

JAKE RALEIGH IS INVESTIGATED

City Council Sits as Court to Hear Charges Against Street Supervisor.

MUCH EVIDENCE BOTH WAY MAYOR DOES NOT BELIEVE CASE IS MADE OUT.

The city council last evening, sitting as a committee of the whole, heard some of the evidence in support of the charges of dishonesty, incompetency and negligence made against Jacob T. Raleigh, superintendent of streets, by William Jones and others and after a hearing in which nothing of importance was adduced postponed consideration of the matter until this evening.

The spectators' seats were crowded to their capacity and standing room was at a premium. When points were made by either side the supporters of each party would applaud vigorously and W. Mont Ferry, who presided in the absence of President Davis and acted as "judge," paid no attention to them.

The charges made were in brief as follows:

Charges in Detail.

First: That A. S. Fowler, secretary to the mayor, had built a retaining wall in front of his place on Apple street and that Raleigh had dirt and rubbish removed from his premises by the city.

Second: That Raleigh had padded the pay rolls of the department by crediting to certain men twice the amount of work which they have really done. The total amount of this extra pay allowed was $27 but the beneficiaries do not appear to have received the money, as the warrants were cancelled by Raleigh's order.

Third: That Raleigh had had timber from an old bridge, cobble stones and dirt hauled to his residence and to the residence of his mother by city teams.

Fourth: That Raleigh had had dirt and rubbish removed from his premises by city teams.

Fifth: That the superintendent has quartered his own horses in the city barns and that he has loaned city tools and scrapers to private contractors.

Sixth: That with his own private teams he hauled away a quantity of gravel at First North and Main streets. This, it developed, was done by the contractor, former Mayor Thompson.

Seventh: That employees of the department have been compelled to pay what is known as a "footing" each month to the barn foreman.

Other minor charges were also enumerated but testimony was not offered to prove them.

The session began with a long discussion as to the propriety of swearing witnesses and it was finally decided that this should be done notwithstanding the city attorney declared that the council had no authority to place anyone under oath.

Testimony is Taken.

A. S. Fowler was the first witness called. He is the private secretary of the mayor. He acknowledged the fact that he had asked Raleigh to have some dirt away from the front of his place on Apple street. He said that most of the dirt came from the excavations made for the retaining wall which was on city property and which he had built at his own expense. Raleigh said that the dirt had been placed on the nearby streets, and George Hampton, one of the witnesses called by Councilman Wood, acknowledged that this was the case.

Daniel J. Garrison was then "sworn." Recorder Moreton administered the oath much to the amusement of the gallery.

Garrison said that he had received all his pay from the city. He was shown a warrant for $18 dated June 4. He said that he did not know that this amount was coming to him. The warrant had been in the possession of the city auditor since that time and has never been called for.

Another similar warrant for Thomas E. Jerny was introduced by Councilman Wood and was finally called for that Raleigh had padded the pay rolls and was securing the additional money.

Rudolph Alf, city auditor, was called and said that Raleigh a week ago had asked that these warrants be cancelled as the pay rolls showed that they had been ordered made out by mistake. He said that there were several unclaimed warrants in his office from other departments and that some of them were dated twenty years back.

Ben Johnson, representing the accused superintendent, then asked that Raleigh be called to explain this condition. Wood objected strenuously, but "Judge" Ferry overruled his contention and allowed Jake to take the stand.

He explained that the mistake was due to the fact that two foremen had taken the time of these men, when only one should have done so. This was due to their having been moved from one class of work to another. Twelve other warrants, amounting to $63, which are in the auditor's office unclaimed, were said by him to be legitimate.

DEATH REMOVES JOHN T. LYNCH

Prominent Mason Dies of Heart Failure at the Age of 79 Years.

SERVED AS POSTMASTER TOOK A DEEP INTEREST IN EDUCATIONAL AFFAIRS.

John T. Lynch, one of the most prominent citizens of Salt Lake, died yesterday forenoon at 11 o'clock at his home, 854 First avenue. He was 79 years of age at the time of his death. Mr. Lynch's death was due to heart failure, following a fall on a slippery sidewalk about a week ago.

Mr. Lynch came to Utah in 1871, coming hither from Colorado. He was a native of Lynchburg, Va., where he was born July 22, 1828. He lived in Lynchburg until he had attained the age of 20 years. On account of his views on the question of slavery, Mr. Lynch removed to Indiana, and thence to Kansas, where, at Baldwin City, he founded Baldwin university. His health failing, he proceeded westward to Colorado, where he took a deep interest in educational affairs. He was one of those who assisted in the foundation of the Colorado college. He served in the legislature of that state in several sessions.

Mr. Lynch was highly interested in real estate and mining enterprises. At one time he was a member of the firm of real estate dealers in which William Giamann, now of Ogden, was his partner. Later he became a member of the firm of Peck & Lynch.

He was postmaster at Salt Lake for nine years, having been appointed by President Hayes in 1878, and that, too, in the face of marked opposition. The testimony is that Mr. Lynch served the office with ability and capacity. It was at a time when Salt Lake's post-office business was growing, and Mr. Lynch had much to do with the establishment of an efficient service.

The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the Masonic temple, and will be an impressive affair. Interment will be in Mount Olivet cemetery, in the Masonic plot.

Other minor charges were also enumerated but testimony was not offered to prove them.

AGED CITIZEN SUCCUMBS

JOHN T. LYNCH. Prominent Mason who died yesterday at the age of 79 years.

DILIGENT DETECTIVES ARE DISMAYED DAILY BY DAZZLING DEDUCTIONS

Private detectives at work on the mysterious robbery of the Utah National bank are being overburdened with the theories of active amateur sleuths who are quietly but surely the public has their own word for it—hunting down their prey.

Only those who know little of the methods of these amateur detectives in ferreting out a crime of this nature can realize the terrible strain under which the employes of the bank and their families have lived for the past few days. The Pinkerton detectives on the case may have clung independently of those from their daily advisers, but they realize how utterly futile it would be for them to attempt to solve the mystery without keeping in touch with the theories and deductions presented by the budding sleuths.

In daily dread has been the thief lest the heavy hand of the law wielded by these sleuths shall fall heavily upon his shoulder. Each moment may result in his arrest, and then again it may not. The feeling prevails in certain quarters that the end is in sight, that the climax is close at hand. The belief is prevalent in almost every quarter of Salt Lake that the net has been closed about the man. Before the day is done the net may be drawn.

It was rumored last night that in return for a confession of guilt that the enlarged exhibits the next state fair will be held from October 5 to 11 this year. If the present plans of the association are carried out the fair of this year will eclipse all previous fairs.

That the first day of the fair may be just as good a day as any other day, the directors are so arranging the exhibits that the first day will not be marred by the receiving and installing of exhibits. This year the directors have made a rule that all entries except in the speed department must be made on or prior to September 20, which is five days earlier than ever before.

The rearrangement of the premium list of the fair is now being made by the directors. In the list for this year's fair all classes in department A, horses, have been filled and two new classes added, one for Belgian horses and one for jacks and jennets. In department F, a new class has been added for grain trials on dry farms. In department M, the educational branch, the premium for the best children's school chorus of not to exceed fifty voices has been raised from $5 to $75, with the proviso that there be at least three entries. This contest in $8.00 has been appropriated for premiums, which is about the same as the amount used last year.

Secretary S. E. Ensign of the Utah State Fair association has received word from the Mesa County Fair association, which holds its fairs at Grand Junction, Colo., that the fair of that county this year will be held the week prior to the Utah fair. This enables speed owners to attend both the Utah and Mesa county fairs. The first time Utah will be placed on the Colorado circuit and will get some of the best entries from that section. The Mesa County Fair association will print the date of the Utah state fair on all of its advertising for the fair and the Utah association will give the Colorado dates on its printing.

Efforts are being made by the fair association to secure an attraction for the next fair Charles J. Strobel, the well known aeronaut, and his airship. If this attraction is secured, Mr. Strobel will make an ascent in his airship on every day of the fair on which the weather conditions are favorable.

GOES AFTER GERMS. How Hyomei Does its Work in Curing Catarrh.

The natural way of curing disease is always the scientific way, and the scientific way of curing catarrh is the simple way, with Hyomei.

Catarrh is a germ disease and can be cured only by using Hyomei, the treatment that reaches and destroys all catarrhal germs.

Erected through the neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, the Hyomei medication reaches the most remote air cells of the nose, throat and lungs, going after the catarrh germs wherever present, destroying them and preventing their growth, thus curing the disease.

F. C. Schramm sells Hyomei under a guarantee to refund the money if it does not give satisfaction. Begin its use at once. The cost of a complete outfit is only $1.00.

SAV WEATHER WILL CLEAR Prediction for Thursday Is That Skies Will Be Less Overcast—Temperature Is Lower.

The weather man didn't do the right thing by Salt Lake last night, as the saying is, he gave the town a fairly fine day, but last night he sent the mercury downward and the thermometer that hangs on the post in the street indicated that the 20 mark would presently be reached, unless a halt were called. There is not much consolation in the record of the weather office respecting the maximum temperature either, for the highest shown was 29. This, as an average, is 5 degrees below normal. More snow was predicted for last night, but the flurries were slight and the indication at an early hour is that the prophecy for clearing weather will come true.

For the first time in days the record of the various stations failed to show below-zero weather. The nearest approach to the mark is the record furnished by Swift Current, North Dakota, and Havre, Mont., where the lowest temperatures were 2 above. Otherwise there has been a most marked rise in the temperatures. The comment of the bureau is:

The storm center has moved to the upper Mississippi and Missouri valleys, causing rains or snow over a large portion of the country, with snow at time of report. Low clouds in Salt Lake, Blainmark, Huron, Moorhead, and rain at Duluth, St. Paul, New Orleans, Jacksonville, and Chicago. A heavy snow storm was reported over the North Pacific and North Atlantic states.

The meteorological report reads: Temperature at 6 p. m., 28; maximum temperature, 30; minimum temperature, 24; mean temperature, 27, which is 5 degrees below normal. Total excess of temperature since the first of the month, 29; accumulated excess of temperature since January 1, 49 degrees. Total precipitation, .19 inch. Total precipitation since first of month, 1.06 inches, which is above normal; accumulated deficiency since January 1, .28 inch. Relative humidity at 6 p. m., 68 per cent.

Enthusiastic patrons of cock fighting, who braved sleet and snow to go to the grounds of the Decker Gun club, across the Jordan river, yesterday afternoon, to witness eleven promised battles between roosters of royal lineage, were scattered to the four winds by the appearance of two deputy sheriffs in a buggy. At sight of the officers of the law, the game cocks were piled into a vehicle, which was rapidly driven away. Deputy Sheriffs Stock and Sperry, who reached the gun club grounds a few minutes afterward, found a crowd of about seventy-five disappointed men, but no roosters. No attempt was made to pursue the disappearing vehicle, containing the fighting chickens, owing to the bad roads.

Yesterday's main was to have been the most interesting of the cock fighting season in Salt Lake. It is said that the chief event was to be between two veterans of the cock pit, each of which was a sort of Jim Jeffries in chicken-dom. These cocks had each won scores of battles, and their fame had spread from Wendover to Berkeley.

One of the preliminary fights had been "pulled off" when someone yelled that the sheriff was coming.

The startled spectators looked up from the interesting sport and saw a vehicle rapidly approaching. Short work was made of loading the roosters into buggies and driving away. All the spectators who could find room in the vehicles also made hasty departure.

A few men who couldn't find seats in the buggies, but who were extremely desirous of putting space between themselves and the approaching deputy sheriffs, took to the open fields. As the drum was thick and heavy, their progress was slow and labored. Some of them, growing exhausted with the exertion of making their way under such difficulties, at last came to a standstill upon grassy hillocks out of the mud and turned toward the deputy sheriffs as though they had concluded that arrest would be rescue rather than capture.

The deputy sheriffs, not finding any game chickens, did not pursue the fugitives.

After making an examination of the premises, they returned to the city, leaving the distressed sportsmen who had taken to the mud to make their way as best they could to more solid footing than the fields afforded.
