DAVIS SHOE CO.

SANTA FE AGENT KILLS A ROBBER

Returns From Hunting Trip and Finds Three Mexicans Going Through Station.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 29.—A special from San Bernardino says: Santa Fe Agent Perrine, stationed at Nebo, beyond Barstow, had an encounter with three Mexican bandits yesterday afternoon. In the shooting that followed one Mexican was killed outright and another wounded in the leg. The third escaped but is being hotly pursued by a posse, headed by Deputy Sheriff James Stutchberry and White. Perrine had just returned from a hunting trip and when hearing his station his suspicions were aroused by seeing the door of his office ajar. His presence was as quickly discovered by the Mexicans within, who leaped through window and with their hastily collected plunder, commenced to run. Failing to obey his command to halt, Perrine fired his revolver into play. The first shot passed through the head of one of the Mexicans, who fell dead. Three more shots were fired in rapid succession at the remaining two, who, driven to bay, had prepared to resist capture, and a fourth shot wounded the larger of the two remaining bandits in the leg. Perrine quickly reported the shooting by wire to Barstow and a posse at once started for the scene on a light engine. The identity of the wounded man and the dead bandit are not established, but they are believed to be members of a gang who for weeks have been raiding Santa Fe cars and depots along the Santa Fe and Salt Lake Route.

WOUNDED AND CAPTURED.

San Francisco, Nov. 29.—At 6 o'clock this morning a lone bandit wearing a polka dot mask and another who later gave his name as John P. Smith of the remnants entered a saloon on Stuart street, in this city. Several men were in the saloon at the time and Smith covered them with a pistol and lined them up against the wall. He then robbed Victor Mattson, the bartender, and rifled the cash register. The robber then backed out of the saloon and ran. Mattson grabbed a pistol and ran after him, firing a shot. Two policemen came to his assistance, and a running fight between the robber and police ensued. Smith was shot in the mouth by a bullet from Officer Davitt's pistol and then surrendered. Phillip Michener came into the police station at this time and reported that he had been robbed at the corner of Washington and Sansome streets a few minutes before. His valuables were discovered in Smith's pockets. From the methods of Smith's operation the police are inclined to believe that he is the highwayman who shot and killed a special policeman in Oakland on last Sunday night.

YOUNG THUG SHOT DEAD WHILE BEATING OFFICER

Continued from Page 1. then tried to take hold of him, and Smith struck him. The policeman tried to use his club, but missed Smith, who then kicked the officer down. When the shot was fired, Smith was feeling in his hip pocket, as though in search of a weapon.

Policeman Lyon, in his description of the shooting, also said that he was under the impression that Smith was about to draw a weapon. Violet Brown said: "I have known Smith for about a year. He forced me to give him my earnings. I dared not refuse. He was a dangerous man and I feared that he would kill me if I did not do as he commanded. He also made another woman, Madeleine Young, give him her earnings. Like me, she feared him. I know nothing of his family. He once told me he had a sister living in Salt Lake. I do not know her name. "I did not see anything of the shooting. The first I knew of what had happened was when the shot was fired and some man ran up stairs to tell me that Joe had been killed."

Smith was about 28 years old and had borne a bad reputation for about ten years. During that time he became famous as a fighter of policemen, about two years ago he had a desperate encounter with Policeman Olson in the Midland rooming house at First South near West Temple street. He was reduced to submission only after he had been severely clubbed. At another time he had a struggle with Policeman Guardella Brown, now of the juvenile court, in Walt Jenkins' saloon. Had not bystanders interfered, Brown would have been roughly handled.

Smith for some reason had a bitter hatred of Sergeant Hempel and during the past two weeks made open threats that he would "get" the sergeant. Sergeant Hempel said last night that he did not know how he had aroused the man's hostility. Justice of the Peace Dana T. Smith, acting coroner, was notified of the killing of Smith. He will this morning summon a jury and hold an inquest as soon as possible. In the beginning of his career Smith was actually a peddler, but even then was said to have been tricky and unscrupulous. The police say that he was one night arrested for selling bad walnuts. In his wagon were 400 pounds of the worthless nuts and about fifty pounds of good ones. Buyers were shown the good ones and served with the bad. In the hasty examination of the police records last night, Smith's career as a bad man was outlined as follows: September, 1902—Charged with fighting Discha. December, 1902—Charged with resisting Policemen Sperry and Olson. Sentenced to seventy-five days in jail. September, 1903—Lewd conduct. Sentenced to twenty days. December, 1903—Fighting. No record of disposition of case. June, 1904—Drunk and disorderly. Arrested by Policemen Eddington and Palmer. Sentenced to twenty-five days in jail. July, 1905—Petty larceny and resisting Policeman Guardella Brown. Sentenced to three months in jail. January, 1906—Vagrancy. February, 1906—Burglary. Sentenced to one year in the penitentiary. December, 1906—Vagrancy. January, 1907—Vagrancy. Smith was recently charged with stealing a horse and wagon in front of the Wilson hotel and taking it to Bingham Junction, where he is said to have attempted to sell it. The horse and wagon belonged to Fred Johnson.

MANY DELEGATES AT CONVENTION

Opening Sessions of Sunday School State Association Meeting Well Attended. The twenty-second annual convention of the Utah State Sunday School association held its opening session here yesterday. The convention convened at 10:30 o'clock in the Presbyterian church. The attendance, comprised of delegates from all over the state, is reported to be the largest that has been at any convention of the organization. The enthusiasm appears to be equal to the attendance. After the preliminary service yesterday morning, J. R. Cooper of Ogden delivered an address of welcome on behalf of the people of this city. After a brief response by the state president, W. Odman, Rev. D. A. Brown of the First Baptist church of Salt Lake gave a thoughtful and entertaining paper on "How Far is the Sunday School Responsible for Public Morality?" Sunday service was conducted by Prof. J. A. Smith of Ogden and Rev. W. C. Merritt, western secretary of the International Sunday School union conducted a round table upon training classes. At the afternoon session primary work was ably handled by Miss Maud Mitters of the East Side Baptist church of Salt Lake. Mrs. A. H. Burkholder of the Huntington academy, Springdale, dealt with primary work and cradle roll, kindergarten was handled by Miss M. R. Fox, Rev. W. L. Dexter of Richfield delivered an address on "Temperance Instruction in the Sunday School." An address was also delivered by Rev. S. Fuller, western organizer for the American Anti-Saloon league. Last evening commencing at 7:30 o'clock, a service of unusual merit was rendered. Musical selections were rendered by members of the various church organizations. Miss Beatrice Hamill played "Spring's Awakening." A quartette composed of Mrs. H. B. Zinsler, Mrs. H. H. Hetherington, H. S. Taylor and J. Smith rendered Haven's "Onward to Homeland." The congregational singing "The Good Shepherd." Several musical numbers were also furnished by the First Methodist church. Rev. W. C. Merritt gave an interesting address on "The Rome Convention."

DEATH OF L. J. HOLTHUR, JR.

Prominent Young Business Man Succumbs at Length to Ptomaine Poisoning. L. J. Holthur, jr., a prominent young business man, and a member of the Corey Brothers Construction company, died shortly before 1 o'clock this morning. About three months ago, Holthur, while at one of the camps of the company, suffered from ptomaine poisoning. He had recovered, returned to camp a short time ago, when he suffered a relapse and was brought back to Ogden. A little later his heart and lungs were affected. Mr. Holthur was 25 years old, and was a graduate of West Point, a prominent politician in this city and served chief deputy county clerk for about four years. His wife, who was Miss Nora Hatch, with several children, and an aged mother, survive him.

DEATH OF JOSEPH SEVERN.

Well Known Ogden Citizen Passes Away in Oregon. Joseph Severn, for more than thirty years a resident of Ogden, died at Minville, Ore., Thursday afternoon. Mr. Severn went to Oregon three months ago for his health, which had been undermined by kidney affection, but the change of climate failed to bring relief. He is survived by his widow, who was with him at the time of his death, four daughters, and two sons, all of whom are residents of Ogden. A short time ago Mr. Severn was retired from the railroad service on a pension, after having served for thirty years continuously in the employ of the Southern Pacific. He was a deacon of the First Baptist church of Ogden, and was 61 years of age at the time of his death. His body will arrive in Ogden Sunday for burial.

EXCITEMENT ON TRAIN.

Passenger With Gun Declines to Show Ticket to Conductor. Conductor Hawley of the Short Line and a carload of passengers on the Yellowstone Special last night were frightened by a gun play put up by a man named Cornish, who was on his way from Salt Lake to Cheyenne. When Hawley asked the man for his ticket he refused to give up. The conductor was insistent, and Cornish threatened trouble. Fearing that his threats into execution the conductor, after a heated argument, went to another part of his train. A short distance out, however, a passenger sitting on the opposite side of the car saw him take a .44-caliber Colt's revolver and load every chamber. The conductor was notified and Cornish was not disturbed until Ogden was reached. Officer Walter Martin took a hand in the matter here, and relieved Cornish of the weapon. He was still sulky, and stubbornly refused to account for his action. He was permitted to go to Cheyenne after he had produced his transportation.

LETTER FROM REXBURG, IDA.

M. A. Ellsworth, Rexburg, Ida., wrote: "The first bottle of the Graefenberg Children's Panacea that I have used thirty-five years ago, and we have used it ever since, for children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren, and have recommended it to many others. I know it is a good medicine." This may seem a remarkable record, but the Graefenberg company have heard of many such cases. During the past sixty years of making the Panacea. This remedy has long been acknowledged the best for Diarrhoea, Colic, Worms, etc., and for teething children. Give it a trial and you will always keep a bottle on hand, where there are children.
