A PARODY ON COMPETITION.

The idea of competition between Pat Moran and the Barber Asphalt Paving company is as humorous as the ordinary professional footrace. No matter which way the race goes, the public is elected to lose; no matter who gets the paving contracts, the public is quite certain it will get the worst of the deal.

When the bids for paving various streets were opened on Wednesday it appeared that Moran and the Barber people were bidding against each other. Curiously enough, the Barber bids were lower than Moran's, and the Barber concern proposed to use Utah asphalt while Moran specified California asphalt, which is not genuine asphalt, but a distilled product which serves fairly well as a substitute.

Possibly Salt Lake is willing to stand for such a game, particularly with the "reformers" in charge who have so far handled the city's business as if they represented Moran personally; but even the Barber company has found a limit to public patience with such performances elsewhere, and is crowding it a little strong here.

Salt Lake has about reached that stage, thanks to the benevolence of the leaders of the council and board of public works, and it behooves the people to keep an eye on the game for their own education and protection. Competitive bids under the present regime are a roaring farce, a parody on the real thing, a soft snap for the favored contractors and a disgrace to the administration which is responsible.

THOMAS JEFFERSON.

This evening at the residence of Mrs. S. A. Kenner, 834 Eighth East street, the Woman's Democratic club and the friends of the organization will celebrate the birthday anniversary of the first and greatest Democrat, Thomas Jefferson. One hundred and sixty-three years ago today Jefferson was born at Shadwell, Albemarle county, Virginia. He died at his Monticello home on Independence day, 1826, after a long life that was full of usefulness to his country.

puts certain men on earth at certain times to do certain work. Jefferson was needed during the exact years in which he lived. The nation was in the constructive period. A tiny ship of state was being launched in perilous waters. The monarchies of the world were regarding the experiment with jealous eyes. All of them were hoping for a shipwreck, expecting one, and all were anxiously watching for a chance to secure for themselves salvage from the anticipated disaster.

God gave the nation Jefferson and Washington and others like them to steer the little craft safely through the troubled sea. Had it not been for Jefferson's steadfast opposition the whole form of the government might have been changed; had it not been for his able efforts the republic might have become a monarchy, at least of a limited sort. To Jefferson, perhaps more than to any other of the country's makers, we owe the fact that the United States is today the greatest of republics.

AN UNLUCKY DAY.
If anything goes wrong with you today there will be a splendid reason for it. This is Friday and the 13th of the month. If this sentence has thirteen words in it don't read it before tomorrow. If you do you will certainly have bad luck. Friday is an unlucky day under all circumstances, but when it is combined with the figure 13, then be careful. If you see a ladder walk around it. If you spill any salt don't fall to throw it over your left shoulder. Wait until the street car stops before trying to get on it or off it.

By no means should you inaugurate any business venture. If a man offers to pay you $13, refuse to accept the money. If you owe $13 to anybody, be careful not to pay it. We must insist on the latter precaution. It is plain common sense. Not only would you have bad luck with the money, sure. So it would be an act of common decency to refuse to pay it. In case you are a drinking man, don't take 13 drinks. If you should so far forget yourself as to be guilty of such a lapse, drink 14 drinks. Your wife wouldn't scold you any more for 14 than for 13 and you'd dodge the hoodoo.

So many men have been hanged on Friday that it would be a good idea for you to be watchful against this possibility today. If you see anybody approaching you with a rope, give him a wide berth or say to him in loud, clear tones, "23." The man may not be intending to hang you, but on Friday, the 13th, one can't afford to take chances. Finally, stay off of street cars that have 13 passengers on them and don't ride on a car that is 13 minutes late. If you are not sufficiently forewarned by this time it is decidedly not our fault. We wash our hands of you.

A Georgia woman has been kissed by Andy Carnegie and pronounces him a much more satisfactory osculator than Captain Richmond Pearson Hobson. If Mrs. Carnegie ever meets that woman there will certainly be some frigidity in the atmosphere.

Beveridge, the boy wonder, made a speech at the Indiana convention the other day. Beveridge feels more at home there than in a discussion of the rate bill. He hasn't opened his mouth on that subject as yet.

A Texas critic says the Bernhardt tent show was a failure because there was no offer of $10 to any man who would ride a trick mule twice around the ring. That does seem a serious drawback.

SHERRICK, THE REPUBLICAN FORMER TREASURER OF INDIANA, DID NOT ATTEND THE STATE CONVENTION AT INDIANAPOLIS.

Mr. Sherrick was, unavoidably detained in the penitentiary at Jeffersonville.

All the electricity that was used in the recent electrical show would not have the effect of reviving the Republican party in this city and county.

James A. Bailey, the circus man, has gone to a place where the people cannot be humbugged.

Are Mr. Moran and the Barber Asphalt company The Heavenly Twins? Ogen is also going to clean up. Now will Salt Lakers all kindly get busy?

FOOLISH MAN! Why Didn't He Go To Lakewood?
Senator Burton has eight of the ablest and highest priced lawyers in the country arrayed in his cause, which is doing exceedingly well for a poor man.
