

HAWAIIAN GROUP HAS BIG FUTURE

F. M. McGrew of Honolulu Talks Interestingly of Islands.

SUCCESS DUE TO AMERICA

PEOPLE ARE THRIFTY, ENERGETIC AND QUICK TO LEARN.

One of the interesting men who drop into Salt Lake City from time on their way from coast to coast came in yesterday in the person of F. M. McGrew of Honolulu, who is on his way to Washington to consult with the state and treasury departments concerning conditions in the Hawaiian Islands.

Being an employee of the government, Mr. McGrew is restrained from saying anything concerning departmental work on the islands, but he was free to say some interesting things concerning the changed conditions since the United States acquired title to the Paradise of the Pacific.

"There was a time, years ago," said Mr. McGrew, "when the natives of the Sandwich Islands looked askance at all things American, but since they have come under the domination of the United States they have realized that their position socially, morally, physically and politically have been greatly improved, and today they are reaping the fruits of the annexation. The greater part of the islands is given over to agricultural pursuits, principally to the cultivation of the sugar cane. There are numerous plantations, and the majority of them are incorporated, the stock being bought and sold the same as mining stock. All the labor on these plantations is performed by Japs, Koreans, Chinese, Portuguese and Kanakas."

What "Kanakas" Means.

"The people of the states, as a rule, have a wrong idea as to the meaning of the word Kanaka. It really means 'working man,' just the same as 'dago' is applied to the working class of Italy. But the Kanakas of the Sandwich Islands must not be considered as being as intellectually inferior as the average dago. As a matter of fact, there is a less racial prejudice against them, cannot read or write than can be found among the other races of the earth. As a general rule they are thrifty after knowledge, and it is really surprising to see the way in which they grasp the intricacies of the English language. There are young men in Honolulu today occupying clerical positions whose handwriting and penmanship compare favorably with the copperplate chirography of experts throughout the United States. And these young men only a few years ago were practically ignorant of the English tongue. This is a fair illustration of the progress the natives have made in conforming to what is generally termed 'advanced civilization.'"

American Capital and Energy.

"The industries of the islands since the introduction of American capital and energy cannot be easily computed. Several large canneries have been built and the product from them, mostly put up by native labor, finding a market all over the world. In fresh fruits the islands are doing quite a business with the cities along the Pacific coast. Hawaiian bananas are a food product in the San Francisco market, and other fruit that has had a wonderful sale during the past few years, even going as far as New York, is the 'alligator pear.' This pear derives its name from the peculiar formation of the skin. The 'algebra tree' is another of the valuable assets of the islands. From this tree there is produced a rod from five to six inches in length. The beans are sweet and are much relished by horses and cattle. The bean, or rather the tree, was first introduced many years ago by one of the pioneer Catholic priests. He planted it on what is commonly termed the leeward side of the main island and its development thereafter was simply wonderful.

"Koa wood is another of the valuable products of the islands. This wood is principally used in the manufacture of furniture, and because of its durability and the ease with which it will take and maintain a high polish, it is much sought for. It commands a good price, and to a certain extent rivals rosewood and mahogany.

founded by Mrs. Bernice Bishop, who is connected through marriage with the late royal family. As a matter of fact, the school proper is composed of two structures, one on either side of the main road. One is for boys and the other for girls, and the native children have the advantage of as good teaching in all the grades of school life as can be found in the best schools in the United States. Mrs. Bishop has also founded Bishop's Museum, an institution in which are displayed products and freaks of nature from all the South Sea Islands. In years to come the collection of curios there displayed will prove of great value to the seeker after knowledge, inasmuch as many of the specimens represent types of life now becoming extinct. If for no other reason than this, Mrs. Bishop's name ought to be honored in American history, for she has done much to perpetuate the keen desire of the American spirit and progressiveness.

Natives Are Robust and Strong.

"Physically, the natives of the Sandwich Islands are of the highest type. The men and women are robust and strong, and what we would call hard work does not seem to distress them in the least. Morally they are far ahead of the people of other tropical zones. Whatever vices they did have were introduced among them by foreigners, but those same vices are being eradicated by the greater force of education and intellectual improvement.

partment of agriculture. Mr. Hayes exhibited a plaster of paris cast, showing the foot prints of the bears killed. "I would like a duplicate of that," said the president.

President Gains One Day.

The presidential special will leave Glenwood Springs at 5 a. m. tomorrow. A daylight run will be made to Denver in order to give the party an opportunity to enjoy the scenery. The train will stop ten minutes at Hanging bridge, one of the prettiest views on the Denver & Rio Grande railroad. A special car will be attached to the train which will take to Washington the dog "Skip." This animal is a small black and tan terrier and is the most active animal of the chase. He has a habit of getting on the backs of the horses and skipping from one to another. When the other dogs are tired and still running about investigating every thing that excites his curiosity. Other souvenirs the president is taking are pictures snapped on the hunt by Mr. Stewart. They show the camps, the trails, the party in action, the dogs and the game after it had fallen. It is a private collection which will never be published unless in some literary work the president may at some time conclude to put out.

Both St. Mark's and St. Paul's choirs attended in force.

SECOND DEGREE MURDER.

Malcolm Jury at Glasgow, Mont., Returns Verdict.

Great Falls, Mont., May 7.—A special to the Tribune from Glasgow, Mont., says that the jury in the Malcolm murder case returned a verdict this morning of murder in the second degree. The jury had been out all night and in the first half-hour of the jury process for murder in the first degree. Malcolm was accused of killing a rancher at whose house he was staying for the night. There were no witnesses present but the circumstantial evidence was strong and Malcolm admitted the killing after being in jail for a time. He claimed self-defense, but the defense rested its case mainly on the contention that the murderer was of weak mind. The verdict gives satisfaction, as the people in the locality where the murder took place contend that whether sane or insane Malcolm was not a safe man to be at large.

PAINFUL PERIODS

AMERICAN WOMEN FIND RELIEF

The Case of Miss Irene Crosby Is One of Thousands of Cures Made by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How many women realize that menstruation is the balance wheel of a woman's life, and while no woman is entirely free from periodical suffering, it is not the plan of nature that women should suffer so severely.

Miss Irene Crosby

Thousands of American women, however, have found relief from all monthly suffering by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it is the most thorough female regulator known to medical science. It cures the condition which causes so much discomfort and robs menstruation of its terrors. Miss Irene Crosby, of 313 Charlton Street East Savannah, Ga., writes: "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a true friend to woman. It has been of great benefit to me, curing me of irregular and painful menstruation when everything else had failed, and I gladly recommend it to other suffering women."

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular menstruation, backache, bloating (or flatulence), leucorrhoea, falling, inflammation or ulceration of the uterus, ovarian troubles, that "bearing-down" feeling, dizziness, faintness, indigestion, nervous prostration or the blues, should take immediate action to ward off the serious consequences, and be restored to perfect health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and then write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for further free advice. Thousands have been cured by so doing.
