ODDS ON PARKER.

WE CONTEMPLATE with the utmost sadness an election wager that has just been made in St. Louis. If Judge Alton B. Parker is elected president of these United States next November one American State has pledged himself to shut off this fatal coal by leaving from the highest point of the Eads bridge.

Democracy should cheer up mightily over the outlook. And, lest tender-hearted people should vote for Roosevelt, not because they like Roosevelt, but in order to save the life of Pates, it is proper for us to say that there is about as much likelihood of his paying the bet, if he loses, as there is that he will sail straight to the moon in a chariot of fire.

THE HEALTH SITUATION.

WHILE THERE is little occasion for serious alarm over the typhoid situation it would be well for housekeepers to take every possible precaution. There are only thirty-eight cases in the city now as against sixty at this time last year.

REPUBLICANS AND TEXAS.

ANNOUNCEMENT has been made of the Republican determination to carry Texas at the approaching presidential election. We may say at the outset that if the efforts of Chairman Cortelyou along this line are successful there won't be a single electoral vote cast for Judge Parker when the electoral college meets next February.

THE COLONIAL SYSTEM.

A GOOD MANY people take it for granted that the only evil arising from the present subjection of the Philippines to arbitrary rule is the effect on the Filipinos, the suppression of the right to self-government, and the departure from our own traditions inherent in the system.

COAL SUPPLY DWINDLES.

THAT THERE is real reason for the fear expressed by some observers that within a comparatively short period of time, say within a century or two or three, the coal supply of the world will be exhausted, is evidenced by a bulletin recently issued by the United States geological survey on the production of coal in the United States during 1903.

In the days of North and George III it was common to hear statesmen of a certain type say colonists were not fit for self-government and never would be; that they were a rabble of sedulous farmers, whose only purpose in life was to make trouble.

SOCIETY.

The first collation of the autumn season was given last evening at the University club. The members and their friends enjoyed the event following an informal dinner. The collation was led by Miss Allison Maclean and Hugh Satterlee and Miss Laura Sherman and Lieutenant John A. Berry.
