

AN END AT THE BIER OF FRIEND

Touching Scenes at Funeral of Miss Russell.

DR. PADEN'S STRONG TALK

BAD MAN WITH GUN MORE DANGEROUS THAN SMALLPOX.

BY the hands of newly-made friends in this city, several thousand miles from home, Miss Lottie Russell was yesterday laid to an eternal rest.

There were many touching scenes. Just before the services commenced, Mrs. Russell, the mother of McCaslin's victim, was brought down stairs from her sick bed and allowed to view the remains.

Was Dramatic Incident.

A dramatic incident occurred at the funeral of the deceased, Mrs. Hedy Von Pittner, who was in the ill-fated party last Friday night, was asked to sing, and, mastering her grief for a moment, she started the "Massie Ave. Maria."

Bold Thief Throws Woman Down and Tears Diamonds From Her Ears.

Emma Wilson is a sadder but wiser girl today, as a result of an experience she had with a gay devil who used his most seductive allurements to separate her from her diamonds and money.

Dr. Paden's Sermon.

"Life is unending. Death is but an episode in our existence. We cannot die and be done with it. We cannot cause others to die and be done with it. It is only by accepting that we can put an end to our lives and have it all over with."

Should Be Quarantined.

"The bad man with a gun in the past twelve months has done more of harm than smallpox could do. The bad man has no right to be free in the street with a gun."
