

BOLD BUFF OF SHORT EYEDERS

Republicans of Kentucky Nominate a Candidate for Governor and Pass Resolutions.

WILLSON THE LUCKY MAN

FIGHT OVER THE PRESIDENTIAL PREFERENCE AVOIDED.

Louisville, Ky., June 19.—The Republican caucus today selected Augustus E. Willson of Louisville as their candidate for governor and adopted a platform without a dissenting vote.

Louisville, Ky., June 19.—The Republican state convention was called to order soon after noon today by H. P. Ernest, chairman of the state central committee.

Bradley Whooped It Up.

"Boys, we have them on the run. If you are only true to yourselves, your party and your country there can be no doubt of the result. Above all, we must have harmony. No delegates should fail to support the most available man, because he may think he will not assist in continuing him in office; not because he may think he will not endorse him for an office; and, least of all, because he has not endorsed him, but because another for an office, men are of vital importance, principles are eternal.

Bryan and An "Unknown."

"Our Democratic friends have but two candidates for president—one the brilliant candidate who stands condemned by the highest intelligence of his party; the other the great and mysterious individual, whose name seems to be unknown except to one in office; not because he may think he will not endorse him for an office; and, least of all, because he has not endorsed him, but because another for an office, men are of vital importance, principles are eternal.

Praise for Fairbanks.

"Nor shall we forget to mention our distinguished neighbor of Indiana, who has struggled from poverty to wealth, from obscurity to the forefront of American statesmen. No man in the Union did more effectively to bring about the phenomenal national success of 1924, and no man will do more in 1936.

Scrap Prevented.

The only excitement of the afternoon occurred over a motion which, had it prevailed, would have let down the barrier for the endorsement of a presidential nominee and made possible a fight on the floor of the convention between the followers of the various candidates, practically the left and right wings of the convention had at the outset adopted a motion that resolutions presented should be referred to the committee for action without having been read on the floor. A delegate moved to suspend this rule in order that Mr. Bradley might be endorsed as United States senator. There seemed likelihood that the motion to suspend the rule would prevail, owing to Mr. Bradley's personal popularity. His strong speech he declared against the move, and the motion was withdrawn.

Gist of Resolutions.

The first plank in the platform as introduced before the Kentucky Republican convention today serves as the vehicle for an endorsement of President Roosevelt's administrative policies and an avoidance of a specific declaration in favor of any candidate for the presidency.

WANTS BOYS' BAND.

Waterloo, Iowa, Chautauqua Bids for Local Youngsters. Charles Hahn, manager of the Salt Lake Juvenile band, yesterday received word from the management of the Chautauqua at Waterloo, Ia., offering the band $200 to stop and play there on Friday day on the trip. BOYS TELL WEIRD TALE.

Drank Father's Wine and Cause Commotion in North Ogden.

North Ogden was given a sensation yesterday that will long be remembered, and although it was short lived one, it was real while it lasted.

Charles Pettigrew had business in Ogden yesterday afternoon when he returned to the city early in the forenoon, leaving his three boys at home. It was not long after their parents had departed for Ogden that they found life in the staid old village altogether too slow, and began to pine for something to break the monotony of their lives.

ENJOYED THE HOSPITALITY

Ogden Men Write About Good Time in Ogden. According to a letter received by the secretary of the Weber club yesterday, the Ogden men of Omaha enjoyed their trip to the north-west trade excursion, highly enjoyed their visit to Ogden last week.

FAIR WEATHER FOR TODAY

Changeable Conditions Prevail All Over the Country—High Pressure Area Over Salt Lake. "I've given you high and low, now who is going to give you jack and the game?" asked Dr. Hyatt. "I have given you high from the Pacific to the Atlantic, and low from Dunmore to Beaumont. Now I'm giving you high everywhere, except in three local sections—Swift Current in Canada, Richmond in Virginia, and Yuma in the extreme southwest. The barometer has shown a tendency toward low over the north Pacific, eastern Rocky mountain slope and the Missouri valley, but it is so small that I do not expect a change perceptible to the naked eye. It has had rain in our state, in New Mexico, Texas, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, and some of the Atlantic states. The high pressure over this district will cause continued fair weather tonight and Thursday.

CHINA DISTRICTS JAPAN.

Shanghai, June 19.—The leading Chinese daily of Shanghai today contains an attack on the Japanese newspapers because, while claiming that Japan is the pacificator of Asia, they are persistently exaggerating the hostility of foreigners and the unrest in China. Chinese distrust of Japan is growing.
