LONDON, July 6.-William J. Bryan today lunched with Major John H. Beacom, the United States military attaché, to meet War Secretary Haldane. Lawrence of Massachusetts and Miss Lawrence, John W. Yerkes, commissioner of internal revenue; M. O. Keeler, former governor of Connecticut, and D. O. Mills. Mr. Bryan has decided not to leave London on Monday, as he had intended, but will remain until Thursday, principally to hear Mr. Haldane, at the latter's invitation, deliver a speech on army retrenchment in the house of commons, after which Mr. Bryan will start on his tour of the Rhine, Switzerland and Italy. Mr. Bryan has also accepted invitations for next week from Winston Spencer Churchill and others in public life, when he will meet many prominent persons. AMUSEMENTS

President Joseph F. Smith, upon learning that Professor J. J. McClellan would return home from his vacation on Monday and that the Royal Hawaiian band would remain over until Tuesday next, requested the organ recital scheduled to take place this morning in honor of the band until Tuesday. The band drew a crowd of 4,222 to the resort yesterday, which is about 1,100 more people than ever attended the resort on the second day following the Fourth of July. The band's programs for tonight is one of the best it has offered. It includes selections from standard operas, besides the native music and rousing marches.

There will be something doing at the Salt Lake theatre next week if an advance sale indicates anything. The sale for the last week of Mr. Mayall's engagement here is extremely large, especially for the Wednesday and Saturday matinees. Aside from it being the last week of these popular players, the piece itself should draw crowded houses. Over 1,000 ladies attended Casino park last night as guests of the management. Tonight and tomorrow are the last two performances of "In Sunny Tennessee." "The Tramp Detective" is the bill for next week, with new vaudeville features interspersed. "Deadwood Dick" will be the bill at two performances at the Grand today. The play has made big hits on both nights of its presentation. The Pork and Beans that MOUNT makes are making good with pleasure-seekers as the right thing for the lunch. The small cans are so convenient to carry in the basket. Cold and clean soda water with music on the side tonight at K.-O.-B.
