consists in wringing money from corporations.

The men who are managing the campaign are immensely rich. All of the rich Republicans have much the same interests. What threatens the millions of one threatens the millions of all. They flock together for mutual protection; they are always found in close touch with each other.

The national Republican executive committee has eleven men. The real work of conducting the campaign rests on the shoulders of eight of the eleven. The total personal wealth of these eight men is $41,920,000, as follows: M. Hanna, $15,000,000; Cornelius N. Bliss, $6,000,000; Nathan B. Scott, $4,000,000; Henry C. Payne, $3,000,000; Joseph H. Manley, $2,000,000; Richard C. Kerens, $1,500,000; Harry S. New, $1,000,000.

Total $41,920,000. These produce money enough to purchase the election.

Maritz & Hanna worth $15,000,000—the chairman of the national committee, Senator Hanna of Ohio, is tall official who was able to find a trust. This is why he writes "ex" before his title and is now supporting Mr. Bryan.

Insulting the President.

(New York Journal.) Under the blessed reign of William McKinley, anybody who should venture in a Republican meeting to shout "Hurrah for the declaration of independence" would be thrown out for insulting the president.

What It Will Mean.

If McKinley is re-elected it will be taken to mean the endorsement by the people of the country of that policy and that action which Mr. Hear has had to take. It is adhered to, mark the beginning of the downfall of this republic.

McKinley May Carry Pennsylvania.

(Pittsburgh Press.) We venture to say that Colonel Quay's tour of the state will do more to boost McKinley's name than any possible campaigning expedition that could have been arranged. The result will show it.

Ho Found a Trust.

(New York World.) Frank S. Monnett, formerly attorney general of Ohio, was the only Republican official who was able to find a trust. This is why he writes "ex" before his title and is now supporting Mr. Bryan.

Jim Ham's No Fool.

(Baltimore World.) Republican organs may make as much fun of Jim Ham Lewis as they please, but if one of them should happen to buy him for a fool it would get badly stuck.
