

COMMENT ON THE KIEL INCIDENT

Visit of the American Squadron an Important Event.

EMPEROR WAS APPRECIATIVE

WISHED TO GIVE THREE JACK TARS A PRESENT.

Berlin, June 27.—The newspapers of Berlin print the speeches of Emperor William and Ambassador Tower at the Kiel banquet last night, mostly without comment.

The National Zeitung regards them as important demonstrations for the promotion of German-American relations. The Tageblatt thinks the speeches breathe cordiality, sympathy and restored confidence, but the paper reverts to the Coughlin and Dewey incidents to show that the "friendly spirit of the American navy for Germany" is a new thing and is due to President Roosevelt's energetic enterprise.

The Kreuz Zeitung regards them as important demonstrations for the promotion of German-American relations. The Tageblatt thinks the speeches breathe cordiality, sympathy and restored confidence, but the paper reverts to the Coughlin and Dewey incidents to show that the "friendly spirit of the American navy for Germany" is a new thing and is due to President Roosevelt's energetic enterprise.

The Nauste Nachrichten says: "It is self-evident that our American guests can be sure of a good reception on all sides. The people, as well as the government, wish for the best relations with the United States."

At the conclusion of the breakfast at Kiel, the emperor informed Ambassador Tower that he wished to give a medal to each of the three marines who stood behind his chair.

"Then," said the emperor, "I would like to give them watches, just as souvenirs."

Admiral Cotton, after the emperor left the ship, told the three marines, in the presence of the officers of the ship, what the emperor had said.

The emperor has presented the Kearsarge with a silver punchbowl and cover about sixteen inches high and more than two feet wide.

At about the same time that Cordon lost her jewel, Miss Frances Ring of the same company reported that she had lost her valuable diamond rings while bathing. Pincer mining was resorted to and after a search the rings were found by one of the party sparkling on the sandy bottom of the lake.
