

PORTO RICO HAS GREAT LONGING

People of the Little Island Yearn to Become Full-Fledged Citizens.

TAFT COULD NOT PROMISE MATTER TO BE DECIDED BY CONGRESS.

Ponce, P. R., April 17.—Secretary Taft and his party, Governor Winthrop and the insular officials accompanying them, arrived here yesterday afternoon. A banquet in honor of the secretary was given by the city last night. The speech of welcome was delivered by Augusto Gautier, president of the city council. Senator Gaudier complimented Governor Winthrop on the excellent work done during his tenure of office.

Governor Winthrop expressed gratitude for the confidence of the people and promised always to lend his aid in matters affecting the island. He also introduced the executive council, made a long speech in which he introduced Secretary Taft. He made a strong plea for citizenship and expressed the hope that Secretary Taft would unite with President Roosevelt against Speaker Cannon, who, when here recently, gave the Porto Ricans little hope in the matter of citizenship.

Secretary Taft then spoke vigorously in reply, saying in part: "Again I am urged to make a full and specific declaration regarding the policy of the United States toward the people of Porto Rico. I am only a humble member of President Roosevelt's cabinet. Whatever I may think or whatever I may do is matters of little importance to the people of this island. I can only make your attention to the fact that President Roosevelt has visited Porto Rico and the island has been visited by Mr. Root, the secretary of state, and by Mr. Cannon, speaker of the house of representatives, and in some respects the most powerful man in the republic. These visits indicate to us that the people of the United States have a deep affection for the people of Porto Rico and feel more kindly toward them and have a greater interest in them than in the people of Cuba or the Philippines. The United States has gathered Porto Rico to her bosom and given her that which means the material progress of the island—the benefit of our markets of the United States. She has given her the markets and the prosperity she enjoys today. She has given every Porto Rican the same liberty enjoyed by the people of the United States.

Have Rights Enough. "You say you have not been given citizenship. President Roosevelt has recommended that citizenship be given, but there have been congressional difficulties with reference to this matter. I am not dealing, however, with generalities, but with the concrete facts. I ask what is it that a Porto Rican does not enjoy that an American enjoys? You have every guarantee and every right that a citizen of the United States has under the constitution. You have the writ of habeas corpus and the trial by jury, and when you are in a foreign country the same flag protects you that protects a citizen of the United States. Therefore, while President Roosevelt urges on the ground of gratifying the sentiment of the people of this island, but when you come to the examination of what you ask, the question is whether it is not nominal rather than substantial."

FEAR THE MAN "HIGHER UP"

Chief Reason Why Police of Chicago and Other Cities Pay Campaign Assessments.

Chicago, April 17.—Fear of the man "higher up" has ruled the police department of Chicago, the civil service commission was told today in the investigation of charges that former Chief of Police Collins had made a levy on the police for Democratic campaign purposes during the recent mayoralty election. Captain O'Brien, of the detective bureau, testified today: "A short time before the primaries," said O'Brien, Chief Collins called me into his office and said he was trying to raise money to assist Mayor Dunne. He wanted me to help him. He said those opposing Dunne had plenty of money, while the mayor himself had but little. I did not say anything, but when I reached my office I spoke to my lieutenant about it. I told them I was not in favor of it, but I would leave the matter to them and they could do as they pleased. A few days later $45,000 in envelopes was handed to me and I gave it to the chief. There was a certain fear that exists among members of the department that makes a man hesitate in matters of this kind and they think the best way is to do the way other officers do contribute.

PARSON EARNS HIS FARE.

TWO BANQUETS FOR DELEGATES

First Annual Convention of National Peace and Arbitration Congress Ended.

DECORATION FOR CARNEGIE STIRRING ADDRESS OF WILLIAM J. BRYAN.

New York, April 17.—The first annual convention of the National Peace and Arbitration congress ended tonight, after a three days' session, after two large banquets, one at the Hotel Astor and the other at the Waldorf-Astoria. The event of greatest interest was the decoration of Andrew Carnegie with the Cross of the Legion of Honor by the French government, represented by Baron d'Estournelles de Constant, in appreciation of his work for peace and his gift of the palace at The Hague.

Mr. Carnegie, who is president of the congress, tonight gave out a statement as to the results of the congress. Although not so designated by Mr. Carnegie, the statement constitutes a reply to some of the suggestions contained in the letter which President Roosevelt addressed to the congress on the opening day. Mr. Carnegie quotes these statements as "objections," and answers them as follows: "Our peace conference has brought three objections clearly before us. First, nations cannot submit all questions to arbitration. Answer—Six of them have recently done so. Treaty—Denmark and The Netherlands, Chile and Argentina, Norway and Sweden. Second, justice is higher than peace. Answer. The first principle of natural justice forbids men to be judges when they are parties to the issue. All law rests upon this throughout the civilized world. Were a judge known to sit on a case in which he was secretly interested he would be at once disowned and expelled from his high office. If any individual refused to submit his dispute with a neighbor to disinterested parties and insisted upon being his own judge, he would violate the first principles of justice. If he resorted to force in the exercise of his right to judge, he would be dishonored as a breaker of law. Thus peace with justice is secured through arbitration never by one of the parties sitting as judge in his own cause.

Nations Like Individuals. "Nations being only aggregates of individuals, they will not reach justice in their judgments until the same rule holds good for them. Like individuals, nations shall not sit as judges in their own cause. What is unjust for individuals is unjust for nations. It is neither peace nor justice, but righteousness that shall exalt the nation. Answer. Righteousness is simply doing what is right. What is just is always right; what is unjust is always wrong. It being the first principle of justice that men shall not be judges in their own cause, to refuse to submit to judge or arbitrator is unjust, hence not right, for the right is in the hands of the just. Therefore, men who place justice or righteousness above peace practically proclaim that they will commit injustice and discard righteousness by constituting themselves sole judges of their own cause, in violation of law, justice and right. "Civilized man has reached the conclusion that he meets the claims of justice and of right only by upholding the present reign of law. What is right for each individual must be right for the nation. The man who does not understand shall sit in judgment is the wickedness that degrades a nation."

Carnegie Decorated.

Baron d'Estournelles de Constant announced in his address at the Waldorf-Astoria that the Cross of Commander of the Legion of Honor had been conferred by the French government on Andrew Carnegie, and then proceeded to the banquet at the Hotel Astor, where the decoration was formally presented to Mr. Carnegie.

Address of Bryan.

William J. Bryan in his address offered as a substitute for the historic words "liberty of the press" the words "right of life." This sentiment was the keynote of his address. The cost of human life he wanted to be counted and estimated. "Let us measure the value of those that we have not taken, and then we can obtain some estimate of the value of those that we have gone on to take. Life, he held was sacred and precious, to be guarded sacredly, because created by God as something worthy and just. The attainment of peace as seen from the viewpoint of the clergy was presented by Archbishop Ireland. Greater than all other names to consider in the conception, he held, was the divine name of Christ. Rev. Lyman Abbott in his address exhorted for concerted action of the world to attain the ideal of eternal peace.

Hotel Astoria Dinner.

Andrew Carnegie presided over the Hotel Astoria dinner. Earl Grey, governor-general of Canada, was the first speaker. He read a telegram from the president of the Canadian senate extending greetings to the congress. Enrique C. Creel, the Mexican ambassador, expressed the regrets of President Diaz at not being present, but assured his hearers that the Mexican president favored the peace movement. Ambassador Creel proposed a toast to President Roosevelt, which was drunk standing and amid cheers.

Ambassador Bryce of England followed. Baron Constant was introduced as bringing a message from France. He announced the bestowal of the Legion of Honor cross on Mr. Carnegie, and tied about the ironmaster's neck the ribbon from which hung the cross. The dinner, cheered for several minutes, and then Mr. Carnegie expressed his unbounded appreciation of the honor. "That this honor comes from France," he said, "makes it doubly welcome. I remember when France did for this country in her days of need. I know what France has done in the world of war. I know what the Legion of Honor means. This honor does not exalt, but humbles me when I compare it to the smaller services I have rendered. It is another bond binding me still more strictly to so live my life that France, who bestowed it upon me, may never have cause to regret her action in embracing me in the circle of men who have won her august approval."

His Message Short. Dr. Edward Everett Hale was introduced by Mr. Carnegie as the "grand old man of our republic." "The grand old man," said Dr. Hale, "has lived long enough to know how to hold his tongue on occasions. I am not going to speak a word of peace—I am going to speak of justice. Give us justice and peace will follow." Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, said: "It comes to you with the strictness of the latest declaration of the organized

HOME PRESCRIPTION

Speediest Relief Known to Science for Coughs, Colds and Consumption.

This home prescription has been familiar to druggists for years. Its wonderful effectiveness on coughs, colds and all affections of the bronchial tubes and pulmonary organs spread its fame from city to city with rapidly increasing popularity. Inquiry into the origin of this prescription developed the fact that it emanated from a prominent Philadelphia physician who gained fame amongst his profession for the development of the truly soluble preparation known as the concentrated oil of pine tree, which although known to contain wonderful curative powers on the mucous membrane yet was not generally used by doctors on account of its insolubility. This new form of pine is known to doctors and druggists as the Concentrated oil of pine and it forms the chief ingredient in the famous "Home Prescription," which is here given to the public and is as follows: Concentrated oil of pine, half ounce; pure whiskey, (spirits frumenti) eight ounces, glycerine, two ounces. Mix and shake thoroughly and take a tablespoonful every four hours. This will frequently cure a cold inside of twenty-four hours. These instructions should be followed at home in a ten-ounce bottle. The concentrated oil comes put up for dispensing in half-ounce vials securely sealed in a screw-top package which retains all the original ozone. It should be borne in mind, however, that retail patent medicines put up by so-called chemical companies to imitate the wonderful pine, these are to be avoided by making sure to get the "Concentrated" oil of pine. It is also said to be very effective in curing lung cancer and acid rheumatism. For this purpose it is taken raw, a few drops on sugar, night and morning.

labor movement in America, which, in the convention of the American Federation of Labor a few weeks ago advised. "We reaffirm the doctrine of international brotherhood and urge the trade unionists of America to join in promoting all movements having for their purpose the elimination of the cruel barbarism of war." President Charles W. Eliot of Harvard declared "Passion and misguided sentiment are frequent causes of war. We need," he said, "to give up this barbarous notion of wiping out states or nations by spilling human blood." After President Eliot had concluded his remarks on the subject of international brotherhood and congratulation, including one from Grover Cleveland and one from Vice President Fairbanks. The last speaker was William J. Bryan, who had already spoken at length at the Waldorf-Astoria dinner. Mr. Bryan said in part: "I want to leave with you a thought in closing this congress. On a hearthstone in England the word 'others' is inscribed. I have thought much of that word lately, and it grows and grows upon me. It is not until one begins to learn that there are others that he has been lifted out of himself and brought into contact with society. We may measure a man's advancement by his conception of the meaning of the word 'others.' To me, my friends, the one of the noblest principles of humanity is found in the undying commandment, 'Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.' If we as a nation should spend each year 10 per cent of what is annually appropriated for our army and our navy in establishing here several great universities to which the young of all the nations might be invited and educated at our expense, if after a term of years we could send these young people back to their homes, impressed by American ideals and imbued with our love for our country, we would do more to protect the United States from attack than by all the Dreadnaughts we could put upon the seas. The clearing of our mind and doing more for mankind than any other nation on the globe.

AMUSEMENTS

Blanche Walsh comes to the Salt Lake theatre tonight in "The Straight Road." The play has proven a great success.

Next week at the Grand will occur the initial production of Harry Leighton's new play, "Butternut Jones," an idyl of the southwest. "Twenty-three" has no terrors for May Tully, who is playing "Stop Look and Listen" at the Orpheum this week. There are just twenty-three letters in her name and the number of the playlet in which she is starring; it was first produced at Keith & Proctor's Twenty-third street theatre in New York; it runs twenty-three minutes; Matthew White, author of the play, has Room 22 in the Algonquin hotel in New York; Mr. White's office with the Munsey Magazine is on the corner of Broadway and Twenty-third street, and the piece is booked to open its London engagement at the Palace on July 22. Last, but not least, Miss Tully will celebrate her thirtieth birthday anniversary next Friday.

FEEDING THE HUNGRY.

Work of Famine Relief Committee in Destitute China. Shanghai, April 17.—The famine relief committee is feeding 40,000 persons and will continue to feed about that number until June. Grain is arriving daily. The estimated purchases for April are 8,500 tons of millet, 18,000 bags of flour, 200 tons of potatoes and 5,000 bushels of wheat for planting. The famine relief has ceased. Official obstruction is being placed in the way of the most suitable and the most useful relief work, on the plea that China herself proposes to undertake these measures. No fulfillment of these promises, however, is probable.

PROVO NEWS NOTES.

Provo, April 17.—Judge M. M. Kellogg resigned as judge of the juvenile court to take effect at once at the meeting of the city council last evening. Maiben was taken to Salt Lake this morning to undergo an operation at the Latter-day Saints' hospital for an abscess of the brain. Mr. Maiben is seriously ill, but many friends hope for his recovery. David Evans is here from California visiting his brother, Jacob Evans, and Provo friends. Next Saturday evening the Mutual Improvement association of the Utah stake will give a concert in the tabernacle for the benefit of the associations. The stake officers will be given a banquet in the First Ward social hall after the concert.
