

UTAH GOVERNOR IGNORES LABOR

Cutler Neglects to Issue Usual Holiday Proclamation.

UNION MEN WROUGHT UP INSULT TO THE COMMUNITY SAYS W. S. DALTON.

Governor John C. Cutler left for the frigate congress at Sacramento last evening without issuing a Labor day proclamation.

Willard Done, he of the pedigree, who acts as Cutler's secretary, left again afterward for Payson. As Done writes all proclamations any hope that the governor has issued one or will issue one is abandoned.

Labor day is a legal holiday in Utah. Ever since the day was established it has been the custom of governors to issue a proclamation, commenting upon labor and asking the people of the state to observe the day.

Governor Cutler's failure to comply with the demands of custom this year is either willful or occurred through negligence.

Labor leaders are inclined to the view that it is willful as the governor is known to be hostile to labor unions.

Taken As An Insult. Among union men the governor's action is taken as a direct insult to their cause and no doubt some action will be taken by the Federation of Labor in the shape of appropriate resolutions.

In the absence of the governor, Charles S. Tingey, secretary of state, was in his place. It is, however, doubtful whether Mr. Tingey would take it upon himself to issue a proclamation of this character and even if he did it would not help the governor any as the omission on his part would be even more noticeable in case the secretary acted in this manner.

There is a possibility that the governor has really issued a proclamation, but if so he has neglected to give it to the press. It is not known if he has it in his pocket, or possibly Done's pocket for safe-keeping, hoping, perhaps, that no one would notice his omission.

Dalton's Angry Talk. W. S. Dalton, one of the most prominent labor leaders in Utah, was mad when informed of the governor's failure to act.

"It is an insult to every working man," he said, "and it is an insult to every citizen of Utah as well. I call it an outrage and I know every laboring man in Utah will consider it such. At this time when the people are fighting the grocers and butchers' trust and when they especially need sympathy and help from the governor, he neglects to attend some of the big things and has ignored and insulted every man and woman in Utah who works for a living."

UTAH INDEPENDENT TELEPHONE COMPANY DEPENDS ON LEGAL MEN

Utah Independent Telephone Option Important Factor in Big Reorganization Plan.

U. S. I. CO. IS IN TROUBLE LOCAL CONCERN LUCKY TO ESCAPE FROM BAD TANGLE.

Financial difficulties that encompass big eastern holding companies have made it possible for Utah capitalists to secure control of the Utah Independent Telephone company securities at a low figure, according to the reorganization plan of the United States Independent Telephone company, made public yesterday at Rochester, N. Y.

The United States Independent Telephone company owns the control of the Utah company, which is secured from the Stromberg-Carlson company. The Stromberg-Carlson company financed the Utah company at the beginning, and when the Stromberg-Carlson company was merged with the United States company the control of the Utah plant went in as part of the assets of the United States company.

The officers of the United States company have now given an option for $50,000, which if taken up, as officers of the Utah Independent say it will be, will take the local company wholly away from its eastern connections.

Importance of Option. The option secured by Managing Director Elmer B. Jones and his associates has another important bearing, as it is a vital factor in the scheme for reorganizing the United States company and the Independent Telephone securities company. The largest holding concerns and among the largest independent telephone organizations in the country.

The United States Independent Telephone company was organized as a $50,000,000 corporation, with a cash investment of $1,000,000. Its assets are valued at $1,500,000 and liabilities at $200,000, leaving net assets of about $1,300,000.

Undertook Too Much. By saying that "at the time the United States company was formed, the Stromberg-Carlson company had been largely absorbed by an unwise investment of nearly $2,000,000 in Utah and by extending large credits to irresponsible companies, involving possible losses of two millions of dollars," the option suggests that the Stromberg-Carlson company had undertaken more than it was financially able to perform when it undertook to finance the Utah company.

The advisory committee says that the United States company must be reorganized if its affairs would not be further complicated by the proposed plan. The plan means reorganizations and greater complications unless reorganization is effected at once. The committee says: "There is no possibility that the company (meaning the United States company) will ever have sufficient assets available to pay interest upon its outstanding bonds. The amount of outstanding bonds is $3,000,000. The assets available to pay the interest on these bonds are the stocks of other companies by which the bonds are secured, even if such other companies be regarded as going prosperously." The Stromberg-Carlson Telephone Manufacturing company, the Rochester Telephone company, the P. P. R. Co., the Utah Telephone company, all controlled by the United States company, are referred to as "not prosperous and their affairs are growing worse from day to day."

Sale Blocked by Jones. Confronted with these adverse conditions, it is easy to understand why the men attempting to effect the reorganization at Rochester are willing to sell to the Utah capitalists at present prices. The Utah capitalists are willing to pay $500,000 for the Bell for $500,000, or 10 cents on the dollar, but the transfer was enjoined by the courts of New York, largely through the efforts of Elmer B. Jones of Salt Lake, who induced Attorney General Jackson of New York to act in the matter. The Utah capitalists are willing to buy the reorganization or bankruptcy inevitable.

To Form New Company. The reorganization plan, as adopted by the bondholders' committee of twenty-five, provides for the immediate formation of a new independent United States company, which has defaulted on its bond interest, and the forming of a new incorporation with a capital stock of $5,000,000. The amount of $5,000,000 are to be authorized and $3,000,000, in addition to the $2,000,000 of the present stock, are to be paid for the new stock. Present bondholders are to be allowed to come into the reorganization by paying in cash 20 per cent of the face of their bonds, the balance of $3,000,000 to be paid in bonds and stock to the amount of 60 per cent of their present holdings. For illustration, the holder of a $1,000 bond will pay $200 in cash, surrender his old $1,000 bond and receive a new bond and stock to the face of $800. The present stock of the United States company is disregarded entirely in the reorganization.

The reorganization committee does not guarantee the success of its plan, but offers it as the only alternative to winding up the affairs of the United States company and its subsidiaries.

By exercising the option they now hold, the local capitalists will be able to remove the Utah company entirely from the financial tangle in which its securities are now involved. Payment of the balance of $300,000 for the Utah securities must be made about the middle of October. Heber J. Grant, the new president of the Utah company, is directing the financial affairs of the company, and it is said he is making good progress in organizing a syndicate to take the securities now held in the east. Details of the local plan of reorganization have not been announced.

Those of the fair sex were in white Swiss graduation dresses, while the other sex were garbed in just as fitting a way. All held their diplomas in their hands, and a few members of the faculty and of the upper classes smiled widely and said they were a likely lot.
