NAVY OFFICIALS ADVOCATE BOXING

Believe Boxing Bouts Make Better Fighters to Defend Country.

New York, Jan. 20.—The death of Apprentice H. H. Hartnett of the United States ship Cumberland, as the result of injuries received in a boxing bout, has again brought up the subject of boxing in the navy. There are many opponents of boxing in general that have for a long time objected to the sport as practiced in the navy and on several occasions attempts have been made to stop it. It is the favorite sport in the navy and has been indulged in with the full approval of the authorities. And it is not likely that naval officers say, should not be allowed to interfere with a sport that is on the whole beneficial to the navy at large. Attention is called to the fact that the sailors have little opportunity for the strenuous games that are played by soldiers and others who are on shore and therefore, any sport that gives them the necessary exercise and makes them better sailors is to be advocated.

GOING AFTER DAVIS CUP

Americans Will Have Team on Courts to Compete for Famous Trophy.

New York, Jan. 20.—That there will be an American challenge this year for the Dwight F. Davis cup was indicated yesterday by a member of the National Lawn Tennis association executive committee. The association, however, is not likely, according to this authority, to send representatives to compete in the British Olympic championship matches. Elliman contests with the Doherty brothers, who are associated here on their way to Australia to play for the Davis cup, are outlined as a probable part of the season's tennis program. The German players may accompany the Dohertys and the program proposed points to the probability of preliminary matches in the country with the winning nation to go on to Australia for the final challenge matches. Plans to this end are expected to be presented at the meeting of the association's annual meeting next month.

AMUSEMENTS

Max Figman, a long-time favorite in Salt Lake City, made his bow as a star here last night, and was enthusiastically received by an audience that filled practically every seat in the Salt Lake theatre. Mr. Figman's vehicle, "The Man on the Box," in which he appeared with splendid success last season, and which has been this season a series of triumphs for star and company. Many of Mr. Figman's friends were in a critical mood, and when they went to see him. It seems so easy to be a star these days, and so many actors and actresses who are thoroughly capable when they are supporting somebody twinkle with only the faintest luminosity as stars. It is not so with Max Figman. He dominates "The Man on the Box" completely. Indeed it is difficult to imagine the play without him, so often and so effectively does he occupy the stage, so deft are his lightning flashes of humor, his droll mimicry. He takes a plot that is utterly absurd and a character that is impossible and makes the one seem probable and the other real. Mr. Figman on the "Box" is one of the few big plays that, thanks to a clever playwright and a generous producer, works out better than the book. It is clean, wholesome, clever comedy, with occasional love episodes, but never touch of anything that is suggestive, or vulgar or straining for effect. The laughs come easily and naturally, quite in accord with the action of the play—and there are many laughs. From the police court scene to the final curtain, the final curtain, and the crowning happiness of the man's life, "The Man on the Box" is interesting. One finds it possible to forgive even the touch of melodrama in which Robert Warrington's Johnny-on-the-spot to seize the fortification plans from the villain who wasn't, after all, such a deep-dyed villain, and save the honor of the girl's father.

Stenhouse One of First to Drop Out—Others Up With Leaders.

Kansas City, Jan. 20.—A world's record was broken during the first hour of the six-day bicycle race this afternoon, when 26 miles and 7 laps were made on a 12-lap track in convention hall. The previous record for one hour was 25 miles and 3 laps on a 15-lap track. Fogler, of the team of Root and Fogler, set a dizzy pace as leader during the first hour and Stenhouse of the team of Monroe and Stenhouse, who was riding with Morgan, were distanced during the first fifteen minutes, and both dropped out of the race. Monroe and Morgan will each ride alone, being given a handicap of fifty miles, or 1,200 laps for the six days. Root-Fogler, Lawson-Moran, Bardgett-Mitten, Hopper-Holdbrook, Sherwood-Wiley, 164 miles, 7 laps; Morgan, 138 miles 10 laps; Monroe, 157 miles 10 laps.

NOT THAT KIND.

Chicago Tribune. "What is your occupation?" asked the police justice.

"I'm a matchmaker, your honor," answered the prisoner, a seedy hobo who had been run in for vagrancy.

"No levity in this court," thundered the justice.

"The prisoner drew a ragged coat sleeve across his eyes.

"Your honor wounds me deeply," he said, "by misunderstanding me. I'm not a matrimonial bureau. I make real matches—the kind your honor scrapes on your kind your honor's pants leg when your honor lights a cigar."

"My friend," said his honor, leaning forward and regarding him benignly, "in this age of specialized industry, to say nothing of labor-saving machinery, it is not likely that any man produces a complete match, ab initio or de novo, as we say in Latin. You probably split the wood into chunks suitable for the machine. We have no matchmaking plant at the workhouse, but I will endeavor to see that your muscles do not suffer from lack of their accustomed exercise. You will pound stone for the next thirty days."

EVERYTHING ELSE IN PROPORTION. (St. Louis Republic.) For many weeks the irritable merchant had been riveted to his bed by typhoid fever. Now he was convalescing. He clamored for something to eat, declaring that he was starving.

"Tomorrow you may have something to eat," promised the doctor. The merchant realized that there would be a restraint to his appetite, yet he saw, in vision, a modest steaming meal placed at his bedside.

"Here is your dinner," said the nurse next day, as she gave the glowering patient a spoonful of potato pudding, "and the doctor emphasizes that everything else you do must be in the same proportion."

Two hours later the nurse heard a frantic call from the bed chamber. "Nurse," breathed the man heavily, "I want to do some reading; bring me a postage stamp."

REDUCTION. (Chicago News.) The old nag was jogging up the hill with the elopers.

"Yes," said the old nag, "it is rather tough pulling them up to the paragon, but it will be easier coming back."

"How so, queried the friendly goose at the roadside?"

"Why, can't you see that after leaving the paragon two will be made one?"

FOREIGN MONEY.

Showman's Experience With Counterfeit Coins in Naples.

"When you are abroad," said a tourist agent, "look out for counterfeit money. In France and Italy especially look out. There are a lot of small-souled French and Italians who save up counterfeit money all the year to dump it on the tourist trade in the summer. I said to look out, but really that is impossible. An American tourist has his hands full just to count foreign money, with its centimes and lires, its francs and centesimi, and when too often he is unable to count this money how can he detect counterfeits in it? "When Buffalo Bill showed in Naples the audience was enormous, but the next day when the business manager went to bank the receipts of the night, lo and behold, over $1,000 in counterfeit money had been taken in. "Just like these Italians," exclaimed the prefect. "What a grand nation!"

Nearly all our little ills come through inactive bowels. Those days that you lose because you don't feel right—Cascarets will save them all.

In the old days, physic was dreadful—calomel, castor oil, salts or cathartics. And they were worse than they seemed, for they irritated the stomach and bowels. They acted much as pepper acts in the nostrils. They flooded the bowels with fluids. But those fluids were digestive juices. And a waste today means a lack tomorrow. You secured relief, but you were actually worse off than without it. It's different with Cascarets. Their effect is the same as that of laxative foods, or of exercise. They stimulate the bowels to natural action. No griping, no irritation. They act as a bowel tonic. The old way, too, was to take large doses of physic. People waited until the bowels were clogged. The new way is to take one Cascaret when you need it. Carry the box in your pocket or purse. Ward off the troubles instantly. The modern plan is to keep at your best. The old way wasted too many good hours.

Cascarets are candy tablets. They are sold by all druggists, but never in bulk. Be sure you get the genuine, with CCC on every tablet. The price is 50c, 25c and TEN CENTS PER BOX
