

BELL'S WORDS BRIEF AND FEW

Alleged Conspirator in Notorious McWhirter Affair Declines to Talk About Case.

LAWYER'S NAME WITHHELD

PRISONER DOES NOT DISCLOSE NAME OF COUNSEL.

William St. Clair—for this he says his true name and not Bell at all—said last evening in an interview with the Herald that he had made partial arrangements to secure counsel, but he declined to state names or to make any announcement with reference to his case until he had secured the advice of an attorney. Since his incarceration in the county jail here, the alleged swindler has been in communication with Hamner & Calvin, a law firm of Kansas City which will either represent him here or designate a local lawyer to look after Bell's or St. Clair's interests.

St. Clair was well dressed and apparently in good spirits. He wore a negligee gray shirt and blue tie. When Sheriff Emery introduced him he said:

What His Name Is. "Mr. Bell, meet—" "I beg your pardon—Mr. St. Clair, if you please," corrected the prisoner. The sheriff accepted the correction. "Have you secured an attorney, Mr. St. Clair?" "I have taken some steps to secure a lawyer, but am not prepared at this time to give out his name." "With reference to the robbery with which you are charged, have you any statement to make?" "I prefer to say nothing whatever about the case."

"Where have you been since you left Salt Lake last fall?" "A shrug of the shoulders, a smile but a discreet silence." "Have you ever gone by the name of Bell?" "Now I would rather not say whether I have or not."

About Some Letters.

"We understand that letters were sent by you from Riverton, Wyo., to Chief of Police Sheets; is that true?" "As I said before, I really must decline to answer any questions relating in any way to the case."

"Have you made any confession or any admissions relative to the McWhirter robbery to Sheriff Emery or any one else?" "I have not."

"It was stated that, in Kansas City, you expressed a desire to leave the city in the custody of Deputy Sheriff Edgington on the night of your arrest and that the plan was for some accomplices to rescue you on the way to the railway station—was that your plan?" "That is untrue. I never expressed such a desire and the statement that I did so is on a par with some other things which have appeared in certain newspapers with reference to me."

"Do you care to say anything further about the case?"

is Treated Well.

"I wish to say only that Sheriff Emery and Deputy Sheriff Edgington treated me fine while I was in Kansas City, and on the train, and since I reached Salt Lake. In jail I am treated like the rest of the prisoners, and have no complaint to make."

St. Clair, as he mildly insists on being called, occupies a cell on the second floor of the jail, just across the hall from one that is occupied by Parrent. Without much trouble, they can talk to each other, should they desire so to do. The cell which they occupy is not in the rotunda where the common prisoners are kept, and they are somewhat more comfortably housed than the other inmates.

WILL GIVE TESTIMONIAL.

Work of Prof. George Careless to Be Suitably Recognized.

Arrangements are in progress for a testimonial to be rendered to Professor George Careless in acknowledgment of his compositions, which form so large a part of the Mormon church and for occupy musical work generally. A number of musicians and prominent citizens have been quietly talking the situation over for a number of days, and the matter culminated yesterday in a meeting in Heber J. Grant's office, where the situation was discussed. President Smith has tendered the use of the tabernacle, and the testimonial will take place Monday, June 10. At yesterday's meeting the following committee was appointed: William Wetball, A. H. Peabody, H. G. Whitney, Squire Oop, Anton Peterson, Willard Welbe, Arthur Shepherd, Fred C. Graham, H. J. Grant, E. W. Young, Frank Stephens, H. J. Grant, E. W. Young, Frank Stephens, J. Taylor, A. J. McLaughlin, Hyrum Goff, Karl Scheid, John Held, George D. Poyer, J. J. Metcalf, J. J. Daynes, H. S. Ensign, John D. Spencer, C. S. Burton, N. W. Clayton, Fergus Coalter, Nephi L. Morris and Hugh J. Cannon. The program will be announced later.

Y.W.C.A. HAS NEW REST AND REFRESHMENT ROOMS TO BE ESTABLISHED IN BROOKS ARCADE.

Rest and Refreshment Rooms to Be Established in Brooks Arcade.

CATER TO WORKING GIRLS

ACCOMMODATIONS TO FILL A LONG FELT WANT.

The Young Women's Christian association will establish down-town headquarters, with rest rooms, reading room and other pleasant and attractive features for women. Coffee, tea, milk, rolls, etc., will be served each day from 12 to 2 o'clock, different members of the board of directors having charge during those hours.

Mrs. Florence K. Woodruff, Mrs. Lafayette Hanchett, Mrs. Russell L. Tracy and Mrs. Henry La Motte constitute the special committee in charge of furnishing the rooms and carrying on this branch of the work. The rooms secured are in the Brooks arcade, Third South and State streets, delightfully situated in the southeast corner of the building, and commanding a magnificent view of the mountains. They will be opened June 1, and will be for the comfort and use of women.

Women stopping between trains will be given an opportunity to rest and refresh themselves, and to carry away with them pleasing impressions of the city. Young women employed down town who live too far out to go home at noon, may bring their lunches in if they wish, and after a wholesome hour of recreation and change of surroundings, go to work with renewed strength and courage.

This step is designed to meet a long-felt need in the city, and the venture is sure to receive highest commendation and most hearty support.

Reports from all departments of the Y. W. C. A. are gratifying and show that the work is progressing well. There are now 300 members, and with the continued efforts of the excellent membership committee steady growth is expected.

The use of the Gordon academy tennis courts, on Third South street, has been secured for the summer, and will be open to members June 1.

The boarding home is more than filled. Besides those already mentioned, a number of young women were turned away two days within the past week, showing the great and growing need of more adequate accommodations.

LOCAL BRIEFS

MASONS WILL MEET—Mt. Moriah lodge will hold a special meeting tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock for Entered Apprentice work.

Mrs. Lindeman was a member of the Odd Fellows and a Yeoman; he was also a member of the Carpenters' union. Mrs. Lindeman will consult with the local lodges before making final arrangements for the funeral.

THREE POSITIONS VACANT.

County Superintendent is Looking for Principals.

John W. Smith, county superintendent of schools, is looking for three principals to take charge of county schools. The vacancies have been caused by the resignations of Principal Rollins of the Draper school, Principal Sheets of the Granite school, who will accept a position at the Latter-day Saints university, and Principal Givener of the Sandy school, who has accepted a position in a bank. Nearly all of the grade teachers employed in the county have been reappointed, and have been given until June 1 to accept. There will be a few minor changes in the teaching force throughout the county districts.

KEEP IT UNDER YOUR HAT

Do You Happen to Know What Happens When You Have It Blocked?

Why is last year's Panama just as good and just a little better than this year's Panama? It's because it has been revived, rejuvenated and reinvigorated. A two-year-old Panama is just as good a Panama as the one you bought yesterday, if you have it repaired and properly cleaned, or cleaned and repaired.

For the operator in the hat factory the renovating of a Panama hat is no joke. The man who runs a Salt Lake hat rejuvenator will tell you that he would rather administer medicine in prescribed doses to five felt hats than to one Panama. He was asked why.

"Because it takes us three days at the least to renovate a Panama that is fixed right. It takes only a day to put a felt into good condition again; but it is the time—the elapsed time, you may say—that counts."

PLEA OF MOTHER

Son's Behalf

Eight Months Cut off Sentence of Convict as a Result.

BOARD OF PARDONS MEETS

SEVERAL ARE FREED AND OTHERS ARE PAROLED.

A mother's plea secured for Laurence N. Johnson of Knapville, Kane county, a resident of this city for the past few months in his penitentiary sentence. In a touching letter to the governor, which was read to the board of pardons' court a meeting yesterday morning, the mother told of her son's life history, how he had been sick and a cripple since his infancy, and how the crime with which he was charged was the only misstep of his career.

Johnson was sentenced to eighteen months in the penitentiary from Kane county Sept. 6, 1906, after pleading guilty to a statutory charge. The story goes that while he and his young wife were living in a small home a certain Florence Bullock came to live with them. Johnson was attracted by her and fell, and after his wife had secured a divorce she refused to marry him. While he was out on bail pending sentence the mother says he worked hard and gave his wife and children all he earned. Recently his wife caused a great deal of trouble between him and his wife, and that his momentary infatuation for the other woman might have caused a great deal of trouble for Johnson's brother to care for.

The mother's letter says that her son's mother-in-law caused a great deal of trouble between him and his wife, and that his momentary infatuation for the other woman might have caused a great deal of trouble for Johnson's brother to care for.

George W. Tully, the penitentiary chief, who is known and loved by all the prisoners for his ability to connect too close viands, was granted a reprieve to go into effect March 1, 1907. Tully was sentenced from Salt Lake county Oct. 31, 1904, for seven years in the penitentiary for robbery. Since he has been at the prison he has developed into a first-class cook, and is said to be the hardest worker about the place.

Fred Wood, sentenced July 15, 1905, from Salt Lake county for ten years for burglary, was denied a pardon, and the same fate was meted out to Robert R. Roberts, sentenced from this county Aug. 26, 1906, for three years for larceny.

Gilford R. Averett, sentenced April 19, 1905, for three years for assault with a dangerous weapon, by the district court of Washington county, was given a full pardon. He has been out on parole since Oct. 5, 1905.

Peter Hanson, who was convicted in connected with slot machine robberies at Sandy Feb. 17 last, and sentenced to the county jail for six months, was also pardoned.

Roy Morrison, sent up for ten years from the Salt Lake county district court on April 7, 1905, for burglary, will have to remain behind prison bars a while longer, as will J. F. Piper, sent up from Emery county for three years for burglary, Oct. 28, 1905.

A. A. Gerke, sentenced to six months in the county jail for petit larceny by Judge Diehl in last, was denied a parole, but Grand W. Freshwater, sentenced from Salt Lake county July 5, 1906, for a statutory offense, had better luck and was granted a parole.

Brigham Lyons, sent up May 9, 1903, from Sanpete county for ten years for a statutory offense, asked for a parole, but his application was denied.

C. M. Kier, an ex-convict, sentenced for eight years from Weber county in September, 1905, for burglary and attempt at jail breaking, was denied a pardon.

Harry Montgomery was one of the lucky ones. He was sent up from Grand county in July, 1905, for five years for a statutory offense, but as the evidence did not clearly establish his guilt, he was pardoned.

The Botha case was continued for ninety days.

CHARMING!

That's what many women have said to us in describing the homes we have shown them. It's a fact that we have for sale some of the most charming homes in Salt Lake City.

Here's a prize winner. We are having plans drawn for the prettiest bungalow, with the greatest value for the money, ever erected in Salt Lake City. It will have five rooms, with bath, pantry and other accessories. A big living room with beamed ceiling will take up nearly the entire front of the house. The place will be artistically finished and well built throughout. The location is on a 20x100-foot lot, with wide alley in the rear, in a commanding position near the University. The price is $1,500, and we challenge comparisons.

We have many other houses and other kinds of real estate, also. Here are a few selections:

$50 down, balance easy. For four 4-room brick cottages a short distance west of the Rio Grande depot. Price, $1,500.

$2,100—Almost downtown, 5-room, white brick, partly modern, $500 down.

$2,500—On M near First street, 6-room frame, adobe-lined, 2x7 rods, and cheap.

$2,650—Double house. Pay $250 down, rent one side (easy, for it's brand new), and live in the other, making it practically pay for itself. Three rooms on a side.

$2,750—Here are four 6-room cottages that bring in $600 a year. They're always rented. How's that for an investment?

$3,500—H street near Fifth, 6-room modern white pressed brick, modern white pressed brick, hardwood floors and well-built throughout. Terms.

$7,000—On O near First, 8-room thoroughly modern, white pressed brick. Good neighborhood and good throughout.

$2,750—On P near Third, 6-room modern white pressed brick, hardwood floors and well-built throughout. Terms.

We'll have to stop here for lack of adequate space in an entire newspaper to tell of all the good things we have. If it's a handsome home you want, let us attend to your case, for we have the best in the city.
