

BIG ADVANCE MADE BY UNIVERSITY

Institution Increases Teaching Force and Raises Standard of Admission to Courses.

INCREASE IN REGISTRATION SCHOOLS OF LAW AND MEDICINE STRENGTHENED.

The catalogue of the University of Utah for 1907-1908 has just been published and will be distributed this week. The summary of students shows a total registration for the past year of 1,396.

Save in the case of preparatory students, who are being rapidly eliminated from the university, these figures are greater than ever before. A year ago the total number enrolled was 1,184, of whom 512 were of preparatory grade.

New Men on Faculty.

The faculty list includes eighty-five names, not counting the assistants. Professor Babcock, who has been on leave of absence for a year, is to return.

Innovation for Year.

One of the most interesting innovations announced for the coming year is the joint courses in agriculture and engineering and in agriculture and methods of teaching.

Another improvement in the university which promises to be far-reaching in its effects is the provision made for advanced work in mining.

Big Field for Progress.

Mine owners and mining engineers both declare that no other field of learning offers such chances to the technical student.

Another change which also looks to an increase in the efficiency of the university is the raising of the entrance requirements.

To make sure that graduates shall not be one-sided, students are required to take a variety of fundamental subjects in college.

Law School Strengthened.

The departments of law and medicine which were begun two years ago have been expanded. To the law faculty Justice D. N. Straup of the supreme court of Utah and Attorney S. L. Richards of the Salt Lake bar have been added.

MEMORY OF SENATE'S STERN REBUFF STILL RANKLES IN LYNCH'S HEART

Assuming that to err is human, to forgive divine, William J. Lynch, chairman of the state land board, looks upon the episode of the legislative, according to a story that has come all the way from Marysvale.

The story dates back to the last legislature, when Governor John C. Cutler tried in vain to ram the name of Mr. Lynch to confirmation through the senate after the land board investigation by a senate committee.

The senate turned Lynch down and the governor promptly sent Lynch's name back a second time, thus violating not only tradition, but propriety, as the senate understood it.

Among other remarks, he said he was opposed to considering the appointment in executive session, as he viewed the sending of the name to the senate after it had been rejected once as nothing short of an insult to the senate and should be treated in open session and made part of the record.

Now for the Marysvale episode, as told by an eye-witness known to possess perspicacity, precision and truthfulness.

The land board, headed by Mr. Lynch, detained at Marysvale July 6 to visit a reservoir at Panquitch. Senator Johnson is proprietor of the Grand hotel at Marysvale.

Lynch knew this and, accordingly, when the bus that carries guests to both of Marysvale's hotels drove up to the train, Lynch refused to enter it.

Instead he took his grip in his hand and traveled on foot from the station to the opposition hotel. On the way he met Senator Johnson.

HAVE ORGANIZED AN OIL COMPANY

Mayor Harper of Los Angeles and His Associates Jubilant Over Utah Prospects.

(Special to The Herald.) Los Angeles, Cal., July 20.—Mayor A. C. Harper's Los Angeles-Utah Oil company will be incorporated. The capital stock will be $2,000,000, and other persons will be let in on the stock at 20 cents a share.

The par value of the stock will be $1. The directors are: Mayor Harper, Nathan Cole, Jr., Charles Fuller, Police Commissioner A. E. Clappitt, Anthony Schumann and William Humphreys, Paul Schenck, J. M. Gardner and George Montgomery.

Mr. Fuller will be president and Mr. Schenck secretary of the organization, which owns 3,500 acres in the Virgin valley, Washington county, Utah.

Oil has been found on the property, and men familiar with that section of Utah now in Los Angeles say prospectors have for years found oil-soaked shale there, but paid no attention to it as they were looking for gold.

The mayor believes there are millions in it and proposes to see the thing through. Councilman Clappitt, a practical oil operator, leaves for Utah after the board of equalization is through to sink two wells.

METEOROLOGICAL REPORT.

Yesterday's Record at the Local Office of the Weather Bureau. Record at the local office, United States weather bureau for the twenty-four hours ending at 6 p. m. today:

Maximum temperature, 88; minimum temperature, 68; mean temperature, 78. Salt Lake is to have an ideal "summer resort" Sunday, today. After musing six pages of nice clean paper with figures and mysterious signs Dr. Hyatt announced that today was scheduled as a first class summer day.

Clear skies and warm atmosphere will combine to make the Salt Lake leave his quiet home and with wife and the children hurry for one of the resorts. It is going to be as warm as it was yesterday and that was sufficient to cause almost anyone to wish to be away from the streets of the city.

The maximum temperature yesterday was 88 degrees, with a minimum of 68. The condition of barometric pressures, high and low and the other mysterious things that go to make up the weather are said to be in a good humor as far as Salt Lake is concerned.

The rise in temperature continued all over the country yesterday. A few slight showers were noted over the Mississippi valley and the Atlantic states, but they were not of much consequence.

TRY TO KEEP COOL TODAY

Weather Man Orders Plenty of Heat and Sunshine for Sunday Outings.

If the official dictum of the weather man has any weight with the elements, Salt Lake is to have an ideal "summer resort" Sunday, today.
