WEATHER FOR SALT LAKE. Cloudy and unsettled. THE METALS. Silver—65c per ounce.

NO BRIGADE POST. The definite announcement that the space contained within the Fort Douglas reservation is too small to admit of enlarging Fort Douglas to a brigade post, will cause disappointment to all citizens who have at heart the welfare of the municipality.

There is more than a crumb of comfort in the affair. Although General Bell said that, because of its physical characteristics that it is impossible to overcome, Fort Douglas cannot be made a brigade post, it will be immediately enlarged into a full regimental post.

FREDERICK J. HILL. After as brave a fight as ever man made against a mortal disease, Frederick J. Hill surrendered Sunday afternoon.

There was no hope of permanent relief for him, and he knew it. He journeyed to foreign lands in search of relief, but could not find it, and so he returned home to take up his work again, to continue his fight.

RUBBING IT IN. (Philadelphia Record.) Thomas Beecham, the famous pill man, was a witty old gentleman. They tell a story about him and a grocer.

derstand why they now must suffer, why there is desolation in their home, mourning in their hearts. And until that time shall come they will have ever with them in their sorrow the bright memory of a father and husband who was all a father and husband should have been.

GOING TOO FAR. It is sometimes possible, even in a fight for a worthy cause, to go too far. For example, the Philadelphia branch of the Young Men's Christian association, which is just now engaged in constructing a new building, has decided to employ no men on the work who use tobacco in any form.

We anticipate that by this ruling the Philadelphians are laying up some trouble for themselves. It may be harder than they think to find building employees who do not use tobacco in any form.

And there is some justice in this contention, especially in the matter of using tobacco. It is not a crime to use tobacco. If everybody who uses it should be excluded from membership in the Young Men's Christian association the membership total would be very materially reduced.

SUPPRESSING A MOB. One hundred men went from New Orleans to Hahnville, Miss., a nearby point, the other night to lynch four Italians who had been convicted of complicity in a murder, but not sentenced to death.

While the argument was at its height, while the situation was tensest, one of the militiamen, apropos of nothing, asked his personal desire for a smoke, except the mob in general: "Any of you fellows got a cigarette?"

Perhaps the Italians owe their lives to an unprecedented piece of luck. The private who asked for the cigarette couldn't have had any idea that his inquiry would break up the meeting, though it is not improbable that he desired the mob to understand that no fear existed among the militiamen.

Ogden's chief of police tried to talk through both Bell and Independent telephones at the same time. Of course he got a shock. As a police officer he ought to know that there is a law in Utah that forbids a merger of rival telephone corporations.

IT'S DISTINCTIVE FEATURE. (Milwaukee Sentinel.) "That's a great invention of Thompson's," "His airship?" "I thought it wouldn't fly." "It won't. But the shape of it is wholly unlike any other ever invented."
