EXCOMMUNICATION OF COUNT TOLSTOI

St. Petersburg, March 9.—The official organ of the Holy Synod today publishes the formal excommunication of Count Tolstoi, the Russian novelist and social reformer, which was announced early in the year, as follows: "In its solicitude for the children of the orthodox church to guard them from being led into corruption and in order to save those who have gone astray, the Holy Synod has deliberated on the anti-Christian and anti-ecclesiastical teachings of Count Leo Tolstoi and has deemed it expedient in order to preserve the peace of the church, to issue a circular dealing with the heresies of Count Leo Tolstoi. The circular is as follows: "Count Leo Tolstoi, to the grief and horror of the whole orthodox world, has by speech and writing, unceasingly striven to separate himself from all communication with the orthodox church and this not only clandestinely but openly and in the knowledge of all persons, all attempts to dissuade him from this conduct have proved without avail. Consequently the orthodox church no longer considers him to be one of its members and cannot regard him as such as long as he does not repent and does not become reconciled to the church. We therefore place on record his apostasy from the church and pray the Lord to restore him to a comprehension of the truth. We pray thee, therefore, merciful God, who does not desire the death of a sinner, to bestow thy mercy on him and restore to thy holy church, Amen."

More New Silks and Dress Goods.

We scarcely know how to tell you of these handsome materials that fashion has smiled upon for costumes during the coming season, fabric beauty cannot be described, it must be seen. Soft, clinging materials continue their reign, which is as we had predicted; the graceful lines and perfect curves of beauty demanded by our almost classic gowns, made inevitable the return of soft, light weaves. Many of the fabrics bear names that have grown familiar during the past season, but they are nevertheless wonderfully changed—the panne finish gives new richness to crepes and cloths; Louisines come in changeable and moire effects as well as plain weaves; lacey, rich Grenadines have silk stripes and silk figures; Foulards have entire change in pattern designs; then there are new patterns and finishings to the Venetian cloths, Prunellas, Tamines, Batistes, Challis, and so on—altogether a gathering that leaves nothing to be desired either for beauty or serviceableness.

New Wash Fabrics.

Chosen from everywhere that fine cotton fabric making excels; many from over the sea and many, many of the very choicest are made right here in America. Soft, gauzy weaves in Ginghams, Embroidered Swisses, mercerized Foulards and all other cotton stuffs as in silks, are the ones in highest favor for this season. The collection here now is at its best and numbers up into hundreds of the new dainty weaves in all the desirable shades, color combinations and tasteful designs that diligent search could discover. Clothing--That Makes the Man.

It has come to be very generally understood that good clothes are worth while—that man's position in life is judged greatly from the view point of looks. A particular word then about clothing which bears the essential qualities to help reputation. Many critical and fastidious men continue to go to the custom tailor for their clothing, doubtless believing that it's necessary in order to be properly fitted. One trying on of the Stein-Bloch convinces to the contrary. It's equal to the best custom made in every respect; styles are the smartest, materials are the choicest, in broadest variety; workmanship is of the highest character. We are showing as the ultra fashionable this season, the military suits, made of blue, black and Oxford gray Vicunas, Worsted Cheviots, undressed Worsted, blue and black Serges, Tweeds, and unobtrusive mixtures of grays, browns, reds, blues, greens and orange in the Banockburn and pepper and salt effects. Prices $15.00 to $25.00. We would like to have you see them this week.
