

WHEELER TALKS OF WEST POINT

California Man Says Officers Should Study.

GREAT MILITARY SCHOOL IS BEST OF ITS KIND IN THE WORLD.

New York, June 9.—That army officers should continue their schooling as long as they are in the service of the United States was the policy urged on the government by Dr. Benjamin DeWheeler, president of the University of California, who has come to New York after spending a week at West Point as one of the president's representatives on the board of visitors at the United States military academy.

Best in the World.

"West Point is the best military school in the world," represents the liberal military education, as contrasted with the extreme specialization of the military schools of France, Germany and Russia. The West Point cadet is soundly trained in the foundation principles of all the four great branches of the service—engineering, artillery, cavalry and infantry.

UNIQUE DELUSION OF HORTICULTURISTS

Washington, June 9.—The extensive reports of United States Consul Covert, at Lyons, France, relative to the success of cannon firing in France as a means of protecting orchards and vineyards from hailstorms and also for the purpose of mitigating or nullifying the effects of frosts upon vegetation, have prompted numerous inquiries by horticulturists in this country as to when, if at all, our government would adopt similar methods of protection.

Professor Willis L. Moore, the chief of the weather bureau, acting under the direction of Secretary Wilson, therefore has issued to the press the following statement: "After an examination of all that has been published during the past two years, my conviction is that we have here to do with a popular delusion as remarkable as is the belief in the effect of the moon on the weather. The uneducated peasantry of Europe seem to be looking for something miraculous. They would rather believe in cannonading as a means of protection and spend on it abundance of money, time and labor, than adopt the very simple expedient of mutual insurance against the losses that must inevitably occur."

"The great processes going on in the atmosphere are conducted on too large a scale to warrant any man or nation in attempting to control them. The energy expended by nature in the production of a hailstorm, a tornado or a rainstorm exceeds the combined energy of all the steam engines and explosives in the world. It is useless for mankind to combat nature on this scale. After the experience that this country has had during the past ten years with rainmakers, I am loth to believe that the bombardment of hailstorms will ever be practiced or even attempted in the United States, much less encouraged by the intelligent portion of a community. Every effort should be made to combat the spread of the Italian delusion which has been imported into this country by Consul Covert."

FAMOUS PAINTER DEAD.

Edward Moran Passes Away in New York.

New York, June 9.—Edward Moran, the eminent marine and landscape painter, died this afternoon in his apartments and study in Fifth avenue from uremic poison, superinduced by a complication of diseases from which he had been suffering for about a year. Edward Moran was born in England in 1823. When he was 13 years old the family came to America and settled in Maryland. Later they went to Philadelphia, but twenty-five years ago he came to New York, where he has since made his home.

WILL WAIT TILL JUNE 11.

No Development in Machinists' Strike Until Then.

Toronto, Ont., June 9.—Regarding the fixing of a date upon which railway corporations will be asked to sign a paper granting the machinists a nine-hour work day with 12 1/2 per cent increase in wages, President O'Connell said this evening that the matter has practically been disposed of by the convention. A resolution approving of such action has already been passed and the fixing of a day has been referred to the executive committee and will afterwards be submitted to a vote of the association. At any rate, the date will be some day in the future, as the machinists are confining themselves to the present strike and have no desire to borrow fresh trouble. No further developments are expected until the next meeting of manufacturers on June 11.

WILD MAN'S FIGHT WITH TACOMA POLICE

Tacoma, Wash., June 10.—Yesterday afternoon the police were called to arrest a supposed burglar on A street. When they arrived they found the man had entered a house by a rear window. The officers followed, and when the stranger saw their approach he seized a board and pounded it to splinters over their heads. Reinforcements were sent for. The fight being left alone, the man sprang at him with a hammer, but the latter dodged, and Sergeant McCoy, who had just entered, wrenched the hammer from his hand. A desperate fight to put handcuffs on the man followed. The man was endowed with superhuman strength, and was doubled under his breast on the floor, and in spite of the efforts of half a dozen men, he could not be made to give up. Finally Sergeant McCoy managed to wrench the arms and the other cuff was fastened to his wrist.

STREET RAILWAY SOLD.

Twin City Company Passes to New Hands.

Minneapolis, June 9.—The Times tomorrow will say: The control of the Twin City Rapid Transit company, it is stated on good authority, has passed from Thomas Lowrey to a syndicate of Toronto capitalists. Mr. Lowrey was to have sold his single share of the stock of the company.

ITALIANS IN RIOT.

Smashed a Street Car in Chicago and Did Other Damage.

Chicago, June 9.—An attempt to run a street car through a religious procession of Italians today precipitated a riot, in which the windows of the car were smashed and one man injured. A riot call to the Twenty-second street police station brought a wagonload of officers, who saved the motorman and conductor from bodily injury. Sticks and stones were hurled at the car until there was not a whole window left in it. The police restored order with great difficulty, the Italians being bent on getting at the car crew, but the counsel of the priests in the procession averted a more serious conflict.

BANK'S STOLEN GOLD IS DISCOVERED.

Mineral Point, Wis., June 9.—Thirteen thousand dollars more of the gold coin stolen from the First National bank here on May 24 has been recovered. It was the vault of an out-house of a city hotel, about a block from the hotel, at which the prisoner, Stewart Jenett, boarded. It is believed that the detectives obtained information from the prisoner as to the hiding place of the coin. A detective went into the vault and dragged the treasure from its hiding place. This find, and the $3,000 before recovered, comprises all the gold missing from the bank. The bank's Italian delusion which has been imported into this country by Consul Covert. The detectives hope to recover it later.

GO OUT IN SEPTEMBER.

Foreign Troops to Withdraw From Peking.

Peking, June 9.—The Chinese express great satisfaction at the announcement of the intention of the court to return to Peking in September. All the foreign troops, with the exception of the legation guards, are expected to withdraw before the middle of that month, the only troops not already under orders of withdrawal being the Japanese, whose government is sending this note, it is said, however, the Japanese legation that when Japan is absolutely certain the other powers are evacuating, her own troops can be withdrawn on two days' notice.

WOOD WORKERS DECIDE TO STRIKE.

Chicago, June 9.—Members of the Amalgamated Woodworkers' union who are employed in saloon, store and office furniture manufacturing, met tonight to decide to go on strike July 1 if their demand for a minimum scale of wages of $1.25 an hour and a nine-hour day shall not be granted. The manufacturers submitted a proposition to the union making the wages 10 per cent on the scale and the men claim this is a rate of 10 per cent on the scale and, if necessary, they will strike to force the manufacturers to accept it.

PART AND PARCEL. DAINITY box, an exquisite wrapper, a delicate color, and a clinging fragrance—yet all these will not cleanse the skin! Has it ever occurred to you that you pay big prices for these things? Do you care to buy five articles or do you require only one—a strictly pure soap. Remember you pay for perfume whenever you buy it mixed with soap. Don't you think it is wiser to make your own selection of perfume and buy it separately? It is certainly the method adopted by most persons of cultivated taste, those who bathe with pure Ivory Soap. IVORY SOAP—99 4/10 PER CENT PURE.

For the Dog, Traveler and the Baby.

(New York Evening Post.) Novelities in the trunk and bag departments are first, a dog carrier, planned to smuggle a pet dog on the train past the sharp-eyed gateman. This is apparently a legitimate hand satchel, not unlike a Gladstone bag; it is padded inside and provided with ventilating flaps, so that the small occupant can be both cozy and comfortable, and if he will only keep still his presence will not be suspected. Another novelty is a small dress suit case that is rubber lined and intended for trips to the beach, and particularly for trips away from the beach with wet bathing suits. A third novelty is perhaps the greatest convenience of all, as it carries that omnipresent luggage—a baby. A young mother seen in the street car recently attracted much attention by her use of one of these baby carriers. The child, who was about a year old, was fitted comfortably into an arrangement of wicker that was a cross between a chair seat with a sloping back and a sort of cradle basket, and it was neither so conspicuous nor cumbersome as its description would indicate. A nickel handle arched over the baby without interfering in the least with his comfort or comfort. While sitting in the car the basket rested easily in the mother's lap. As she rose to leave, she bent over and snapped to the handle a clasp attached to a leather strap that went over her shoulder, carrying the child away and snapping to the handle and evidently perfect comfort to the youngster.

A Bogus Nobleman in Austria.

(Chicago Tribune.) It is not only in the United States that people are taken in by bogus noblemen. Thus at Vienna, the Archduke Francis Ferdinand, heir presumptive to the throne, has just resigned the office of president of the Imperial Society of Austrian Literature owing to the discovery that the vice president of the society and its executive had no right to the title of Baron Manfred von Maderny, which he has borne for a long time. It turns out that he is the son of a peasant of Julich, on the Rhine; that he migrated as a young man to the United States, and when I try to escape them theme-goblins and college-nixies of all sorts pursue me until I wish—oh, may I be forgiven the wicked wish—that I might smash the idols I came to worship.

sumed at the time of that officer's death. There are likewise charges of forgery which have been made against the pseudo baron, and he has left the country in hot haste, and may be expected shortly to appear in America, where he is in order to appreciate the sensation which has been created at Vienna by his scandal. It must be borne in mind that the society of which he was vice president was one of the most aristocratic in Vienna, to which not only large numbers of the nobility, but likewise several members of the imperial family belonged, and under the circumstances it seems almost incredible that the bogus character of his title should have remained so long unrevealed.

Helen Keller's View of College Life. Helen Keller contributes several themes to a recent issue of the Itadcliffe Magazine, one of the most interesting being college in which she describes how college life impresses her. She says: "There are disadvantages, I find, in going to college. The one I feel most is lack of privacy. I used to have time to think, to reflect my mind, and I would sit of an evening and listen to the inner melodies of the spirit which in college there is no time to commune with one's thoughts. One goes to college to learn, not to think, it seems."
