Hundreds of Men Have Left Wyoming Fields—Companies Run Half Time.

SITUATION GROWS CRITICAL DEALERS EXPECT TO BOOST RATES IN NEAR FUTURE.

There is now little doubt but that coal will retail for at least 50 and probably 75 cents a ton higher in Salt Lake this coming winter than this winter.

Waiting for 'Raise' Orders.

Wholesalers yesterday here stated freely that they daily expect notices from the general offices of their respective concerns ordering an increase in the price of coal to the retailers on such deliveries that can be made at this time, few and far between as they may be.

BREEDEN PREPARES TO ASSIST LOOFBOUROW IN PROSECUTION

Jurors Accepted. Walter S. Atwood, farmer, Murray, Salt Lake, insurance agent, was one of the jurors accepted for the special venue of talesmen.

James Donaldson was placed on trial yesterday morning before Judge George C. Armstrong of the criminal division of the district court on the charge of robbery and grand larceny in connection with the famous $10,000 hold-up of William and Alexander McWhorter September 19 last.

One of the laughs came when F. C. Loofbourow, district attorney, was questioning Milton Musser, assistant historian of the Mormon church.

By Reputation Only.

He then went on to say that he did not have the pleasure of that gentleman's acquaintance and only knew him by reputation.

Previous to imparting this information, he had been called a "charismatic" and "eminent" fair and impartial juror. The defense, however, did not object to his being called a "charismatic" juror.

Breeden an Adviser.

M. A. Breeden, attorney general, set back the district attorney throughout the examination of talesmen and evinced considerable interest in the proceedings.

OPEN AIR MUSIC FOR SALT LAKE

Six Days of Melody Promised for Week Beginning Monday, July 22.

SOLOISTS AND CHORUSES

COMPETITIVE CONTESTS WILL ATTRACT MANY ENTRIES.

Open air music certainly must appeal to those who love the best there is in life—music and song. Beginning Monday, July 22, there will be given a week of music at Wandamere such as will unquestionably mark an epoch in the history of this state which relates to that branch of art.

There will be famous players and singers. In the first place, there will be the Ogden Tabernacle choir, an organization which sang at the irrigation congress during the Portland exposition, taken thither at a cost of $10,000, and which will be taken to the Sacramento irrigation congress in September at a cost of $12,000.

May Have Great Organ.

Two grand pianos will be placed in the pavilion, where the concerts will be held. If the organ can possibly be made, a manual organ will be taken to Wandamere. This instrument weighs two tons.

The musical season at Wandamere, which has been called a "charismatic" will be under the direction of John J. McClellan, the organist at the Salt Lake tabernacle, and Fred C. Graham, well known in musical circles. Messrs. McClellan and Graham yesterday tested the acoustic properties of the new pavilion at Wandamere.

Arrange the Program.

The program for the first night will be given over to the singing of "Combs' First Christmas" by the Ogden Tabernacle choir. "The Death of Minnehaha," so well received at the Salt Lake tabernacle when it was sung by the Festival chorus of this city, will be the attraction for the second evening.

On Wednesday, July 24, the celebration of Pioneer day will take place. For this occasion there will be native sons and daughters of the state only on the program. The Tabernacle choir will have another night, and on Saturday there will be competitive contests, in which choirs of various churches and organizations may put forth their voices and their skill.

The choir in competition must consist of not fewer than twenty voices, nor more than fifty. It is expected that there will be entries from a great many cities of the state. There will be competitive trials for vocal soloists, pianists and violinists, none of whom shall be more than 22 years of age. This limitation is made in the hope that the younger musicians will be encouraged.

ALL MUST BE REGISTERED

Names of Those Desiring to Compete in Yard Contests Should Be Sent in at Earliest Possible Date.

Two hundred dollars of The Herald's money is awaiting the winners in the yard contest. It is divided into four divisions; three prizes are for each division. The first prize is $25, the second $15 and the third $10.

The four districts are the portions of the city as follows: Northwest, north of Second South and west of Main; Northeast, east of Main and north of Second South; Southeast, east of Main and south of Second South; Southwestern, west of Main and south of Second South and east of Main.

BRONCHIAL TROUBLES.

Readily Yield to Soothing, Healing Treatment of Hyomei.

Bronchial troubles are purely local. They cannot be helped by stomach dosing. They are caused by irritation in the air passages and can be relieved and cured by medicated air alone.

The Hy-o-mel medication, laden with nature's remedies, is breathed through the neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, reaching every part of the bronchial tubes and killing at once the disease germs. It allays all irritation and heals the inflammation of the mucous membrane with astonishing rapidity.

Treatment with sprays, douches and atomizers for bronchial troubles is condemned by the best physicians, as they cause further irritation.

The first breath of Hy-o-mel medicated air seems to soothe the inflammation, stop the coughing and thus relief soon becomes permanent and a cure results.

Hy-o-mel has made many remarkable cures in the worst and most chronic forms of bronchitis, coughs and colds sold by C. Schramm with the same guarantee as he gives when Hy-o-mel is purchased for catarrh, that is, to refund the money in case the remedy does not give satisfaction. The complete outfit costs but $1.00.

For sale by F. C. Schramm, corner First South and Main streets. "Where the cars stop."

FINISH FIGHT SAYS ELMORE

Strike of Telephone Linemen Promises to Be on in Ear-nest Henceforth.

MEETING VOID OF RESULTS

BELL COMPANY REFUSES TO CONSIDER PROPOSITIONS.

"It's going to be a fight to the finish, now," said Charles A. Elmore, speaking with reference to the telephone linemen's strike. "At our meeting with the company officials today we did not discuss the proposed scale, but the company stood on the basis that the district council had violated its agreement. I have word from President Lynn in Butte tonight that there will be a meeting; the result of that meeting may not be known before you go to press."

Mr. Elmore is the representative of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, who came from San Francisco to look after affairs in connection with the strike of linemen called by the district council. The council has jurisdiction in four states—Utah, Wyoming, Idaho and Montana. Altogether approximately 300 men are involved.

Conference Is Devoid of Results.

The conference yesterday morning between Mr. Elmore and his associates and General Manager David S. Murray of the Bell company was brief and to the point. The representatives of the men went to the company's office for a reply to the revised wage scale submitted Saturday. The wage scale was not discussed. The company officials declared their view-point to be that the district had been called out while an agreement, self-renewing in effect, was in force. San Francisco did not have the endorsement of the international body, and consequently that district council had a part. The company declared that it had been shown that the district council could not control locals.

What the Men Say.

On the part of the strikers, the contention is that the presentation in February of a new scale of wages and working conditions sixty days and more before the existing agreement would have expired was sufficient notification that the prevailing agreement would not be in force after sixty days had elapsed. The men took part of conferences with the Bell and independent people followed and that it was a serious matter, so the men took it that a new agreement should be considered.

The strike was called on May 21 by Louis Lynn, president of the district council. He had consulted with F. J. McNulty, the international president, who came to Salt Lake in the past week to San Francisco. For some time the international brotherhood, through its official in charge of the strike, M. J. Sullivan, vice president, of San Francisco failed to give any direct representative. Finally Elmore was named and he is now on the ground.

Question of Recognition.

Soon after Mr. Elmore's arrival, he and Mr. Lynn left for Montana and Idaho points, where they personally studied conditions. Lynn is still in Butte. Elmore reports that every man in every jurisdiction of the Waterbury line is out. On his return to Salt Lake City, Mr. Elmore prepared a revised scale of wages and a proposed agreement. This scale was submitted to the Bell company and was ignored, the Bell company not deeming it the part of wisdom to consider it in the belief that a previous agreement had been violated.

The independent company has from the first refused to grant the increase of wages demanded, and last week reiterated its determination to continue to refuse them.

COURT NOTES.

Judge Lewis will set jury cases for the September term of court Saturday, July 14.

The Utah Saving & Trust company applied to the district court for letters of administration for the estate of Levi Rishor, who died in Allegheny county, Pa., September 23, 1894, and left $3,000 worth of property here.

Alleging that a street car ran into his car, smashed it and knocked him off, causing serious injuries, William W. Brown yesterday brought a $3,000 damage suit against the Utah Light & Railway company. The accident occurred May 24 last.

A petition was filed in the probate division of the district court yesterday by S. H. Taylor, asking that letters of administration be issued to him for the estate of Mary Ann Taylor, who died June 11 last. The estate is valued at $5,300 and there are six heirs.

Refuses to Aid Despondent Boy Who Attempts to Commit Suicide at Hotel.

She Can't Control Him

PHYSICIANS SAVE WILL ODELL'S LIFE AFTER STRUGGLE.

Made desperate by a fruitless struggle against the world, deserted by his wife and estranged from his parents, attempt to commit suicide by drinking laudanum at the Lincoln house. A few minutes after he had taken the poison he was found by his mother, who had gone to his room in response to a message.

Although she summoned assistance and medical attention was secured in time to save the young man's life, Odell's mother refused to assume control of her son, and, after placing him in care of the police, she left the hotel declaring that the boy was beyond her control. She was apparently unconcerned by the gravity of his condition.

Some time ago Odell separated from his wife, and he was arrested for attempting to kidnap their child. Two days ago after a dispute at his home he took a room at the Lincoln house. He was telephoned to his mother to call and see him and warned her that unless she came a once he would commit suicide. Apparently the threat was not considered seriously. When Mrs. Odell arrived at the hotel Odell's room was locked. When she opened the door she found her son upon the bed. Physicians were summoned and the man was taken to the police hospital.

"He never could get along at home," said Mrs. Odell. "He was jealous of his brothers and sisters because they made more money than he did." And she left the place refusing to accompany her son to the police station.

AMUSEMENTS

We are building for the Salt Lake Tribune the largest D. C. Switch Board

The Orpheum stock company improves with age. Its presentation of "Alabama" last evening was admirable. Naturally many who were personally engaged compared it with the presentation of the same play given on the same stage a year ago, and the vote was unanimous in favor of last evening's presentation.

The third act last evening was as pretty as anything ever seen at the Orpheum. The Alabama atmosphere was there. The magnolias, the cypress, the soft moonlight, the fireflies flitting through the air, the soft music, the engagement of the flowers, the negroes singing in their quarters. It all made a deep impression on the better sentiments. There are many times when the sublime and the ridiculous are very close together, and for this reason the play must be well presented to be effective. No criticism can be made justly against the way this company handles the part of Carey. Joseph O'Meara is also good as the young lover, and it would be difficult to imagine anything better than Mr. Greene's interpretation of the unreconstructed old rebel, Colonel Preston. The play is well staged. It will run throughout the week with the usual matinees.

The programme to be rendered at the concert testimonial for Miss Sands has been enhanced by the addition of two new artists, who have consented to appear at the evening of July 2, the date set for the affair. They are Mrs. Lawrence Townsend, soprano, and William Flashman, flutist. Mrs. Townsend will sing one number with a flute obligato by Mr. Flashman, whose work in the symphony concerts and elsewhere is so well remembered.
