KENTUCKY AND EWEN.

THE GENERAL PUBLIC will now have some understanding of the reluctance with which witnesses against the Kentucky feudists go into court with their stories.

All of Ewen's property consisted of a farm at Jackson. He had been warned that he would be ruined if he persisted in his determination to take the witness stand.

Unless some such action as that indicated is taken by the legislature or the people of the state, Kentucky can never hope to rid herself of the feudists.

The state whose interests it has cost him so much to uphold will be unfair, ungenerous and unjust if it fails to restore his little fortune.

Kentucky cannot afford to deal otherwise than generously with Captain Ewen.

SPRING FEVER A DISEASE.

WRITING IN GOOD HEALTH, Dr. J. H. Kellogg does the best he can to promote the spring fever industry.

"The extraordinary effort required by the forces of the body to maintain animal heat during the winter season makes a great draft on the vitality, and when spring comes nature recognizes the necessity for rest and opportunity for recuperation of the vital powers.

"From the above facts it is evident that instead of undertaking by artificial means to produce a fictitious feeling of appearance of health or vigor, one should, on the contrary, seek to follow nature's suggestion by refraining from violent exertion and by the adoption of such means as will conserve the vital forces, avoiding an undue expenditure of energy.

If Dr. Kellogg is not now a member of the Very Ancient and Honorable Order of the Sons of Rest, he should be initiated without delay.

New York society women at Newport have started the fad of going bareheaded.

IF THE GOVERNMENT REPORTS of sheep losses are correct, and we are sorry to use the "if" because the government statisticians are widely at variance with western experts.

Strangely enough, Montana takes the lowest loss percentage of all, the figure for that state being just 7.2 per cent.

Here in Utah, in spite of the disease known as "bighead," and other causes, the loss has been far below the first figures.

This is gratifying news to all who are interested in the material prosperity of the state. Our prosperity does not depend, by any means, upon the prosperity of the sheep men, but it is good to see them prosperous because others will prosper with them.

A NONOGENARIAN LOVER. AN OLD MAN'S FANCY has just as much right as a young man's fancy to turn to thoughts of love in the spring or any other time.

Paul S. Brown was 96 years old when, after some years of widowhood, he determined to acquire another helpmate.

"He got into no more scrapes than a man of 25 would find a wife, provided he sailed the same sea," said the court, in handing down an opinion.

"There was no suggestion that he did not marry the proper person. There is nothing in the course he took that would indicate a lack of mental capacity.

The contest was ordered thrown out of court and the widow of the aged Lothario will receive the portion of his estate that she was intended to receive under the will.

"The National Association of Dancing Masters has decided to abandon the two-step after declaring it a 'mongrel invention.'"

"On the day of the massacre," says a Kishinev dispatch, "Chief of Police Ichazno was smoking a cigarette."

The New Jersey baseball fan who went crazy over a 1-0 game surely had a light head to start with.

President Roosevelt is said to favor Governor Taft of the Philippines for the vice presidency next year.

A Wyoming girl killed six wolf puppies and fought off the parent wolves at the same time the other day.

SPARKS

Fishing in Sanpete. "Ay tank ve skal to fashin' go," said Axel Petersen.

"Da paper say da fashin' law it skal be out today." "Ay skal hav' a fashin' trip to pass da time away."

"Run, Soren, round da settlement an' say you fashin' best." "Dat everyone mus' drop his vork an' mak' a holiday."

Not ever in its history had Sanpete seen the like—Over half its population strung out along the pike.

The horses trod on babies and made the babies cry. The mothers got so thirsty they drank the whole creek dry.

"Twas bad for Axel Petersen when someone thought of him; The frenzied mob decided to rend him from his limb."

By three and four and couples the people straggled home. Their curses loud and bitter, reached up to heaven's dome.

"Ay skal gif no mor' fashin' trip," said Axel to his wife. "Ay tank bay he—Ay'm lucky to be har' wit' ma life."

An Indian half-breed at Marysville has just been given six years in the penitentiary for stealing forty-eight half-pint bottles of "General Funston" whiskey.

A New York court has decided that a man is not necessarily insane because he chooses to get married, even if he is 90 years old.

The Chicago Record-Herald gravely announces that "woman's perception is keener, her memory better, her industry greater and her general capacity for absorbing knowledge is beyond that of her masculine competitor."
