

CHURCHES ARE SADLY LAGGING

Two Types That Represent Old and New Ideas in Religious Worship.

MANY TOO RESPECTABLE LAW OF ORGANIC LIFE IS DEFINED.

The Rev. Lewis J. Duncan of Butte, Montana, spoke to a large audience at the Unitarian church yesterday morning on "The Prophetic Church."

There are two types of churches; one the popular, conservative priestly type and the other the unpopular progressive, spiritual and prophetic type, to the latter of which the Unitarian church belongs.

He declared that the trouble with the churches of today is that they are too respectable and instead of keeping up with the times they are lagging behind.

His remarks in part were as follows: "The law of organic life, simply stated, is as follows: There is first an internal vital purpose, or force, which must get itself expressed and executed. To this end it builds its material form. It draws material substance from the environment, fits it and knits it into a firm, well-adjusted mechanism of functions, sets up the process of growth and advances to get itself executed. This end reached, decay ensues. The mechanism is taken to pieces, as in life it has been put together. Cohesion is relaxed, particles disintegrate and fall away, the organism becomes dead."

Two Types of Churches. "This law applies to everything living whether mineral, vegetable, animal or institutional. It applies to churches. History shows two organic types which embody the religious purpose: the popular, conservative, formal and priestly type, and the unpopular, progressive, spiritual and prophetic type. In material things, in numbers, in practical richness of tradition and of liturgy, the former makes the most attractive showing. It is popular, respectable and has social standing and influence. It represents many generations, perhaps many centuries of growth. The other is youthful and has none of these accretions, but in nobler aims, in clarity of vision, in breadth of sympathy, in sweetness and rationality of spirit, in the consciousness of vital religious forces making toward greater spiritual issues the prophetic type leads.

Slowly, at first, the new type grows, but with gathering momentum and increasing power generation by generation, until finally the spirit and the ideas it represents become the regnant and accepted ones, and the world is practically converted to its position and its once rejected doctrines. It then becomes a church of the priestly type. As a prophetic church it has no more vitality or function in that particular direction. It begins to die, to stop growing, but already the prophetic spirit has fled in some other place to vitalize some other organism with of business the annual report from the supreme secretary was read, and it shows the progress of the organization all over the United States. The increase in membership during the last year has been 73%, the organization has now 100 lodges with a total of 4,833 benefit members. Seven thousand, four hundred and twenty-eight dollars was paid out for sick benefit, and $15,750 for insurance; the lodges combined have now a general fund of $20,225.

The closing event of the season will be a basket party given by the lodge on the second meeting in March. Under the good of the order a short program was given; one of the numbers being an interesting paper on "Duties of the Officers and Members," read by Brother H. M. H. Lund.

Improved Order of Red Men. Washakie tribe, No. 1 devoted last Monday evening to celebrating Washington's birthday, a large crowd being in attendance. The following program was rendered: Address, James Kelly; duet, The Misses Trump; piano and piano selection, J. Cline and Miss Regofski; recitation, Miss Friedman; piano selection, A. E. Cline; solo, Miss Lena Della. After these cards were played, the winners being Miss Marion Trump, Miss Lizette Dunster, A. Cline, J. E. Castlerine and Z. Sanders. This evening the adoption degree will be conferred on a large class.

I. O. O. F. Miriam Rebekah lodge No. 5 will give a ball on Tuesday evening in the dancing hall, Odd Fellows building. The sisters have this in charge and will make every effort to render it pleasant for everyone.

G. A. R. The James B. McKean W. R. C. will be entertained on Thursday next at the home of Mrs. Von Elm, 947 East Eighth Street. She will be assisted by Mesdames Carter, Coughlin, Cook, Canning, Chase and Cornforth.

Women of Woodcraft. Salt Lake circle met in usual session, with George W. Young as guest officer. Two degrees were balloted upon and accepted. Interesting readings from the Echo were given by Mrs. Boro and H. H. while Neighbor Green treated the circle to peanuts. It was decided to give a rousing rally in the near future.

Modern Woodmen of America. Great Salt Lake Camp No. 10,671, held an interesting meeting last Tuesday. Two candidates were initiated and several applications were presented. The initiatory work by Captain Grant and his team was excellent and elicited much favorable comment. Neighbors Fall, McGuire and James of Excelsior camp, were present. Neighbor McGuire was invited to address the camp and responded in an interesting manner, recalling the days when he was district deputy for Utah and expressing his confidence in the continued growth in membership of the order.

On behalf of the committee from Excelsior camp he extended an invitation to Great Salt Lake camp to attend the opening of their new hall at 281 Main street tomorrow evening. The invitation was accepted and Consul McKelvey requested all members to assemble promptly on time in order that the camp session may be adjourned early and the members visit Excelsior camp in body.

The Excelsior camp, M. W. A., held its last meeting last Monday evening, in the light of the fact that a large attendance and five new members were added to the rolls, three by transfer and two by initiation. Two applications for membership were voted upon yesterday. Tuesday evening is the meeting night in the future and an open meeting to which all Royal Neighbors and their Modern Woodmen friends are invited, will be held. There will be an entertainment and banquet.

Royal Neighbors of America. Salt Lake Valley camp held a successful ball last Thursday evening. There was a large attendance and during the evening the handsome table square was drawn for Grand No. 41 was the lucky number. All Neighbors are invited to be present at the Excelsior camp banquet on Tuesday evening in K. of P. hall, 261 Main street, and in time is assured. All members are requested to be present on Thursday evening at the regular meeting in the Odd Fellows' hall, Market street.

Women's Relief Corps. Geo. R. Maxwell post, W. R. C. will meet on Wednesday afternoon, at 2:30. On last Thursday the ladies of the post tendered a birthday surprise on the president, Louisa Winegar.

Knights of Columbus. Last Tuesday night candidates were initiated into the mysteries of the first degree. After the initiation a dainty repast was served.

Rev. Father O'Hare of Amsterdam council, New York City, was a visitor and addressed the members on the attractions of the order and the good work it is doing.

Brother O'Connor, formerly of Salt Lake but now of Park City, invited a meeting here on Sunday to assist in the initiation of twenty-five new members into the second and third degrees. Arrangements were made for a special train to carry the knights and a large number went.

The K. of C. dance arranged for by the entertainment committee of Salt Lake council, will be given in Unity hall on Second East street, next Tuesday evening.
