

WELLS FAVORS PURE POLITICS

Governor Speaks on Patriotism in Public Schools.

DUTIES OF THE TEACHERS

SUPERINTENDENTS ARE ALSO ADDRESSED BY MR. GOESEN.

"Patriotism in the Public Schools" was the subject discussed by Governor Heber M. Wells and Rev. Elmer J. Goesen at the biennial convention of the city and county public school superintendents of the state of Utah.

"Every patriot should be a politician and every politician a patriot" was the text of Governor Wells' address. He placed great stress on the fact that the politicians of today are grasping for offices for their own personal benefit.

Mr. Goesen, superintendent of the public schools, was the first to speak. He placed great stress on the fact that the politicians of today are grasping for offices for their own personal benefit.

Mr. Goesen spoke on the growth of education among the ancient nations, and the most advanced ruled the world. In speaking of the qualifications of a teacher he said: "They should have a broad soul, a healthy mind and an inspiring personality."

Music and Drama

A fine audience filled the Congressional church last evening on the occasion of the first public appearance of Walter A. Wallace since his return from abroad.

Next in interest to the singer was Mr. Wallace, than whom no greater favorite comes before the Salt Lake audience. His first number was the "Fantasia Appassionata" by Chopin.

Another artist new to most of the audience last night was Spencer Clawson, Jr., whose sympathetic accompaniments were well appreciated.
