

STRIKE LEADER VISITS PREMIER

Marcelin Albert Appears in Garb of a Southern Peasant.

AGREEMENT IS PREDICTED IMMUNITY IS DEMANDED FOR THOSE UNDER LOCK AND KEY.

Paris, June 23.—The most interesting event today in connection with the wine growers' revolt was the visit of Marcelin Albert, the leader of the disturbing element in the south of France, to Premier Clemenceau.

A semi-official account of the interview says the premier used extremely strong language, virtually reproaching his visitor with the responsibility of all that has happened in the south—the refusal to pay taxes, the strike, the resignation of the municipality officials and the bloodshed that has occurred—everything, in fact.

M. Albert is represented as having been overcome with contrition, bursting into tears and asking the premier how he could make atonement, to which M. Clemenceau replied: "Give yourself up to the law and use your influence with your countrymen to return to lawful ways."

Will Do His Duty. Subsequently, Albert declined to reveal anything that had occurred during his conference with the premier, declaring that he had given his word to M. Clemenceau not to do so. He said, however, that he was leaving immediately for the south, where he intended "to do his duty."

It is believed that M. Albert pleaded the cause of M. Clemenceau, the ex-archbishop of Narbonne, and his comrades on the Argeliers committee, who are under arrest, but on this point M. Clemenceau remains elaborate. He again authorized the statement that the government could not interfere with the courts.

The release of immunity from prosecution of those now under lock and key seems at this time to be the principal demand of the wine growers. The government. The power which M. Albert's comrades exercise, even from the inside of the prison, is many times more effective than that of the army.

Proclamation Issued. The various committees issued proclamations today adjuring the people to keep the peace. "When the troops pass," says the proclamation, "stand with folded arms and sealed lips."

The newspaper correspondents continue to have a rough time. The peasants view every stranger with suspicion. Two correspondents narrowly escaped lynching in the mistaken belief that they were spies. Several deputies from the south who hurried home on Friday to aid in calming their constituents, received such a hostile reception that they were forced to return to Paris.

Deputy Laffere, who proudly announced in the chamber that he was going home to interpose in the disturbances, was driven out of town.

M. Albert left for the south at 9 o'clock and his departure was without incident. Just before he left it was officially announced that he had promised M. Clemenceau to do his utmost to induce his countrymen to return to work and cease their disturbances.
