FOOTBALL GOSSIP ON THE LOCAL TEAMS.

As the football season progresses it is plainly evident that the University of Utah is developing a great team up on the east bench.

The result of the game Saturday between the Aggies and Stanford is a long way from gratifying to the partisans of the latter institution.

Utah has met five teams in all this year, composed of grown-up men—that is, not counting the high school teams, which should be no more than practice games with the university.

The score of 37 to 0 against the Aggies of the Stanford team Saturday would lead one to believe that Stanford has a champion team and it will not give Utah 23 to 0 when Utah was in no condition whatever to play.

Now that it has been definitely settled that the varsity and the Aggies will meet this season, the latter will be one of the biggest attractions of the year.

When it is taken into consideration that the East Siders have lost two years of when to pick from this is a remarkably strong showing.
