

Clem Turville Signs Articles in Help for Women Matrimonial Match.

If Clem Turville, the speedy bicycle rider, was no faster in covering miles and fractions on the saucer than he has been in letting his friends know he is married, he wouldn't get a "look-in" on any part of the money. Any time Clem has been an honored member of the Ancient Order of Benefactors for the last two and a half months, but many of his friends who began writing will learn the news when they see it in The Herald.

The bride was Miss Rhoda Day, a sprightly young woman of Bridgeton City. She was very popular among her acquaintances, and she sped straight over the tape into Clem's heart the first time he saw her. Clem had been "gearing up" on a bicycle built for "him" for he reported that Miss Day would "hook sweet" upon the newlywed. As a pacemaker for the Turville thought he could get a long way further and for a great deal worse.

So the life match was made, but Manager Ricard of the Salt Lake track was not notified so he could advertise the event. Instead, Turville kept mighty quiet and so did Miss Day. When they thought it was time for the bride to keep him from using "magnum" to Farmington. There were no timers, no enthusiastic multitude, no "hook sweet" on the newlywed.

The starter was the clerk in the Davis county court house and Clem is said to have handed him a ten-dollar bill to keep him from using "magnum" to Farmington. This happened June 24. Now the best regulated "clerk" get punctured at times and this one was no exception. The new, race-leader out and Clem will be kept busy for a few days receiving congratulations.

He says the only reason he didn't tell it at once was the fear of the "joshing" he might receive from his saucer contemporaries.

Mr. and Mrs. Turville are now living on South Main street near Fifth South. Clem has already arranged for a tidy little home in Philadelphia, where he will live with his brother, Charles, his brother, is accused of helping out the match at Farmington.

Verize the event. Instead, Turville kept mighty quiet and so did Miss Day. When they thought it was time for the bride to keep him from using "magnum" to Farmington. There were no timers, no enthusiastic multitude, no "hook sweet" on the newlywed.

HOW THE PRESIDENT WAS SAFE GUARDED EVERY POSSIBLE PRECAUTION WAS TAKEN AT BUFFALO. DANGER WAS REALIZED BUT CZOLGOSZ WAS TOO CRAFTY FOR SHERWODE DETECTIVES.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 7.—Secretary Wilson desires the specter to understand that the possible presence in Buffalo was taken to prevent the awful tragedy of yesterday. The secretary made the following statement today to an Associated Press correspondent:

"Last Thursday, when the president and Mrs. Wilson were in Buffalo, the exposition I was impressed with the ease with which some evil-disposed person might have secured access to the president and Mrs. Wilson. The darkness between the flashes of the pyrotechnics and have done the president bodily harm. Secretary Cortelyou was slightly injured, which was the matter over at great length and as we sat on the benches watching the parade. The criminal case was destroyed by the dread of what might happen.

"Secretary Cortelyou and I went over carefully the precautions which are always taken with the public appearance of the president and he said that the only danger which he suggested or devised he would employ them. We spoke of the reception at the exposition I was impressed with the ease with which some evil-disposed person might have secured access to the president and Mrs. Wilson. W. G. FILER'S POPULARITY.

Employees at Annie Laurie Show Their Esteem.

It was a jolly party that returned from the Annie Laurie bonanza at Glori Mountain last night and Walter F. Filer, who as manager of the property turned it over to his successor, Charles L. Rader, on Thursday last, was happily received by the employees.

On Thursday night at the officers' lodge, the miners, mill men and all the other employees of the company met to pay their respects to the retiring manager and to emphasize their appreciation of his treatment of them and the regret they felt at his leaving the mine.

The retiring manager, who has been in charge of the mine since the Annie Laurie is gold and set with a 2 1/2 karat diamond. The intrinsic value of the mine was estimated at $100,000.

In the party who visited the mine were F. L. Kimberley, the chief owner, W. G. Filer, W. F. Snyder, P. J. Donohue, R. C. Kerens, J. St. Louis, H. B. Haveland of Duluth and J. W. Lynterth of Sharon, Pa. Mr. Kimberley, who has been at the mine only a very few times since the property was purchased from W. F. Snyder, was more than pleased with what was shown him on this trip and estimated that more than a million dollars may hereafter be acquired in Utah, he will turn to the Annie Laurie as his "first love" every time.

Of the mine, P. J. Donohue, the expert, says it is a marvel. At one place he saw a breast of one foot high, four feet wide and 200 feet long, which was all blocked out ready for breaking down and a careful sampling of the entire mass, he said, had shown it to contain an average value of over $40 per ton. The No. 4 tunnel has just encountered a fine body of ore and Mr. Donohue says that more than a million dollars may hereafter be acquired in Utah, he will turn to the Annie Laurie as his "first love" every time.

The actual loss to the company will be a much larger figure, owing to the destruction of so many winter cars, which will be replaced, according to the statement of Secretary Reed, for some six or nine months, but they will be replaced by the newest and latest cars. The loss of many cars at this time has handicapped the Rapid Transit lines very seriously, but arrangements have been made by which cars from the Salt Lake lines will be used to fill out the shortage on occasions where they are needed.

Street car officials and insurance agents visited the scene of the fire yesterday afternoon to look over the place, but it was stated last night they were not yet able to make any adjustment of the losses. The insurance companies holding policies and the amounts of such are as follows: Firemen's Fund, $5,000; Continental, $5,000; North American, $7,000; Western, $7,000; British Union & National, $2,500; Hamburg-Bremen, $2,500; Atlas of London, $2,000; Commercial Union, $2,000; Actina, $3,000; Home of Utah, $3,500; American, $1,000; American Central, $2,000; Queen, $1,000; Providence, Washington, $1,000.

During the progress of the fire, the Short Line freight train ran over and cut two lines of fire hose that were being used to plant trees in the park. They placed a light on the firemen show that the hose was stretched across it, but that the light must have been on the ground.
