

THEY DENY THAT IT IS A SCHEME

King's Friends Firmly Convinced of His Innocence.

GATHERING MORE EVIDENCE

MOTION FOR A NEW TRIAL WILL BE MADE MONDAY.

THOSE interested in the establishment of the innocence of the condemned man, Robert L. King, feel that they are now rapidly and surely removing the web of convicting evidence from about him, and wishing it closely about the Colorado prisoner, John Strange. While the authorities were not able yesterday to secure any further evidence of a sensational nature, they expect to have in their possession within the next two or three days evidence from Colorado that is more convincing than any yet secured, and other proof from the end of the line just as conclusive as any yet secured.

BOYCOTTERS STILL ACTIVE

Keep Pickets in Front of Non-union Restaurants.

WITH the police holding the vagrancy law over the heads of the restaurant boycotters, the union pickets are still active in their efforts to prevent people from patronizing the house as on the day previous. As these two men were sober, the police were powerless to take them into custody, but James Coyle, one of the men who acted as a sentry on the previous day, was placed under arrest on a charge of vagrancy. He was lodged in jail and is still there as instructions were given to make his jail a test case.

SCORE ARMY CANTEN.

Women's Christian Temperance Union Discusses Subject.

The topic of discussion at the meeting yesterday afternoon of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, held at the residence of Mrs. E. Goodwin, was "The Army Canteen." Several papers written on the "canteen" by General Miles and other prominent army officers have had experience with the soldiers' saloon. In the papers the canteen was heartily condemned and the reasons why it, as it was claimed, was a drawback to the army and its morals, were clearly and extensively set forth.
