

DEBATE ON THE PURE FOOD BILL

Special Interests Find Representatives on the Floor of the House.

FAVOR PURE FOOD, BUT—STRAIGHT TALK OF SLAYDEN OF TEXAS.

Washington, June 22.—Speaker Cannon, in announcing that the house was in committee of the whole today for the further consideration of the pure food bill was emphatic in his physical demonstration with the gavel that the read flow off and rolled among the clerks at the speaker's table.

After the approval of the journal the house at once plunged into debate on the pure food bill. Mr. Adamson (Ga.) opening the discussion in opposition to certain features of the bill. Mr. Adamson did not mean to say that all food legislation was vicious, but he emphasized the fact that such was true of some of the legislation contained in the bill.

During the course of his argument Mr. Adamson was interrupted by a running fire of questions, Mr. Bourke Cockran taking exception to the position of the speaker as to states' rights.

Republican White Elephant.

Mr. Adamson, while discussing the several sections of the bill, facetiously remarked that it had been asked what the Republicans would do with the elephant they acquired from the Spanish war.

"A lot of islands that no other nation would have for 50 years, and never will want for a century to come. The fifteenth section settles that. It is the first authoritative legislative administration declaration on the subject, that the term 'territory,' as used in this act, shall include the insular possessions of the United States. That settles the question. But if they are right about it, instead of being a pure food law they will find it will rise to curtailment as a temperance and very impure piece of legislation with which to be consistent will require them to ask for a delegate from the territories in the Philippine islands."

Believes in Pure Food.

Mr. Richardson (Ala.) said he was a profound believer in pure food, but he would like to have the bill amended in some respects. He argued that it was very easy for a man to separate his interests from his seconds, and he wanted to know what objection there was to such a proposition.

"If a man offers to sell me a commodity he ought to be required to state what is in it," he continued. "If he is going to sell me a keg of New Orleans molasses and three-fourths of it is glucose, he ought to be required to state it on the label of the barrel or on the jug."

Wants Whisky Straight.

He then took up the consideration of the "straight" as against the "rectified" whisky. Mr. Richardson, in favor of the "straight" article, and wanting the rectified product so indicated. Along these lines he said that a temperate man, he believed that pure whisky, unadulterated, and guaranteed by the government as such, would promote temperance, as the people of France thought that pure wines would promote it in their nation.

House Not Independent.

Mr. Henry of Texas said the American people and the congress had drifted further from the old landmarks this year than they have ever drifted before.

"We have reached a period in our history when the president of the states will say in a letter to the members of this body: 'I am writing to you as a private citizen, we are willing for you to do so and so, and the members of this house, that ought to have some independent action, to care their jurisdiction to another department of the government.'"

Slayden's Honest Talk.

Mr. Slayden of Texas said some gentleman from the south may incline to the view that it will hurt one of the south's great industries if the blenders of vegetable oils are forced to make their lye claim that it is all pure olive oil.

"I cannot take that view," he said. "Cotton seed oil is an honest, wholesome product and has merit enough to stand on its own inherent worth. Certainly we ought not to foster the trade by telling lies about it. It should be sold for what it is, and if it is as good as we think it is, it will soon be established on a higher plane as a food product than it has ever had, and will command a better price. But whether it is or not, I want to see square dealing in food and drink, and for more than 20,000 Texans I declare here and now that we want no trade based on dishonesty in weight, measure or quality."

Death From Lockjaw.

never follows an injury dressed with Bucklen's Arnica Salve. Its antiseptic and healing properties prevent blood poisoning. Chas. Oswald, merchant, of Rensselaerville, N. Y. writes: "It cured Seth Burch of this place of the ugliest sore on his neck. I ever saw. Cures cuts, wounds, burns and sores. 25c at C. M. L. drug department."

ARGUMENT IN LEDOUX CASE

Defense Making a Strenuous Endeavor to Save the Accused Woman.

Stockton, Cal., June 22.—The argument in the Ledoux murder case is still in progress. One of the attorneys for the prosecution has finished, and also one for the defense. Mr. Fairall is addressing the jury on behalf of the accused. Much of his argument is an arraignment of the prosecution for what is termed "extraordinary interest in securing evidence against the accused in an attempt to convict her."

The attorney for the accused attacked all the contentions of the prosecution and contended that none of the elements going to show that a crime had been committed had been proven. The contention of the defense is that McVicar took his own life by a public act notwithstanding the finding of morphine in his system by the chemist. The accused, though seemingly about worn out by the long trial, shows no signs of agitation except when her mother is alluded to by her attorneys, when she weeps silently.

The case is expected to go to the jury tomorrow afternoon, and they must choose from these verdicts: Guilty, which would mean the death penalty under the statute; guilty, with the penalty fixed at life imprisonment; or not guilty.

WILL CURE CONSUMPTION.

A. A. Herren, Finch, Ark., writes: "Foley's Honey and Tar is the best preparation for coughs, colds and lung trouble. I know that it has cured consumption in the first stages. You never heard of anyone using Foley's Honey and Tar and not being satisfied." F. J. Hill Drug Co., the Never Substitutors.

ELIJAH'S AGED FATHER ON THE WITNESS STAND

Chicago, June 22.—In the Dowle hearing today before Judge Landis, in the federal court, John Murray Dowle of Essex, Ia., took the stand and testified that he is the father of John Alexander Dowle. He said that he supported and carefully educated John Alexander Dowle at Edinburg university, and later procured for a church in Australia. He asserted that the soldier killed in the Crimean war, of whom John Alexander Dowle claimed to be the son, is "a creature of the mind of John Alexander Dowle."

W. R. Ward of Dyersburg, Tenn., writes: "This is to certify that I have used Orine Laxative Fruit Syrup for chronic constipation, and it has proven without a doubt, to be a thorough, practical remedy for this trouble, and it is with pleasure I offer my conscientious reference."
