

DAUGHTER OF THE RABBI BROUGHT BACK BY THE SHERIFF

Leah M. Rabinowitz, the pretty and unemotional little Jewish girl who eloped with Joe Tittlebaum, as related in yesterday's Herald, returned to the home of her father, Rabbi Rabinowitz, last night, said she was crazy, thought she was glad to be back again, and was forgiven for her transgression by the indulgent parent.

THINK IT IS A SNAP TWO APPLICANTS FOR STATE ENGINEER'S PLACE

Although nearly sixty days will elapse before the governor must appoint a state engineer, state statistician and state fish and game commissioner, the executive is being flooded with applications and endorsements. The position of statistician is likely to prove the most difficult.

For state engineer a very pretty girl is on between R. C. Gemmill, the present incumbent, and A. P. Dore, the place better known applicant. The governor promised Gemmill, in case he was not appointed, to give him the position of state engineer.

MAYOR UNDECIDED Not Ready to Announce Candidacy For Second Term

"I don't know how I could make a living if the people take my political job away from me," said Mayor Thompson, plaintively, when he was asked yesterday to announce his candidacy for a second term.

LIVES WITH HORSES—Jack Davis, a recent arrival from Butte, was arrested yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Cummings on a warrant issued in Butte for carrying a pistol charged with larceny. Davis' friends are said to be the thief of some baggage from the Butte train, and he was arrested across the river. The accused was found in his cabin in Brighton, in the next town from which one of his horses, and the deputy says it is about as unlikeliest a situation as one ever seen. Davis was locked up in the county jail pending trial.

WAKING FROM SEATTLE—A communication was read from the Seattle Building Trades council at last evening's meeting of the city council. The communication expressed the wish that wage earners might be forwarded to the dis-of her father last night, and not a tear fell. Though but 17 years of age, the girl takes a very philosophical view of the situation, and shows remarkable intelligence for one of her years. "All there is to it is this," she said. "The man coaxed me to go off with him. He said he would take me to Ogden and we would get married there, and after a couple of months would go to Los Angeles. He said he was an agent for the Mutual Investment Company, and could make money in Los Angeles. I consented to go. We stayed at the European house last night. The marriage did not take place, and I came home with the sheriff. I am here and he is in jail. That's all there is to it."

Real Millionaire Escaped Another Telephone Girl.

Like the girl who thinks she is drawing a millionaire at a summer resort and finds that he measures ribbon for a living is Mabel Hite, "The Telephone Girl." When she was married by Deputy County Clerk Seave at the Kenyon to Edward Ellis Hamlin of Chicago, she had visions of driving behind spanning bars down the boulevards living in a brown stone front, taking an occasional jaunt to Europe and vying with the queen of England for the number and value of her jewels. But alas for her airy castles! Instead of marrying the heir to many millions, she has found that her father-in-law is a clerk struggling to keep up the expenses of a $15 Chicago flat, and her husband is in no position to buy fine turnouts or brown stone fronts.
