YOUNG CORBETT IS BADLY BEATEN

Ogden Sheriff Stops Bout in Fifth Round to Prevent Further Punishment.

BIG CROWD SEES CONTEST

MINISTERS BUSY BUT AUTHORITIES KNOW THEIR BUSINESS.

(Special by Staff Correspondent.)

Ogden, April 30.—Battered into a helpless condition by the terrific onslaughts of "Fighting Dick" Hyland, Young Corbett tonight for the fourth time in his life since he became a world's champion, drank the bitter draught of defeat. True to his word with the Ministerial association, Deputy Sheriff Wilson stepped into the ring and prevented Hyland from administering further punishment to an already helpless foe. It happened after one minute's fighting in the fifth round had taken place, and would have happened in the preceding round but for the timely sound of the gong which found Corbett hanging helplessly on the ropes—all but out.

The fight demonstrated one thing beyond a doubt—and that is that Young Corbett was absolutely in no physical condition for the task undertaken this evening. Had he been in his normal condition a different story to tell.

It has often been said that the gilded glare of the red lights will tell on any man. Corbett has tried to prove this was not true. The lesson tonight may not yet be sufficient proof to offend the champion, but to those who sat around the ringside, it means one of two things, either the champion is all in, or the fighters at training were all a bluff.

Hyland's Victory Easy One.

Hyland's victory was probably one of the easiest he has ever had in his life. He was never in danger, and barring the first round when either a timid nature or instruction of his seconds kept him back, the outcome was never in doubt. While all credit possible should be given Hyland for his victory, and it will give him a name in the fighting world, the fact remains that many a fighter could have duplicated the trick under similar circumstances. Hyland's victory was popular. It was clean and it was deserving.

The young San Francisco boy was in condition to take all the Corbett of this evening could give him in a hundred rounds, and take it smilingly. He came out of the contest without a scratch. He was not even working hard, while his opponent, puffed, red and winded, could not raise a hand to fight.

At the opening of the contest, Corbett, with that confidence which has made him one of the most remarkable fighters of his day, stepped to the center of the ring and immediately led with a light left. As Hyland moved to meet him, he stepped in again and his whole appearance seemed to say, "This is a little easy money for me."

Wanted to See Hyland Start.

Forcing the fight at all times, Corbett appeared to be getting to get the best of Hyland, with somewhat anxious looks toward Alex Greggains at the ringside, backed away from the excitement as if afraid to step to the scratch and fight it out. As they went to their corners, the crowd was in doubt. In the second round Corbett adopted the same tactics and found Hyland willing to meet him half way. Here followed the best fighting of the evening. Corbett began to try for his famous overhand right swing for a knockout, but Hyland blocked and clinched the left. At times they stood in the center of the ring and exchanged wallops, until Corbett, realizing the other's strength, gradually backed away from the mixup he himself had started. In a few seconds the same tactics were again adopted and again Hyland would give Corbett blow for blow.

Third Sees End of Fight.

It was not until the third round that the end was in sight. From this point on it was the man climbing to the top in the game of bluff who forced the man going down to realize what it meant to be up against a better man. Corbett did nothing but stall and clinch, out of which he came with wild left and right swings for the jaw, which did not land and which did not have steam enough to do business. The crowd had landed. Near the end of the fourth, Corbett, all in, was forced to a neutral corner where Hyland showered rights and lefts on Corbett's head and body, protected as best the enubly champion could do with weakened arms far defense. At last Corbett sank to the ropes, the mind still alive and willing to continue, but the flesh too weak to resist. The crowd started to shout as Referee Donaldson pulled Hyland away, not hearing the going which prolonged Corbett's chances until the final round. Coming up with a faltering step, Corbett again showed his willingness to fight it out, and for fully a minute withstood the onslaught of Hyland's endeavors. Again he was forced to the ropes, huddling up and covering and was ready to sink to the floor for good. However, Deputy Sheriff Barlow Wilson stepped into the ring and ordered the fight stopped.

Not a word was heard against the officer's actions. Corbett was whipped to the floor by the force of the blow and to the satisfaction of himself. To have continued would have been useless and do business in case the boxing contest assumed the aspect of a prize fight.

Ogden Has Ministers.

Ogden has a Ministerial association. That body of gentlemen took exception to the contest this evening. As in Salt Lake warrants were gotten out to stop the "prize fight." However, Ogden seems to have a different set of public officials to distinguish between a boxing contest and a prize fight. This talk went on until Sheriff Wilson was there with his John Doe and Richard Roe documents ready to do business in case the boxing contest assumed the aspect of a prize fight.

There are fully 1,000 people living in Ogden, and they are all in the habit of Wilson has the dope right. He agrees with them all and did his duty and stood the affair on its right side. It came to distinguishing the fine point between a boxing contest and a prize fight, the Ogden officials can give them all orders and spies.

Game of Biff as It Is.

Then came a second preliminary. This time Kid Tex and Kid Opie were putting up a contest worth looking at far from Salt Lake as Brigham City to see. In the second round, when everything was moving along nicely, as the game of biff goes, both executing some clever work. Tex lunged a left swing on the jaw and Opie went down and out. Some one said this was the contest had reached the stage of a prize fight. Deputy Wilson seemed a little worried for the only time during the evening, but Manager Donaldson, equal to the occasion, called Opie back from his training rooms for exhibition purposes. It was probably three minutes after the haymaker had landed and Opie, fresh as a spring chicken, hopped into the center of the stage and smiled. Some one said this was done to show any proachers who might be present that Opie was not knocked out. The crowd had its own opinion and Wilson had the right dope as he, too, only smiled.

The crowd, which was made up largely of Salt Lakers, had nothing but a good word to say for Ogden. Harry Pattison was warmly welcomed by the crowd, and capturing the bout. W. W. Bliner was the master of ceremonies, and had a successful evening handing out a few "hot shots" at Salt Lake as a sporting town. The Salt Lakers agreed with him,

Cleveland, O., April 30.—The largest crowd ever at League park attended the opening game here today. St. Louis won in the ninth when Nurdy was baffling for Peltz, drove in two runs with two out. Score: R. H. E. Cleveland..... 3 8 2 St. Louis..... 4 11 1

Seventy-five Shooters to Take Part in the Blue Rock Tournament.

Seventy-five trap shooters will participate in the blue rock tournament which will take place on the local gun club grounds near Popperston place on Wednesday and Thursday. Among the shooters are the best in the country and it is expected to be the best tournament ever held in the inter-mountain country. Herman Hirshey of Minneapolis, the world's champion live bird shooter, has come all the way from Texas to take part in the tournament. Hirshey won the championship at Kansas City in 1902, when he beat 49 men. Mr. Hirshey killed eighty-eight birds, which is all he shot at during the meet. Charles Plank of Denver, Hood Waters of Denver, W. F. Scott, game warden of Montana, John F. Cowan and W. S. Doty will also shoot during the two days' meet.

Ogden has gathered a squad of a dozen men, and reports reached Manager Harry Keefe last night that at least fifteen men would come from Pocatello and Idaho Falls to shoot in the tournament. Salt Lake is well represented, about twenty-five men being scheduled to participate.

The shoot will commence tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock and continue until late in the afternoon. The finals will be held on Thursday. Arrangements have been made by Manager Keefe to have two street cars leave Main and First South streets at 8:15 a. m. over the First Street line, which will take the fans to the Gun Club grounds. No admission will be charged to witness the tournament.

STIRS UP H. S. BOYS.

A meeting of the members of the track and baseball teams of the high school was held yesterday and Coach Callahan gave the athletes a lengthy address. The dissatisfaction and lack of interest among the athletes for the last two weeks was entirely swept away by Mr. Callahan's talk and the boys are resuming their training with new vigor. He showed them the necessity of training and keeping in condition. He also told them that the school had ever produced, in speaking of the track team he said that the prospects for a winning team are bright, although there are many more teams in the state meet this year than in past seasons. He said that the chances of arranging a meet with the East Denver high school are good but that the contest would be a hard one. After the meeting Coach Callahan put the boys through a spirited practice.
