

RECEIVER FOR SAVINGS BANK

Michigan Has $684,000 Tied Up in Concern, of Which the State Treasurer Is President.

DETROIT BANKS INVOLVED

EXACT CONDITION OF AFFAIRS UNKNOWN.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 2.—In order to avoid a threatened run on the bank tomorrow, and to afford all depositors and creditors an equal chance in the settlement of the bank's affairs, State Banking Commissioner Zimmerman today announced that the Chelsea Savings Bank of Chelsea, Mich., would not open for business tomorrow. The president of the bank is State Treasurer Frank P. Glazier, who has deposited in the bank approximately $684,000 of the funds of the state of Michigan. Attorney General Bird said tonight that the state is protected by the state treasurer's bond of $150,000, and the bank's bond of $200,000, so that the state would not suffer any loss unless the assets of the bank should fall to pay 60 cents on the dollar, which is considered altogether improbable.

Conference Held.

The announcement that the bank would not open tomorrow came at the close of a conference here late today between Governor Warner, Banking Commissioner Zimmerman, Attorney General Bird and representatives of five Detroit banking concerns.

It is stated that the banking commissioner has been closely scrutinizing the affairs of the Chelsea Savings bank for some time in connection with the private business of State Treasurer Glazier and of the Glazier Stove company of Chelsea. The impression was held that unless Mr. Glazier could pull these latter interests through, the bank would necessarily fall into difficulties.

Much Paper Out.

The five Detroit banks above mentioned, however, in today's conference announced a decision to petition for a receiver for the Glazier Stove company in order to protect approximately $600,000 of paper which they are reported to have been carrying for Mr. Glazier and the stove company. This action on the part of the banks, it was thought, would cause a run on Mr. Glazier's bank tomorrow, and the closing of the bank was decided upon by Banking Commissioner Zimmerman in order to protect all interests alike. The bank is capitalized at $100,000, and has a surplus of $100,000. Mr. Glazier is reported to be sick at his home in Chelsea, and was not present at today's conference.

Statement by Governor.

Governor Warner tonight gave out the following statement: "From the information furnished to Attorney General Bird and myself this afternoon, it seems probable that the difference in the amount of Mr. Glazier's bonds and the amount of state funds on deposit with the Chelsea Savings bank will be more than made up by the amount of the state which is entitled to receive on the liquidation of the bank; so as the matter now looks the state would suffer no loss."

CONTESTS CUT IN SALARY

A. B. Elder Seeks to Have Legislative Enactment Declared Unconstitutional.

A. B. Elder will test the constitutionality of the section of chapter 28, laws of 1907, reducing his salary from $800 to $600 a year. In order that the matter may be passed upon, J. A. Edwards, state auditor, and Mr. Elder have agreed on a statement of facts which have been submitted to Judge Ritchie of the district court. His decision will be final.

Elder says that the law referred to is unconstitutional because it violates article 6, section 23, of the constitution, which provides that only one subject matter can be provided for in any single legislative enactment. The law in question provides for the salaries of several state officers.

The suit is a result of a remark made to the senate appropriations committee by Mr. Elder when he was arguing that his salary be increased from $500 to $1,000 a year. He held the committee that he might as well work for nothing as $800. The committee passed upon his application favorably, and when the matter came before the senate, Senator Hollingsworth, of the committee, carried the salary he reduced to $600 a year. Elder evidently thinks now that $800 is much better than nothing, for he wants his pay on that basis.

BEGAN YOUNG.

Had "Coffee Nerves" From Youth.

"When very young I began using coffee and continued up to the past six months," writes a Texas girl. "I had been exceedingly nervous, thin and very yellow. After quitting coffee and drinking Postum Food Coffee about a month my nervousness disappeared and has never returned. This is the more remarkable, as I am a primary teacher and have kept right on with my work."

"My complexion now is clear and rosy, my skin soft and smooth. As a general complexion was something I had greatly desired. I feel amply repaid even though this were the only benefit derived from drinking Postum."

"Before beginning its use I had suffered greatly from indigestion and headache; these troubles are now unknown. Best of all, I changed from coffee to Postum without the slightest inconvenience, did not even have a headache. Have known coffee drinkers who were visiting me, to use Postum a week without being aware that they were not drinking coffee."

"I have known several to begin the use of Postum and drop it, because they did not boil it properly. After explaining how it should be prepared they have tried it again and pronounced it delicious."

POLICE COURT GLIMPSES.

Edward Willmont achieved his heart's desire yesterday afternoon in the police court when he was sentenced to thirty days in jail. Willmont is a laborer and one winter, about three years ago, escaped from bad weather and the storms of life through getting himself locked in the city jail. He remembered this haven in his hour of stress and a short time ago, being out of work and ill, he went to the jail, in the hope that the door would be opened to him, but the stern jailer drove him away, telling him to go to work.

But Willmont was persistent. The alluring interior of the city jail filled his heart with unutterable longing. Day after day he loitered about the jail yard, hoping and desponding that some day Samritan among the cops would "run him in." Sunday the happy day came. Policeman Burns seized Willmont and charged him with vagrancy. Judge Diehl was at first unwilling to accept Willmont's plea of guilty to the charge, but at last, when the man said that he had been sick, sentenced him to thirty days.

Sam Mulligan, who was before Police Judge Diehl yesterday, charged with drunkenness, evidently believed in truth in homeopathic doses. When arraigned, Sam humbly pleaded guilty. He had evidently been there before and knew the ropes. "Have you ever been here before on this charge?" asked Judge Diehl. "I was here ten years ago," answered Sam.

The court's bailiffs smiled, for they recognized Sam as a man who had faced the bar of justice a few months ago. But Judge Diehl did not remember the man and set him free.

As Sam passed the bailiff at the door there was a look of fear and uncertainty in his face. The bailiff eyed him keenly. Would he seize the deceiver and unmask the deception which had been practiced upon the court?

There was a terrible moment of suspense. Sam reached the door. He reached the street. Looking back, he saw no pursuer.

Sam breathed a sigh of relief and passed on into the bright and alluring world.

"How could a man be drunk and in jail at the same time?" expostulated Alex Jones, colored, when charged with drunkenness in the police court yesterday. "If I was drunk, where did I get

ESTATE IN CONTROVERSY.

Brother Offers Elijah Sargent's Will for Probate.

A controversy over the estate of Elijah Sargent, who died in Salt Lake Nov. 12, 1907, is likely to result because of the finding of a will made in 1905 while he was in Colorado.

Two days before he died Sargent made an oleographic will, which has been probated here. By this will some of his property here, including the La Paloma rooming house, is left to Elizabeth Oyster. The residue has not been disposed of. In the former will, made Dec. 13, 1905, all the property is bequeathed to Sargent's brother, who is also named as executor.

In a petition yesterday to the district court, the brother, Andrew Sargent, sets forth these facts and asks that the Colorado will be admitted to probate. The old will has already been probated in Colorado.

"Many a Cent"

That was laid up for a rainy day goes to buy a hundred-dollar parafol for posterity. We read that somewhere the other night—a bit of gentle philosophy that is impressive when you think about it, for too many people are thoughtlessly improvident.

There are a lot of folks who make a flash and keep it up for a long time, who neglect while their pockets are filled or their earning capacity is great to provide a home for the rainy day.

We have provided a lot of such homes. New and modern in every respect and in a delightful location on Ninth avenue. We have a new idea, too, about selling these homes on long-time payments, so as to make it easy for you and nice for everyone concerned. We would like to talk the plan over with you after you have seen the houses, for which you can get the keys at 45 C street. Most of your trouble in getting into one right away will be the moving of your household goods. You can arrange the rest satisfactorily with us.

AMUSEMENTS

Florence Roberts, always a welcome visitor to Salt Lake, opened last night at the theatre an engagement of four performances in "Zira," the drama presented by Margaret Anglin in this city for the first time on any stage about two years ago. The play, it will be remembered, tells the story of a girl entrapped into a marriage with a man who is already married. When she learned the truth, she left him and became a nurse with the British army in South Africa. There chance threw her a great temptation, the temptation to submit to the identity of a woman she believed to be dead. She yielded and, as the other woman, went to London. In the great metropolis she took up a settlement work with a young minister. The other woman was not dead. In due course she returned to London, confronted the former nurse and the latter confessed her dual personality. The young minister has by this time made a declaration of his affection. The disclosure does not affect his love, but himself has a terrible struggle with her before she consents to share his life. But the play ends happily enough.

A Cure at Cazenovia.

Mr. John Riley, a blacksmith, of Cazenovia, N. Y., suffered from Rheumatism and was unable to get relief. He then gave Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial and was permanently cured. He says: "It was of the inflammatory kind and was very painful in the joints. Many days I could hardly walk and suffered intense pain. I took to my bed several times for a day or so and once for six weeks. I continued in this condition until I tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Then I soon noticed that I was getting better and in a few weeks was cured. That the cure is permanent is shown by my not having lost a day at my trade since then."

There will also be a special program of other feature films and songs. The Passion Play is a sacred drama, founded on the life of Christ as portrayed in the New Testament. This play is presented every ten years by the peasants of the village of Oberammergau, in Bavaria, who possess a rare union of artistic ability and cultivation, out of gratitude for blessings received, and as a means of religious instruction. That this last mentioned object is fully realized is evidenced by the fact that this secluded village is noted for its piety and the people for their familiarity with religious subjects.

The Moore stock company in "A Mother's Devotion," a story of the south, is the bill at the Lyric this week. It is a good, strong melodrama with enough of the sensational part to please all. Several new faces are seen in the cast, and every member of the company is doing good work.
